White House Moves to End Coal Squabble

Chief Executive Allows "Watchful Waiting" Policy on Ford.

President Roosevelt apparently brought to an end last night the dispute between operators and miners in the bituminous coal industry.

Submission of a code for presidential approval by Saturday was predicted by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, following a two-hour conference at the White House of NRA officials and representatives of operators and miners.

Approval of the President was given to a "watchful waiting" policy in the case of Henry Ford, holding out against the NRA program.

Various Problems Discussed.

Sanction of the President for this policy was expressed at a conference with Gen. Johnson preceding the meeting with the coal men. Henry Morgenthau and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace were among others who attended the dinner at the White House at which various problems confronting the recovery drive were discussed.

Gen. Johnson told newspaper men that the problem of easing credits to business men finding difficulty in going along with the recovery movement had been only discussed casually.

"We really got somewhere on coal, I think," he said. "There probably will be something to announce around noon tomorrow."

He was referring to the labor agreements which have been the swamp in which the coal negotiations have been bogged down for weeks.

Taking "Short Cut."

"These agreements are the important thing," the recovery administrator said. "I believe agreement on these is in sight. We are trying to take a short cut to head off strikes and disputes and arguments throughout the coal fields. When we get these contracts agreed on then the whole business is done.

"The same old squabbling over the open and closed shop has been the cause of the delay."

Earlier in the day Gen. Johnson said flatly that neither the coal nor any other code would be permitted to contain language similar to the qualifying language allowed in the automobile code.

Labor Plans Fight.

"I am not going to allow the automobile language to go in any other code," he said. "The language does not mean anything, and it contains a specific disclaimer that it is intended in any way to qualify the collective bargaining provisions of the law. All it has done has been to make for confusion. Excerpts from it have been taken out and publicized in various places to make the provision seem to mean something it doesn't."

No effort will be made by John-

Man Missing in $40,000 Explosion in Ohio Town

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 6 (AP).—An explosion of mysterious origin today caused $40,000 damage in a score of downtown buildings at Mineral City, near here. One man was thought to have been killed.

Harvey E. Hicks, 54, salesman and superintendent of the Federal Clay Products Co., was said by officials of the concern to have been in the company garage, where blasting powder and dynamite were stored and where the explosion was believed to have centered.

Tear Gas Subdues Mutinous Convicts

Georgia Prisoners Led to Field After Blaze.

Dallas, Ga., Sept. 6 (AP).—Nearly a hundred mutinous convicts were herded from their barracks here today as flames enveloped the structure and officers tossed tear gas bombs to subdue the belligerent prisoners.

Warden H. G. Richards said that Monday morning the convicts were sullen and morose, refusing to go to work. This was apparent yesterday and again this morning.

The convicts were marched into a pasture during today's fire and were kept under guard until the State prison commission could move them temporarily to other chain gang camps.

Danzig Nationalists Dissolve Organization

Free City of Danzig, Sept. 6 (AP). Seeing "no further possibility of fruitful political activity," Ernst Ziehm, former president of the Danzig Senate, today announced the dissolution of the German Nationalist party in the Free City, of which he was chairman.

In a letter to the Senate he appealed to party members to cooperate actively with the Nazi government.

Viscount Grey, War Leader, Expires at 71

Former Foreign Minister of Great Britain Once Lived Here.

Christon Bank, England, Sept. 7 (AP).—Viscount Grey of Fallodon, former British foreign sceretary and Ambassador to Washington, died today at the age of 71.

The veteran statesman, who, as foreign secretary, declared war on Germany in 1914, had been in a coma since Monday. He had been ill more than a week from high blood pressure.

Viscount Grey married Lady Glenconner in Wilsford, Wiltshire, on June 5, 1922. His wife died suddenly in London November 19, 1928.

As the Liberal leader in the House of Lords he favored the intervention of the League of Nations in the settlement of international questions.

Retired in 1924.

The difficult problem of reparations, he felt, should be solved by the same international body. To further French security, at the opening of sessions of Parliament in 1924, he spoke in favor of providing Germany with membership in the league.

On August 19, 1924, he yielded his post as Liberal leader of the House of Lords, and although his associates said poor health was the reason, he himself volunteered no explanation.

The viscount denounced the great general strike which took place throughout England in May, 1926, and asserted that the aim of the strikers was the overthrow of organized democratic government.

Expelled Lloyd George.

He and other Liberal leaders were dissatisfied with the government's solution of the strike problem, and as a result they brought about the expulsion from the Liberal party of David Lloyd George, then the Liberal leader in the House of Commons.

During the last few years he was rarely in the public eye, confining himself to comments on international news of the day. He praised the Kellogg-Briand antiwar pact, but he ridiculed the attempt in November, 1928, by England and France to reach a naval accord.

Deer Escapes Cliff After 11-Day Fight

Workmen Save Buck That 300,000 Watched.

Watkins Glen, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP). Watkins Glen State Park's famous captive deer, marooned for 11 days on a cliff ledge, left today almost as suddenly as it came.

Under persuasion of two park workmen, the seven-point buck hesitatingly made its way down the precipitous bank, crossed the torrent at its bottom and jumped to a ledge leading to the top of the bank and a nearby woods.

More than 300,000 persons visited the glen while the buck paced its prison ledge.

The buck and its mate were chased by dogs a week ago Saturday to the ledge, from which the doe fell and was killed.

London, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Daily Herald, Labor organ, said tonight an organization called "Fehme," which it said has Nazi affiliations, had put Prof. Albert Einstein on its death list and posted a reward of 1,000 pounds sterling for anybody who will "silence" him.

Precautions are being taken for the safety of the professor, who is in Belgium, the paper said.

Erie Wreck Blame Placed On Engineer

Milk Train Driver Alone Responsible, Says Rail Official.

Believes Federal Inquiry Will Find Signals Were Ignored.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP). Definite blame for the Erie Railroad wreck, which killed 14 persons and injured scores last night, was placed upon the engineer of the milk train tonight by H. J. Bordwell, general manager of the Eastern division of the railroad.

"Engineer M. H. King was to blame and alone to blame," he declared. "He absolutely disregarded signals, rules, regulations, and about everything else."

Federal Hearing Due.

The milk train with King at the throttle plowed into the Chicago-to-New York Atlantic Express as it stopped on the eastern outskirts of the city.

"A Federal hearing is inevitable and we are ready to cooperate fully at all times," Bordwell said.

"I believe you will find out that our summation of the tragedy will be that of the Government when all the details are woven together."

I. C. C. Hearing Today.

Interstate Commerce Commission investigators announced they would begin a hearing tomorrow at Hornell, Erie division point, to determine the cause of the wreck and fix responsibility. State, city and county authorities also were conducting investigations.

R. E. Woodruff, Erie vice president, previously said indications were the milk train engineer knew he did not have a clear track.

Azana Avoids Defeat in Spain

Government Gets Vote of Confidence After Loss at Polls.

Madrid, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Azana government was forced today to resort to a vote of confidence as opposition forces seized upon the defeat of government candidates in tribunal elections Sunday, challenged the right of the regime to remain in power.

Alejandro Lerroux, leader of the largest republican party in Spain, said the defeat in the tribunal election, coupled with the defeat of government candidates in partial municipal elections last April, proved conclusively that popular sentiment was against Premier Azana.

Azana argued that the tribunal elections were nonpolitical as far as the regime was concerned, but Lerroux requested Azana's resignation.

A vote of confidence then was called. The opposition refused to participate in the voting and, therefore, the government was victorious, 136 to 0.

New York Births Drop As Deaths Show Gain

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Shirley W. Wynne, City Commissioner of Health, said today the local "storks' Union" evidently has gone on a shorter work week basis.

Bologna? Yes, No; Delicatessens Ban Free Lunch in Code

The free lunch that went with a glass of beer will never return if the pending "fair competition" code of the delicatessen industry is approved by the Agriculture Adjustment Administration.

Dealers believe it is "unfair competition" to give away food when they are selling it. So they have included in their code a stipulation making it illegal for wholesale meat companies to sell salami, bologna and other beer trimmings to any place that might distribute them free to patrons.

Austrian War Games Spread Border Panic

Villages Gripped By Fear of Invasion, But It's All in Practice.

Vienna, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Momentary alarm spread through the border regions today when Austrian "war games" along the German frontier were mistaken for an invasion over the Bavarian line into Austria.

Wild alarm spread through several villages during the forenoon. The populace was panic-stricken.

A regiment of Alpinists, two Vienna infantry regiments, two batteries of mountain artillery, and one company of signal corps men responded to rush orders to proceed with all haste to Scharnit, near the border of Bavaria.

They were rushed to the front to repulse "an invasion" over the frontier—but deep relief followed an announcement that it all was merely a maneuver to test Austria's military defense program.

3 Britons to Be Freed By Chinese Kidnapers

Newchwang, Manchuria, Sept. 6 (AP).—Negotiations for the release of three British subjects, who were abducted by Chinese buccaneers from the steamer Nanchang last March, were successful today.

The prisoners, who were officers on the British merchantman, are A. D. Blue, Charles Johnson and W. E. Hargraves. The negotiations for their release, which is expected tomorrow, were carried on through Capt. Obata, of the Japanese gendarmes.

New York Returns Sapiro to Chicago

Alleged Racketeer Loses Extradition Fight.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Gov. Herbert Lehman tonight granted the extradition of Aaron Sapiro to Chicago, where he has been indicted with several others, including Alphonse Capone, in connection with a laundry racket.

Sapiro, nationally known attorney, fought extradition on two occasions. The first proceedings resulted in Illinois authorities having a superseding indictment drawn up, changing the date on which the crimes are alleged to have occurred.

Jeweler's Slaying Told by Woman

Declares She Stabbed Man When He Threatened Lives of Family.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—The body of Charles J. Wolfert, 56, jeweler, was found stabbed 13 times in a patch of woods in Queens today shortly after Mrs. Millie Prince, 31-year-old brunette, allegedly related details of the slaying.

Accompanied by District Attorney Colden and Inspector Gallagher the woman was taken to the scene.

Police said Mrs. Prince told them she had stabbed Wolfert because he threatened her life and the lives of her husband and her 10-year-old son unless she ran away with him.

Dixie Mosquitoes Enlisted To Aid Sleep Death Fight

Carrier Search Launched As St. Louis Victims Total 82.

St. Louis, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Stegomyia mosquitoes, carriers of yellow fever, bit sleeping sickness victims and then African monkeys tonight while the Nation's leading medical scientists watched, hopeful of discovering the carrier of encephalitis.

Seldom in the history of medical science has such a famous array of experts concentrated on one disease.

While more than 200 of the Nation's pick of health experts work day and night to stem the mounting number of victims, the death roll today reached 82 among the more than 575 persons stricken.

The yellow fever mosquitoes were brought here from Memphis, Tenn., by Dr. H. A. Johnson, United States Public Health Service official, to conduct the experiments on monkeys brought from Washington by Maj. James S. Simmons, of the Army Medical College.

Dr. L. I. Williams, jr., one of eight United States Health Service experts here, said the stegomyia mosquito was selected because of the part they are to play in transmitting other disease.

Only by producing the disease for laboratory study, it was pointed out, can science hope to find the cause and a remedy or preventure.

The experts said that not only the stegomyia mosquito, but more than 600 other varieties of insects would be tried as carriers.

Canada Reports Cases.

Sarnia, Ont., Sept. 6 (AP).—Two cases of sleeping sickness, which doctors say are of a similar type to those prevalent at St. Louis, Mo., are under observation and treatmen in a hospital here, it was learned today. Both the patients are men.

Roosevelt Acts to Forestall U. S. Intervention in Cuba But Demands Strong Regime

Leaders of Revolution Fear America Will Land Troops.

Committee Heads Claim Republic Is Tranquil; Trouble Rumored.

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Military intervention by the United States was believed imminent in authoritative Cuban quarters tonight as leaders of the people's revolutionary government kept an anxious eye on developments at Washington.

The dispatch of United States warships to Cuban waters, together with the departure of Secretary of the Navy Swanson aboard a warship for Havana was regarded with suspicion and uneasiness by leaders in the enlisted men's and citizen's regime.

The United Press learned that United States embassy officials held out a waning hope intervention would not be necessary to protect American lives and property during the troubled transition period.

Welles Sees Leaders.

However, it was no secret that embassy officials were disappointed at events in the last 36 hours which have turned the provisional government of Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes out and placed a citizens' Committee of Five in control.

Ambassador Sumner Welles held a conference with the people's leader at the embassy. The people hailed the sergeants who seized control night before last—but doubt appeared growing that these men could cope with their responsibilities.

Leaders, however, insisted the situation was well in control, and emphasized that the island was quiet.

Despite assurances, the United Press was informed a mob of 1,000 persons had seized a sugar plant at Santa Clara. Unconfirmed reports said also that unrest was growing at Camp Columbia, army headquarters outside Havana.

The new regime faced a future beset by dangers, leaders admitted, including:

1. The possibility of a general strike, fostered by groups opposing the new regime.

2. A counter-revolution by a section of the army loyal to the officers and certain elements in the ABC, a nationalist organization.

3—Intensification of labor troubles in the island, endangering not only Cuban but many foreign lives and interests.

One radical leader in the A. B. C. group confided to the United Press that the "revolt of the sergeants" had gone further than had been expected.

"We did not aim to unseat the De Cespedes government," he said.

Officers Meeting Banned.

Radical changes in the Cuban constitution are regarded as possible. Whether the citizens' committee of five intends to rewrite the constitution without the Platt amendment, giving the United States power to intervene, remained conjectural.

The ousted Cuban army and navy officers sought permission to meet and decide on their attitude in case of American intervention, it was reported. Leaders in the new government previously had declared they would resist efforts to land U. S. Marines. The government refused the request to meet, fearing a counter-revolt.

Three Girls, Doctor Injured in Crash

Hurt When Autos Collide on Highway.

Three girls and a Georgetown Hospital staff member were injured in an automobile collision last night at Sixteenth street and the East-West highway.

Driver of one car was Dr. Frank Govern, slightly hurt. Gladys Dodd, 21, 636 Hamilton street northwest, and Jane Prince, 18, 5911 Sixteenth street northwest, were admitted to Garfield Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Suspected Bandit Slain in Police Raid

Los Angeles, Sept. 6 (AP).—Entering an apartment, police late today shot and killed Thomas White, 28, believed the man who shot and blinded Miss Cora Withington, school teacher, and wounded Crombie Allen, retired publisher and international affairs authority, in a recent holdup.

19 More Die In Battle With Philippine Tribe

Manila, Sept. 6 (AP).—Nineteen men were killed today in a battle between the Philippine constabulary and a band of outlaw Moros on the jungle covered island of Jolo.

Jolo, inhabited by the fierce Moro tribesmen, has been the scene of frequent clashes between the Insular police and outlaws.

Indianapolis, Sept. 6 (AP).—Police throughout central Indiana tonight hunted a group of gunmen, said to be from three to eight in number, who robbed the State Bank of Massachusetts Avenue here of approximately $20,000 today.

The bank is at the edge of the downtown district and the bandits fled northward, presumably in two automobiles.

Only two of the gang entered the bank. They forced the cashier, A. J. Krueger, to lie down on the floor while the teller, L. W. Rinehart, was ordered to take the money from the vault. Six customers were ordered to stand quietly.

The men overlooked $5,000 in the cashier's cage.

A third member of the band was waiting in an automobile outside the bank and some witnesses said there was another car nearby with five heavily armed men waiting.

5 Hours' Drinking Of Beer Costs $1

3-Cent Milwaukee Brew Eclipsed by Tavern.

Milwaukee, Sept. 6 (AP).—Competition among taverns which already had brought 3-cent beer to Milwaukee sections, took another turn today.

"All the beer you can drink in an hour for 60 cents," reads a sign on a South Side establishment. Another tavern made the same offer, but cut the price to 50 cents.

Whereupon a roadhouse posted a sign: "All you can drink in 5 hours for a buck."

Marines assembled at Quantico yesterday for another big job, and warships steamed for Cuban waters, but there was little excitement about it.

The armed forces were mostly awaiting orders. At Quantico, the Seventh Regiment was being organized with 1,000 veterans of foreign campaigns, by orders of Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, commandant of the corps.

Officers said no orders had been received beyond those which brought in several trainloads of men from Eastern stations. Everything was ready, however, to load trains or Navy transport ships with supplies for an overseas expedition.

Warships Move South.

The battleship Mississippi, the cruiser Indianapolis with Secretary of Navy Swanson aboard, and four Coast Guard cutters moved toward Cuba. Due in Cuba today are the light cruiser Richmond, with Rear Admiral C. S. Freeman, commander of the Special Service Squadron, on board, and the destroyer Bainbridge. Two other destroyers already were there.

First Marines to arrive at Quantico yesterday were 183 from Washington Navy Yard and Marine Barracks. Other detachments came from Philadelphia, Hampton Roads, Parris Island, S. C., and other coast points.

Officers said 90 per cent of the men were veterans of assignments in China, Nicaragua, Haiti and other overseas posts. When regimental organization is complete, the force will undergo regimental drill and maneuvers.

Williams in Command.

The regiment will be commanded by Col. Richard P. Williams, until recently head of Haitian police. Lieut. Col. John R. Henley is second in command. Both men are veterans of many Marine campaigns and the World War.

Organization of the Expeditionary Force was being directed by Brig. Gen. Harry Lee, commanding the Quantico base. Gen. Lee pointed out that every man carries individual equipment for field service.

If field guns and howitzers are considered necessary by Washington, he said, they can be made ready immediately. Machine guns and ammunition can be loaded as quickly as the men, he declared.

Restoration of Order President's Aim, He Tells Diplomats.

Let People Choose Own Government, White House Insists.

Developments in the Cuban situation last night were:

President Roosevelt called diplomatic representatives of four Latin-American countries and assured them that this country has no desire to intervene in Cuba.

The battleship Mississippi, the cruiser Indianapolis with Secretary of the Navy Swanson aboard, three destroyers and four Coast Guard cutters began moving toward Cuban waters. The cruiser Richmond, due at Havana at 8 p. m. today, and two destroyers already in Cuban harbors, made 12 armed ships available for Cuban duty.

Ambassador Welles reported unrest was growing in the interior and on the southern coast.

The new Cuban government promised order "in all the republic." A manifesto said command of the army would soon be returned to the officers by the enlisted men who led the coup against the De Cespedes rule.

(Associated Press.)

Amid fresh reports of Cuban disturbances President Roosevelt last night called for speedy establishment of a government to maintain order in the island republic.

Mr. Roosevelt outlined the United States policy to diplomatic representatives of South and Central America at the White House while American warships were concentrating about the troubled island.

To the spokesmen from the neighboring republics, he declared it was the desire of the United States to avoid intervention and that everything possible to make this unnecessary was being done.

Demands Order.

He said the key to the American policy toward Cuba was that the Cuban people obtain as rapidly as possible a government of their own choosing and, equally important, a government that would maintain order.

He declared that if a government was constituted as quickly as possible to restore order it would have the happy effect of eliminating any threat or necessity of intervention.

But even as the President spoke a late message reached the White House from Ambassador Welles at Cuba reporting considerable disquiet, especially on the southern coast of the island.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson was speeding down the Atlantic Coast last night aboard the cruiser Indianapolis with Havana as his first port of call on a trip originally planned to inspect the West Coast.

Warships Nearby.

The battleship Mississippi was nearing Key West, Fla., while a group of destroyers, submarine chasers and other craft stood by within easy striking distance of the island.

The President emphasized to the representatives of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Mexico who met with him and Secretary Hull at the White

Quito, Ecuador, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Congress and President Juan de Duos Martinez Mera continued their battle for supremacy today with Congress voting non confidence in the new cabinet which the president announced last night. The unfavorable vote was 36 to 35.

Vatican City, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Six American Nuns at Yuanchow, Kiangsi Province South-Central China, were reported safe today in dispatches from Hankow.

The report said the city had been recaptured by government troops from the Communists. The Nuns are Passionist Sisters, whose mother house is at Baden, Pa.

Foreign Posts Given to Men Now in Service

Few patronage plums fell to job-seekers as President Roosevelt named experienced diplomats to most of the six foreign service posts which he filled yesterday.

Hal H. Sevier, of Texas, was appointed new Ambassador to Chile, while Post Wheeler, former Minister to Paraguay, was selected as Minister to Albania. James Marion Baker, of South Carolina, was named Minister to Siam, and Frederick A. Sterling, of Texas, was dispatched to the legation at Sofia, in Bulgaria.

Fay A. des Portes, of South Carolina, will be new Minister to Bolivia, with John Van Antwerp MacMurray, of Maryland, as Minister to Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania. Leslie A. MacLeod, of Massachusetts, was reappointed auditor of Puerto Rico.

Began Here In 1907.

MacMurray, the only appointee living near Washington, served in the State Department from 1907 to 1929. He was chief of the Division of Near Eastern affairs in 1912 and 1913, and served here as Assistant Secretary of State in 1924. The following year he was appointed Minister to China. He resigned from the department in 1929.

Wheeler has been in the Diplomatic Service since 1906. Prior to that time he was a newspaper correspondent and editor of the New York Press and was a miner for two years in Alaska and Washington.

He is the author of several books of poems, has studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania and the Sorbonne, and was colonel and judge advocate general on the staff of the Governor of Washington. He was appointed Minister to Paraguay in 1929.

Frederick A. Sterling, new Minister to Bulgaria, is now Minister to the Irish Free State. His foreign service dates from 1911, when he was appointed third secretary of the embassy to Russia. He was here as acting chief of the Division of Western European Affairs from 1916 to 1918, and was appointed to Ireland in 1927.

Former Rancher.

For eight years, prior to his foreign service appointment, he operated a cattle ranch in the West, and for two years he was a manufacturer of woolen goods in St. Louis.

MacLeod, who will continue as auditor of Puerto Rico, was first appointed in 1929, when he was traveling auditor for the United Fruit Co. His experience as accountant in the Latin-American commercial field includes service in Costa Rica and Honduras since 1919.

Named to Fill Diplomatic Post

Machado Joined By Kin in Canada

Reunion At Montreal Described as Sad.

Montreal, Sept. 6 (AP).—Several members of the family of Gerardo Machado, deposed Cuban president, joined him here today.

Senora Alvira Machado, his wife; their son-in-law, Dr. Baldomero Grau; their daughter and granddaughter arrived from Philadelphia, where they went shortly after the revolution. Fernando Fernandez, friend of Machado, accompanied the party.

A spokesman for Machado said several other members of the family will remain in Philadelphia.

The reunion of the family was described as a sad one. Machado has been granted permission to remain in Canada three months.

Roosevelt Demand Coal Dispute End

son to strike these stipulations out of the automobile code which expires on December 31. Organized labor and members of the labor advisory board intend to fight for its removal.

"The next move is up to Mr. Ford," the administrator said in discussing that situation. "If Mr. Ford observes the provisions of the code nothing will be done. If he violates provisions of the code action will be taken. Mr. Ford is just the same as any other manufacturer in any industry under a code. So far as I know Mr. Ford hasn't violated the code."

As soon as the coal code is out of the way attention will be centered on a master retail code. It has been indicated approval will be given to some sort of a limitation on prices in the code. Sponsors of the drug code have proposed a minimum mark-up of 28 per cent, but that provision is not thought to have a chance of approval. Gen. Johnson said some sort of a price rule probably would be approved if it wasn't "too strong."

Electrocuted

Tree On City Street Killed By Current; 41 Others Victims of Gas.

Electrocution — but not in the course of an execution—took the life of a Washington street tree last year.

Death resulted when this tree was burned by electric wires, according to the annual report of Clifford Lanham, superintendent of trees and parking, to the District Commissioners yesterday.

Several trees, 41, to be exact, were killed by illuminating gas, while only two fell victims of insects, the report declared.

Music of Country Played At Pan-American Union Fete.

The United States Navy Band, playing under the leadership of Lieut. Charles Benter, brilliantly closed the Pan-American Union's esplanade concerts last evening before an audience of 2,000, with Hector de Lara, radio and concert barytone, as guest artist.

Coming on the eve of Brazil's national holiday, the Navy Band paid a musical tribute to that country by starting the program with the march "Caneao do Soldado" (de Campos) and ending, preceding "The Star-Spangled Banner," with the Brazilian national anthem.

Senor de Lara likewise felicitated the South American country by opening his first cycle with "Canzone dell' Avventuriere," from "Il Guarani," by Carlos Gomes, Brazil's premiere composer.

Scenes From Opera.

Further in musical recognition of a sister republic, the band presented for the first time in the United States scenes from Gomes' opera, "Lo Schiavo," arranged by George Drumm, of New York.

Senor de Lara's first group, "Songs From My Homeland," included "Tu, Tu y Tu," "Perdi un Amor" and "Cabellera Rubia" by the distinguished Mexican composers Grever, Ponce and Lara, respectively. He offered for the first time in the United States "La Propoesta" of Monestel. The text was written by Senor Don Manuel Gonzalez-Zeledon, charge d'affaires of Costa Rica in Washington.

Special Numbers Played.

Numbers included "The Enchanted Hour," played on the celesta, harp and vibraphone, by Musicians Cameron, Dermond and Goucher; "Kiita" (Campos), a first rendition for cornet and flute, played by Musicians Gardner and Townsend, and "Ausencia" (Escamilla), played as a xylophone duet by Musicians Goucher and Watson.

"Suite Tropicale" (Adalid y Gamero), and a first rendition of Suarez's "Los Bomberos" (held over as the Union's contribution to the firemen's celebration), were among the other numbers on the program.

Edgerton to Head Rivers and Harbors

Lieut. Col. Glen Edgerton, Corps of Engineers, was assigned yesterday as chief of the river and harbor section of the office of the Chief of Engineers, the War Department announced.

Col. Edgerton recently arrived here from Rock Island, Ill., where he served as a district engineer and had charge of improvement work on the Mississippi River between the Illinois and Wisconsin Rivers.

As chief of the river and harbor section he will administer the important engineering works and maintain the waterways in the rivers, harbors and canals of the United States.

De Priest Assails Howard Economy

Declares Trustees Ignore Technical Education.

Decision of Howard University's governing body to abolish the architectural and engineering departments in interest of economy was assailed by Representative Oscar De Priest at the National Technical Association in Chicago. De Priest said the trustees had no interest in technical education of Negroes.

The fight to preserve the departments was begun by the Washington branch of the association.

Crisis Affected By U. S. Dollars

(Associated Press.)

The proximity of Cuba to the United States and $1,000,000,000 of American money invested in Cuban enterprises stand out above the swiftly changing developments that yesterday sent more warships steaming Havana-ward.

A total of 5,983 American citizens were permanent residents of Cuba when the last count was made.

Unlike other republics of the Western Hemisphere, Cuba gained its independence not alone by its own efforts but with the aid of the United States in the Spanish-American War.

Right to Intervene.

After the struggle, when Cuba's government was placed for the first time in the hands of its own people, the United States made a specific treaty provision sponsored by Senator Platt, of Connecticut, and known as the Platt amendment.

It provided that the United States might intervene for "the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty" and discharging its international obligations.

So far, the administration has stuck closely to an interpretation of that amendment first formulated by Elihu Root. It provided that the United States should not intervene for purpose of meddling in Cuba's internal affairs and should intervene only in case of complete breakdown of law and order with resultant anarchy.

Good Moral Effect.

At the State Department the conception of the function of naval vessels in case of emergency is to take off American citizens who might be in danger and take them to places of safety. At the same time, the presence of warships is calculated to have an impressive moral effect upon the country.

That the United States instead of some European nation is taking this action is explained by the overwhelmingly larger proportion of American nationals and interests in the island, by the obligations assumed when the Republic of Cuba was brought into being and by the Monroe Doctrine.

Japanese Officers Call on Dern Here

Maj. Gen. Itagaki, of the Japanese imperial general staff, and Maj. Nagatsu, formerly military attache in Peiping, called at the War Department yesterday to pay their respects to Secretary Dern and Gen. MacArthur, chief of staff.

Maj. Gen. Itagaki was chief of staff of the Kwantung, or Manchurian army, on September 18, 1931, when the Japanese army began its Manchurian campaign. He is popularly credited with planning the coup which resulted in Japanese control in Manchuria. Later he was adviser to Henry Pu-Yi, Manchurian regent. As a reward for his services he was given a trip around the world. Maj. Nagatsu's work at the time of the coup was also considered so valuable that he, too, was given a trip around the world.

Ford Deadlock In NRA Stands, Edsel Returns

Son Declines to Talk As Father Remains in Michigan Camp.

Detroit, Sept. 6 (AP).—The deadlock between the NRA and the Ford Motor Co., still a holdout from the automotive code, continued unabated tonight here.

Edsel Ford returned to Detroit today from Seal Harbor, Me., but he would not comment on the company's plans for activity or nonparticipation in the NRA. His father, Henry Ford, remained secluded in his Michigan camp.

Indications at the Ford plant, however, were the conference between President Roosevelt and Recovery Administrator Johnson in Washington tonight was not unexpected. Officials had commented they expected President Roosevelt would have something to say when he returned from his vacation.

Whether Ford will announce a reduction in hours to coincide with or "go one better" the present minimum of 35 hours a week provided in the NRA code could not be learned. The company is on an 8-hour day, 5-day week and, under a wage revision, employes receive more than the 43-cent hourly minimum the code provides. Many employes receive $4.80 a day, as against the previous minimum of $4. In skilled classes, this figure goes as high as $10.

U.S. Hopes to Avoid Cuba Intervention

house the object of keeping them informed was that the United States believed their countries had just as much interest in the preservation of order in Cuba as did the United States.

In this unprecedented diplomatic move Mr. Roosevelt outlined the American policy in the Cuban crisis as follows:

He wanted the other republics of America to have complete and constant information about the Cuban situation to the full extent that is available to the United States.

Diplomats at Parley.

The United States has absolutely no desire to intervene and is seeking every means to avoid intervention.

He hoped that the Cuban people would obtain as rapidly as possible a government of their own choosing and, equally important, a government that would maintain order.

It was pointed out that if a government were constituted quickly to maintain order it would have the happy effect of eliminating any thought or necessity of intervention.

The diplomats included: Ambassador Felipe Espil of Argentina; Benjamin Cohen, charge d'affaires for Chile; H. Accioly, charge d'affaires of Brazil; Padilla Nervo, charge d'affaires of Mexico.

They left the White House smiling. Referring inquirers to the President, the South American statesmen said they were "satisfied."

Mr. Roosevelt made it clear he would have had the representatives of the other South and Central American nations at the meeting if there had been time to get them. He asked Secretary Hull to inform the legations of the other countries of what he had said.

Swanson Sends Message.

Secretary Swanson said last night, in a statement sent by wireless from the Indianapolis, that "the Cuban situation will continue to be handled from Washington by the President."

Swanson said that in journeying to the Cuban trouble zone by cruiser he was merely carrying out his original plan for a trip to that section, made before the present revolution broke.

His statement follows in full:

"A wholly erroneous interpretation has been given to my trip. This trip to the West Coast was planned, as every one knows, a month ago. No one at that time expected a second revolution in Cuba.

"I had told Ambassador Welles, when the trip was first planned, that I would drop in and visit with him in Havana if I could. During my conversation with the President today he told me he saw no reason why I should not carry out the original plans for the trip.

"I have not been ordered to Havana.

"I am carrying no instructions to Ambassador Welles or anyone else. The Cuban situation will continue to be handled from Washington by the President."

Sergeant Siezes Province.

Reports reaching Washington yesterday said that in Oriente province, in which Santiago is situated, an army sergeant had taken control.

Whether he acted independently of the revolutionary chiefs at Havana was not made clear, although the reports indicated that was the case. The advices also said armed bands of students entered the homes of two prominent politicians, Col. Carlos Mendieta and Miguel Mariano Gomez, to arrest individuals hiding there. Reports of bloodshed were absent, however.

Dr. Marquez Sterling, ambassador of the rejected De Cespedes government, called at the State Department, apparently for information about the Cuban situation. He has not yet presented his credentials and with the fall of his government his status was a riddle.

Arlington Bus Line Extension Plea Heard

Petition of the Fairfax Motor Transportation Co. for extension of route from Ballston, Va., to East Falls Church, was heard by the Arlington County public utilities commission last night.

"100 Marks"

Police last night warned Washington business establishments to watch for a man who passed a worthless 100-mark German note at a downtown hotel yesterday.

Employes of the hotel said the man had a traveling bag full of the notes.

He tendered the note in an advance payment for his room, and after checking the market value a clerk gave him $32. Investigation disclosed the note of the 1920 series, which is worthless.

Hotel employes described the man as about 28 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighing 150 pounds. He speaks with a German accent, they said.

He gave his name as Alfred Schwartz, New York City.

Cuban Leaders Outline Aims Of New Revolt

Committee of Five Issues Statement Seeking U. S. Recognition.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 6.—The first clear-cut, authentic outline of the aims of the "people's government" was made tonight in a statement from the Committee of Five, issued by Prof. Ramon Grau San Martin, one of the leaders. It asked United States recognition. The text, in part, follows:

"We hope that once the United States sees this revolutionary government is strong enough to maintain order and at the same time is an organization with a definite program in view, it will recognize us.

Will Continue Parleys.

"When that recognition comes, we hope to continue the economic and other conferences which started under the De Cespedes administration. We have no anti-American tendencies, and we hope to receive from the United States loyal and friendly treatment, as previous governments have received. * * *

"The De Cespedes administration did not represent the revolution. It did not attempt to carry into effect the revolutionary program. It was a government tinged with party interests. * * * Furthermore, that administration did not have public opinion behind it.

Pledge People Vote.

"The revolutionary government has a program centering on unity of action, without political tendencies whatsoever. Our first goal is to convoke a constituent assembly free of party interests that will permit the Cuban people to voice their own ideas.

"A special census for the registration of all voters must be made within a short time."

Borah Warns Against Orgy Of High Prices

Senator Asserts U. S. Soon Will Be Facing Block Gouging of Public.

(Associated Press.)

In his first formal comment on the administration's recovery program, Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, predicted yesterday the Government "will soon be facing the proposition of price fixing," to block unjustly high prices.

Senator Borah, recuperating from a major operation just before his departure for home, issued a statement appealing for protection of the consumer.

Asserting people will not buy when prices seem inequitable, the senator said the cost of some things already had passed "beyond reason" and charged "gouging has already been undertaken in some places."

He also forecast "the question of controlled inflation will return for consideration" because "the open market proposition does not reach those who need help." The latter was a reference to the Federal Reserve Board's recently rejuvenated program of buying United States securities on the open market.

Warning that the entire NRA drive depended upon the consumer, Borah said it would fail unless he was protected.

"It was a mistake to repeal the Sherman antitrust act," he said, "but, that having been done, the Government will have to protect the people from inequitable prices."

2 Held in Raid On Nudist Cult

"Indecent Exposure" Also Charged to 17 Others in Michigan.

Allegan, Mich., Sept. 6 (AP).—A raid by Sheriff Fred W. Miller on a nudist colony 10 miles west of here resulted today in the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ring, of Kalamazoo, said by the sheriff to have operated the camp.

Seventeen warrants were issued, charging indecent exposure, the same charges preferred against the Rings, and the persons named were ordered by Prosecutor Welborne S. Luna to report here by Saturday.

Sheriff Miller said the persons found at the camp were from Ann Arbor, Kalamazoo and Chicago.

The officers said that when they arrived at the camp, known as the Sunshine Sports League, a game of handball was in progress while other occupants of the camp were bathing in Swan Creek, all nude. The campers were said to have been married couples for the most part.

Norristown, Pa., Sept. 6 (AP).—Frances Moore, a college graduate, was on a hunger strike in the county prison tonight in protest against arrest of herself and 17 other pickets today outside a children's clothes factory.

Several hundred employes are on strike, seeking wage increases and recognition of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Clerks Invite Roosevelt Aid In Job Issues

U. S. Employes' Convention Protests Wage Cuts and Abuses.

President Roosevelt yesterday was invited to follow up his "advanced" position on Federal personnel issues with a concrete program for the betterment of Government working conditions.

Delegates to the Kansas City convention of the National Federation of Federal Employes, who lustily cheered a message of good will from the White House, adopted a resolution suggesting that specific steps be taken to remedy current abuses, according to word received at headquarters here.

The convention asked that "the President and Congress discontinue the policy of continued wage cuts, furloughs and slashed appropriations in the Government service itself and replace this policy with one of investment in prosperity through increased wages to Government employes, filling of vacancies in Government service and provision for the normal and orderly conduct of regular essential services by the Government for the welfare of the people of the United States."

Roosevelt Sent Greetings.

The President's message to the federation was brief. It read:

"I have just returned to Washington from brief vacation at Hyde Park, and learn that the National Federation of Federal Employes is meeting in convention in Kansas City. Please accept my best wishes for the success of your convention."

The convention adopted a resolution unanimously requesting "the passage of legislation classifying all positions in both the departmental and field services, as a fundamental basis for a uniform and scientific system of personnel administration for the Federal Government."

In an address to the convention, Representative Lambertson, (Republican), of Kansas, voiced the hope that the Civil Service system will withstand the attacks being made upon it.

Seek Retirement Change.

Resolutions favoring liberalization of the Federal retirement law, as advocated by Ulrey J. Biller, vice president, of Washington, were adopted by the federation.

The proposals include:

Granting optional retirement after service of 15 years on attaining the age of 60.

That compulsory retirement be opposed.

Bankers Hit Guaranteed Deposit Law

Association Demands Delay of Plan; 2 Capital Men Honored.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—The American Bankers Association today drafted its war map to battle against deposits insurance, and announced a policy of cooperation with national recovery by administering credit to industry and commerce "within the limits of sound banking."

The association convention adopted a resolution demanding postponement of the deposit guaranty clause in the national banking act of 1933, slated to become law next June 1.

Commission Suggested.

The association suggested that a Federal commission be appointed to consider the problems of money and banking and central banking.

After declaring the deposits guaranty provision a "radical departure" the association placed in the hands of its administrative committee the question of "giving proper consideration to this matter with the idea of taking such remedial steps as seem fitting and proper."

Replying to the President's plea for ready extension of credit the association adopted a resolution stating:

"We pledge our support and cooperation in the recovery campaign that is now under way, and we point out that the banking support that is in the long run most effective and helpful is that which conforms to the principles of sound banking, and which by so doing safeguards the institution and the funds of its depositors."

Washington Men Honored.

Invitations for the association convention to be held in Washington, in 1934, and in New Orleans in 1935, were received. Howard Moran, of the American Security and Trust Co., of Washington, was vice president of the savings division.

Retail Meat Code Offered

Efforts Made to Uphold Prices, Keep Wages of Butchers Down.

Attempts to uphold retail meat and poultry prices and simultaneously keep down butchers' wages through Government assistance are shown in a "code of fair competition" filed with the Agriculture Adjustment Administration yesterday

If approved, a code submitted on behalf of the delicatessen industry largely would limit sale of delicatessen meats to bona fide delicatessen shops, with minimum prices fixed and maintained by Federal agents appointed by Secretary Wallace.

Another code, covering fresh meats and poultry, submitted by the National Association of Meat, Poultry and Provision Purveyors, would make it illegal for any butcher to "entice" a competitor's employe by offering him higher wages or sell wares at prices that failed to cover replacement costs plus overhead expenses.

This code would be enforced by the National Association of Meat, Poultry and Provision Purveyors, which would be allowed to license butchers and punish violators as it saw fit. Butcher shops would be compelled to pay membership fees to receive code "benefits."

The delicatessen code proposes minimum weeks of 48 hours for women and 54 for men with wages from 21 to 46 cents an hour. Butcher shops could not sell delicatessen meats unless engaged in the trade before August 15, while other grocers and butchers would be prohibited from selling delicatessen wares cheaper than those posted by neighborhood delicatessen shops.

22 Lives Taken By Hurricane In Texas Area

Damage Reaches Millions In "Garden" Valley of Rio Grande.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 6 (AP). Twenty-two known deaths, hundreds of injured and property damage running into millions of dollars formed the dark-hued picture tonight of the great hurricane which lashed south Texas Monday night and Tuesday.

No lives were lost in Brownsville, a city of some 30,000, near the mouth of the Rio Grande, despite the terrific winds and general destruction of property.

Death List Will Grow.

Experienced relief workers expressed opinion, however, that the death list probably would be increased in outlying districts isolated by high waters.

Eight persons were known to have lost their lives at Matamors, four at Harlingen, two at San Benito, Seven at Rio Hondo, and one at Port Isabel, Tex.

The number of persons suffering minor injuries, such as cuts by flying glass and bruises from hurtling debris, was estimated at around 1,500.

Eight hundred persons were made homeless in Brownsville. Many business buildings were destroyed or damaged, and the citrus crop, valued at around $12,000,000 and about ready for harvest, was virtually wiped out.

All Buildings Damaged.

All the way from McAllen to Brownsville, a distance of 60 miles, general desolation was evident. Nearly every residence and business building had suffered some damage.

Arriving on the relief train from San Antonio, Houston, Corpus Christi, Kingsville and Laredo, relief workers, headed by Red Cross officials, organized swiftly to meet the threat of disease, hunger and thirst.

A bridge north of Monterey was washed out by floods.

On the outskirts of Harlingen a cotton compress was blown to pieces. Houses had been smashed to bits.

Fumes Fell Many.

When the storm blew into San Benito, many crowded into an ice plant. Ammonia fumes were released and many persons were overcome.

Senator Morris Sheppard took up the matter of relief with the War Department in Washington.

Representative Milton West, representing the storm-struck district, appealed to the Home Owners Loan Corporation to approve immediately a program to rehabilitate homes destroyed.

10,000-Ton Cruiser Launched by U.S.

Minneapolis Is 13th of 18 New Warships.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6 (AP).—The 10,000-ton cruiser Minneapolis was launched today at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. The heavy warship was christened by Miss Grace L. Newton, daughter of Walter H. Newton, who was secretary to President Hoover. The ship slipped into the Delaware River at 2:44 p. m., Eastern standard time.

The weather was fair for the occasion and a large crowd, including a party from Minneapolis, saw the big hull slide from the ways.

The Minneapolis is the thirteenth of 18 heavy cruisers permitted this country under the Washington and London naval treaties. The ship is expected to be completed and ready for commissioning next spring.

$7,500,000 Given To Work Projects

(Associated Press.)

Allotment of about $7,500,000 for public works projects in ten States was announced yesterday after Secretary Ickes obtained approval from President Roosevelt.

Exerting pressure to speed the funds into job providing construction work, officials said the bulk of the projects announced could start within ten days and the rest within a month.

Most of the projects approved were for improvements on Indian lands in nine Western States, costing $6,164,050.

Just Curious

Vincent Astor Charters Huge Plane For Hop to Capital.

Vincent Astor yesterday ratisfied curiosity stored up ever since he became interested in aviation.

He flew to Washington in a large transport plane he chartered, the sole passenger.

His return was sudden, as he left the Capital for New York on the night before. Asked why he had chartered a 15-passenger plane for the trip, Astor replied:

"I never had flown in one before and I wanted to see what it was like."

'Two-Bit' Opera Opens Tonight At New York

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—"Aida" and "Carmen," "Faust" and "Pagliacci," "Trovators" and "Traviata" —at two-bits to a dollar.

With these programs and prices, Alfredo Salmaggi answers the long-standing argument, could grand opera be produced profitably in America at popular prices?

In this music hall, early in the summer, Salmaggi inaugurated his experiment in opera. The box office and critics attested its success.

Ten weeks with about 35,000 paid admissions a week! The critics came skeptical—and remained to praise.

"Aida," that favorite first-nighter, opens the fall and winter season—sharing the first four days with "Carmen." Pasquale Amato, famed barytone and compeer of Caruso, will return soon from Europe to join the company.

The season will extend through to December 16—ten days before opening of the Metropolitan.

Farley to See Norfolk Cornerstone Ceremony

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 6 (AP).—Postmaster General James A. Farley and United States Senator Harry Flood Byrd will arrive in Norfolk tomorrow morning to participate in the laying of the cornerstone of the new $2,000,000 Federal Building on Granby street.

Mr. Farley will deliver the principal address and is expected to speak at a luncheon in his honor. In the latter address it is expected he will make a plea for Virginians to vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment October 3.

Hoovers Sign

Former President's Family Joins Blue Eagle League.

Stanford University, Calif., Sept. 6 (AP).—The Herbert Hoover household, citizen consumers, is signed up under the wide-spreading wings of President Roosevelt's Blue Eagle.

The query whether the former Prsident has signed an NRA consumer's pledge was made to him today through his secretary, Paul Sexson. Sexson reported the household was "signed up."

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are the only members of the family living at the campus home here. But the "household," Sexson said, includes secretaries of both and servants.

Actress Tells Of Raid Made At Her Hotel

Claire Windsor Declares Read Was Absent at Time of Visit.

Los Angeles, Sept. 6 (AP).—The story of a raid by four detectives on her Agua Caliente (Mexico) hotel bungalow in the spring of 1932 was told by Claire Windsor, actress, today in trial of the $100,000 suit in which she is charged by the former wife of Alfred Read, jr., with stealing his love.

Miss Windsor said the detective broke into her home after she, Read, his sister, Miss Grace Read, and another man had gone to the resort the night before.

Read Wasn't There.

Read became ill and she induced him to lie down in the bungalow. She said she did not know when he left.

"Was he there at 7 o'clock the next morning?" asked C. Ray Robinson, attorney for Mrs. Read.

"No, he was not," she replied, "but four detectives walked in on me at that hour."

Robinson went back to Christmas, 1931, and read a letter in which Miss Windsor wrote, in part:

"Please, dear, wire me immediately if you are going to be in Chicago for New Year's Eve. I'd die to be left alone that night of all nights. I know that I am just going to cry my eyes out this Xmas to be so far away and alone."

Romance Was Short.

On next January 27 there was a letter from Read in which he referred to Miss Windsor's complaints about his inattention to her. One paragraph read by Robinson said:

"I know, dear, that everything has been so mixed up, and I am still married in California. I have never put anything over on you and never will. I have never passed a single day without thinking of you and wanting you and I know I shall always feel that way whether I ever have you for my own or not."

Miss Windsor left the stand and Mrs. Read was called. She told of her life with her former husband.

Earlier, Miss Windsor testified that her romance with Read, which began in September, 1931, cooled the following December.

Gil Berry Signed For Cinema Role

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 6 (AP). With a movie contract in his pocket, Gil Berry, 1932 captain of the University of Illinois Football Team, who was chosen by his classmates as the most handsome man on the campus, will be Hollywood-bound shortly to take a role in Paramount Studio's "Search for Beauty."

Berry is one of 15 "perfect" young men chosen by the studio in a world-wide quest for new screen material.

Berry will receive $50 a week for a minimum of five weeks, and, if the studio likes his work, he will be offered a seven-year contract.

Fire In King Laundry Does $2,000 Damage

Fire of undetermined origin caused about $2,000 damage yesterday to King Laundry, at Fiftieth and Grant streets northeast.

The blaze, discovered by a passerby, was confined to the interior of the first and second stories. The brick building is the property of the National Training School for Women and Girls.

Insane Convict Shot by Guard

Another Injured Trying to Escape Prison at Matteawan.

Matteawan, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP).—One inmate was shot to death and another wounded today in battle with guards and police at the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane when four crazed felons tried to escape. The prisoners, using blank cartridges, after exchanges of shots, barricaded themselves in the assembly room, where Ray Fisher, of Buffalo, an inmate described by officials of the institution as the leader of the attempt for freedom, was shot to death by State Trooper Harold Galvin.

Order was restored after a tear gas barrage brought the surrender of Skelly Marshall, who was shot in both legs, and two other plotters, James Ellis and Reinhardt Bolz.

Gov. Herbert Lehman, in Albany, asked for a report on the uprising and authorities began an investigation to learn where the inmates obtained their pistols and blanks.

Elks Plan Campaign To Raise Membership

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP).—Walter F. Meier, of Seattle, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, was greeted here today by officials of all Elks lodges of New York State.

He is planning ceremonies throughout the United States on Armistice night to increase the membership by 25,000.

Relief Set-Up Fails, Says U. S. Administrator

(Associated Press.)

Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief Administrator, said yesterday the "whole picture of the unemployment situation from top to bottom shows inadequate relief."

Releasing figures showing a drop of 8.2 per cent in the number of families depending on public relief and a decline of 10.8 per cent in the amount of money spent in July compared with June, Hopkins said this meant "the people in need are not living off the fat of the land through relief."

He added the Government was putting up from 55 to 60 per cent of relief money now and "if the 'adequacy business' is stepped up as it should be, it's going to cost us a lot more money."

He believed, however, that the Federal relief fund of $500,000,000, of which more than $150,000,000 already has been granted to the States, probably would last until next May. He did not say whether a further appropriation would be sought.

July expenditures, Federal, State and local, amounted to $59,000,000, compared with $66,000,000 the preceding month. The number of families aided was 3,464,000 against 3,779,000.

School Opening Waits; Teachers Out On Strike

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 6 (AP).—School bells rang today in Old Forge Borough, but nobody paid any attention to them. The reason was that more than 100 teachers went on strike because their request for payment of six months in back pay had been refused. Today was to have opened the fall and winter terms.

Newspaper Saved Pageant from Abandonment, Organizer Says.

Thanks to The Washington Post for having made this year's Firemen's Labor Day parade possible, was expressed yesterday by the National Firemen's Association. The Post assumed sponsorship of the parade when it appeared the pageant would be abandoned because of the depression.

The letter of appreciation, written by George Finger, organizer, National Firemen's Association, follows:

"We wish to offer our heartiest congratulations for the efficient way in which your organization attended to the details of planning the National Firemen's Association Labor Day parade. The whole-hearted cooperation of The Washington Post assured the success of the three days' activity of the association.

"When it was feared that, because of the depression, it would be impossible for Washington business men to finance the Labor Day parade, The Washington Post agreed to finance and assist in organizing and putting on this event so dear to the firemen and the citizens of Washington.

"The Washington Post did everything possible to assist in making this affair a success and we feel that you deserve the best wishes and appreciation of those who know the many services you so generously rendered.

"We also wish through you to express our appreciation to the firemen and others who gave their time and labors so generously."

The Federal Diary

(Trade-mark Applied For)

By Morgan Baker

EVERYTHING is ready for participants in the Federal Diary Popularity Contest to have an enjoyable time on the Marine roof of Club Michel tonight as guests of The Washington Post.

BAKER.

First on the program is a dinner for all nominees and one companion each. The six winners of prizes will receive formally their awards: Tickets, checks, &c., for the all-expense-paid tours to Chicago; second, the same for the all-expense trips to Virginia Beach, and third, the two gold watches.

Dancing will follow the dinner. Each nominee is privileged to invite two couples to attend the dance, also as guests of The Post.

Yesterday we said, in pointing out the affair would be informal, that "men would wear white flannels or linen." Now, that attire is by no means compulsory. Perhaps it would have been clearer to have suggested merely "comfortable summer apparel." What we were trying to avoid was a boiled shirt on a warm night.

While the contest was not based on beauty or personality, each of the three winners in the women's division easily could qualify in such a race.

Blonde Miss Beulah Myles, voted most popular, has sufficient poise to take a regal role in a Nordic opera. Miss Janet Stevens is a brunette. Her's is the Southern type of beauty, associated with elite salons of Charleston, Savannah and New Orleans. Miss Sadie Slutsky, also a brunette, is the girl one would find in the best sorority of an American college—a coed, pretty, who can play tennis, ride and swim, as well as balance a teacup at a reception.

PATENTS have been granted to four Federal employes for scientific apparatus.

An improvement to rigid aircraft has been perfected by Charles P. Burgess, engineer, Navy.

Byron McCandless, Navy, has invented a photographic projection device.

An improvement to airport construction is the invention of William M. Fellows.

These patents were granted under the act of March 3, 1883, which means the persons are Federal employes and the Government can use the inventions without paying royalty.

Doing His Part.

A Blue Eagle, the first we've seen on the office door of a Government employe, is proudly displayed by Lon A. Schimpf (*), Federal Trade Commission.

Having encountered resentment among Federal workers in view of rising prices following their 15 per cent pay cut and furloughs, we questioned Schimpf. His answer is an admirable bit of patriotism.

"I am 'doing my part'," he said. "I contributed to the Community Chest, to one of the missions, and am making monthly donations to a trade organization's relief fund to aid unemployed members. Also, I am contributing 15 per cent of my salary to help 'balance the budget,' although I understood the budget was balanced before Congress adjourned.

"I am responding to the request of the President and Gen. Johnson by 'buying now' so far as my income will permit. I would do more if my salary were restored to normal. Anyway you look at it, I am doing my part. I believe I am justified in displaying the Blue Eagle on my office door, as thousands of other Federal employes, have a right to do so, as they are doing as much or more than I."

MORE golf. And we venture to say "It's always swear weather when good golfers get together."

Leo Pass, Claims, Veterans' Administration, is getting back to form at Indian Springs Golf Club. Until 1932, Pass was the Veterans' golf champion. He claims his cat mascot is helping him to win. Kitty is guarded closely. Now, the Navy probably will chuckle and say: "Huh, they have superstitions in the Army, too."

Under Advisement.

"Say, Mr. Federal Diary," begins a note in last night's mail. "Now that the Popularity Contest is ended, how about running an 'Unpopularity Contest?' I'm sure we could find plenty of persons to nominate.

"A good prize for the winner of first prize in the Unpopularity Contest would be one week of overtime work, including Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

"Furthermore (this is no threat), if you don't put (*) after some of the names I give you the next time you call, I'll enter your name in the proposed contest.

Roper to Seek Funds to Light Airway Routes

$120,000 Will Be Sought to Maintain Needed Flying Beacons.

To maintain full-time operation of beacon lights on airways, including those coming into Washington, the Director of the Budget will be asked for an additional $120,000, Secretary of Commerce Roper said yesterday.

Full-time lights can be operated on the transcontinental and West Coast airlines out of present funds. The additional sum will permit full-time lighting on all connecting lines, which include the New York-Washington-Richmond route.

"The part-time operation of airway lights was an experiment conducted in an attempt to economize," Secretary Roper said. "We now find that there is, on the part of many, an anticipated danger to life, and in view of this steps have already been taken to correct this."

The additional $120,000 was appropriated, but was not used by the Aeronautics Branch, because of economy measures. About $2,000,000, it is estimated, will be saved. The $120,000 will be taken from this saving. Radio and other communication facilities on the airways will continue to be operated, Secretary Roper said.

The Secretary revealed yesterday he had recently made his first flight, from St. Louis to Kansas City. "It certainly is the way to see your country," he commented.

Rubber Firm Tells Of Employment Gain

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 6 (AP).—After Representative Dow Harter had written NRA Administrator Hugh Johnson that rubber companies were laying off men, the B. F. Goodrich Co. issued a statement today asserting employment levels depend entirely on sales.

"From April 1 to August 1 inclusive, we employed 4,980 additional people in our Akron factories," the statement said, "and during the same period laid off 188."

The American Federation of Labor is trying to unionize rubber workers.

Kansas City, Sept. 6 (AP).—Americans who go to Europe for their airplane rides were chided here today by Amy Mollison, celebrated aviatrix. "I must hurt somebody's feelings, but America has the greatest airways system on earth," she told a crowd here as she stepped from a Continental Air Liner on a hurried trip to the West Coast.

For the "fun of it," Mrs. Mollison is acting as a copilot on the trip. The aviatrix talked enthusiastically about plans for their flight back to England—"and on as far as we can fly."

Mail Carrier Hours Assailed by Kelly

House Member Sees Postal Employes Overworked.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 6 (AP). Representative Clyde Kelly, of Pittsburgh, today deplored the practice of allowing postoffice employes to work long hours at reduced pay while America is endeavoring to perfect an industrial recovery program under wholly opposite conditions. He addressed the twenty-ninth annual convention of the National Letter Carriers Association.

Kelly, a member of the Postoffice Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, assured the delegates of his intention to do what he could to better the conditions of letter carriers.

He opposed the theory that the postoffice must be operated for profit. Service, not money-making, he said, is the principal purpose of the department. The deficit, he declared, is the result of a decrease in business.

Treasury Hit For Forbidding Bank Opening

Col. Wade Cooper Claims U. S. Officials Balked Business Plan.

Testimony that Treasury Department officials refused to give their approval to two plans that he submitted in a vain attempt to obtain a license to reopen his United States Savings Bank was given yesterday in the District Supreme Court by Col. Wade H. Cooper, president and majority stockholder of the bank.

Col. Cooper, testifying in his suit to block merger of the United bank with seven others to form the Hamilton National Bank, declared his bank consistently paid dividends and that it could have operated successfully if Treasury officials had permitted it to reopen.

Two Plans Outlined.

One plan advanced by him was that depositors would waive 35 per cent of their deposits. The other required a waiver of 25 per cent. Neither of these met the approval of F. G. Awalt, Deputy Comptroller of the Currency, because, Awalt said, it would leave the depositors with the burden while the stockholders would be getting "100 cents on the dollar." He intimated that he looked to the stockholders to obtain the release of the bank from its dilemma.

That the presence of the United Savings Bank was "required" in the proposed Hamilton Bank merger was admitted by Awalt in response to a question by W. Bissell Thomas, attorney for Col. Cooper. He declared that $51,000 had been subscribed in Hamilton stock by depositors of Cooper's bank. This amount, he said, was vitally needed by the Hamilton to obtain its charter.

$900,000 Subscribed.

Awalt revealed that $900,000 of the capital of the Hamilton Bank had been subscribed by depositors in eight banks now in the hands of the conservators, licenses for their reopening having been denied.

Cooper's direct examination had been concluded when court adjourned. He will be cross-questioned today by Roger J. Whiteford, Hamilton Bank counsel.

U. S. Forest Soil Testing Provided

The expenditure of $35,000 for soil examinations on lands to be bought for National forests has been authorized by President Roosevelt, it was learned yesterday.

The money will be taken from public works funds. The Executive order setting aside the money directs that it shall be spent by the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils of the Department of Agriculture for soil examination, survey and investigation." A previous executive order diverted $20,000,000 of public works funds for the purchase of new national park lands.

Their Hidden Past Is Revealed

Here are the lions whose heretofore obscure past was lightened by the reminiscences of members of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants at a meeting last night. The lions guard the entrance to the Corcoran Art Gallery.

Frank W. Dowling Tells of Sale of Bronzes About 1876.

To the history of the Corcoran Art Gallery bronze lions, as recorded in the museum's files, may now be added the testimony of Frank W. Dowling, given at the meeting of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants last night.

The lions, according to Dowling, were bought at auction for $1,900 by the late Frank B. McGuire, a trustee of the Corcoran, who presented them to the museum. And Dowling should know, for he is the son of the auctioneer who sold the lions, together with other valued items of the Ben Halladay estate. The sale was made in 1876 or 1877, Dowling said; and, according to James Duhamel, the association's corresponding secretary, the lions' original purchase price was $17,500.

Indorsement of the tax-reduction program of the District Taxpayers Association as requested at the meeting by J. W. Nelson, was voted down after Oldest Inhabitants Jesse C. Suter and John B. Dickman expressed opposition to the organization's policies.

Reduction of the association's membership by the recent deaths of Henry Yost, Brightwood grocer, and Joseph Gales Moore, former cashier of the National Metropolitan Bank, was announced.

Violators Get NRA Warning Through Notes

Further Action Is Arranged Only If Offense Continues.

Contact will be made with every alleged violator of NRA codes in Washington through letters and personal interviews, it was announced yesterday at campaign headquarters.

The letters that are being sent out this week notify the employer a complaint has been filed against his firm. He will be asked to communicate with the NRA offices in the Star Building.

"Matters not strictly within the meaning and the spirit of the NRA must be rectified," the letters will say in part, "and if there is any doubt in your mind as to the code for your industry we should be glad to explain it to you."

Efforts will be made to cooperate with employers and further action will be taken only in recalcitrant cases. If additional action is deemed necessary, information will be submitted to the State Recovery Board in the District.

Splendid cooperation is being received from department stores, it was announced. Many shops are printing consumer cards at their own expense and having them signed.

Reports of progress made will be heard at a meeting at 11 a. m. today.

AMERICAN AIRWAYS
"I learned something new about automobiles first time I drove a car like yours, sir. Terraplaning is the nearest thing to flying I've ever found on the ground."
"That's why I bought one. The Terraplane cruising speed of between 60 and 70 is so smooth you hardly notice the road or the engine."
"You'll have a swell trip, Mother. But I'm not envious. For once, I'll have the Terraplane all to myself. And do I love it!"

Fastest and Most Powerful in its Class

THE SIX $425 AND UP F.O.B. FACTORY

In talking with you about its cars, the Hudson Motor Car Company tries pretty hard to make only statements that can be easily proved by anybody.

So, when we say, "The Terraplane Eight is the fastest and most powerful car in its price-range," you can not only have confidence in the truth of the statement—you can easily prove it.

The Terraplane Eight's engine is rated at 94 horsepower in all official lists of motor car specifications—the two next highest ratings in its price-range are 82 and 77 horsepower.

The Terraplane Eight's top speed of 85 miles an hour has been proved under official supervision of the American Automobile Association.

The New De Luxe TERRAPLANES with RADIO as Standard Equipment are now on Display

The Terraplane Eight's ability to out-climb and out-accelerate every other car on the road, regardless of price, is provable, not only by 32 official A. A. A. records, but by yourself, any time—just drive it.

THE EIGHT $565 AND UP F.O.B. FACTORY

The greater roominess of the Terraplane Eight is measurable—a simple dressmaker's tape is all you need to prove it.

We are glad to have built such a car. We think you'll be glad and proud to own it.

Lamson Cries As He Denies Wife's Murder

Stanford Man, On Stand, Insists He Found Mate Dead.

San Jose, Calif., Sept 6 (U.P.).—The murder trial of David A. Lamson reached a climax today when the young defendant himself told the story of his wife's death in their Palo Alto home Memorial Day.

The Stanford Press executive told of the night of May 29, when he and his wife, Allene, played bridge with friends, of their return home, and of his working in the yard the next morning.

But he broke into tears and became hazy when he told of going to the bathroom of their home that day to see if it were all right to bring visitors in.

"As I came into the hall, the first thing I saw was blood, then Allene lying over the tub," he said, in a broken voice.

The defense claimed that was his first knowledge of her death. The State maintained Lamson killed her hours earlier in a quarrel over jealousy.

"I don't remember what happened next," Lamson continued. "I picked her up, but she must have slipped. She fell into the tub. I pulled her out and left her."

The defendant was uncertain of his next steps, although he recalled seeing women and police about the home, of talking to his sister, Dr. Margaret Lamson; of denying to police he killed his wife.

Kuehn Suspect Net Tightening

Police Said to Have Found Man Who Beat Woman at Accokeek.

Police last night were reported to be "closing in" on the colored man who attacked Mrs. Suzanne Kuehn, Accokeek, Md., last Saturday.

The posse of more than 100 armed farmers, who have been beating nearby Maryland woods, suspended efforts when they learned the man had been located elsewhere.

Police denied reports that a rogues gallery picture of a colored man had been identified by Mrs. Kuehn. The assailant's identity had been established several days ago, it was reminded.

Mrs. Kuehn, 72, a member of one of Maryland's old and aristocratic families, was brutally beaten in front of her home. She is recovering in Providence Hospital. Robbery was believed the motive for the attack.

Prince Charged With Cruelty

Mae Murray, in Divorce Suit, Says Husband Slapped Her.

Los Angeles, Sept. 6 (A).—Reviving charges of cruelty she made more than two years ago, Mae Murray, film actress, filed a second amended complaint for divorce today against David M'Divani, who claims to be a prince of the Russian Province of Georgia.

She asked for a reasonable alimony and division of community property. She charged her husband slapped and beat her.

She said she trusted her husband and placed all her money under his control. Last April while they were in New York, she said, he boarded a ship for Paris and left her with no money to pay her hotel bills or transportation to California.

Standard Oil Attorney Asks Lower Gas Taxes

Indianapolis, Sept. 6 (A).—Frank E. Packard, tax attorney for the Sandard Oil Co. of Indiana, presented a plea for reduction of gasoline taxes throughout the Nation in an address today.

Recalling a prediction he said he made eight years ago that the tax on gasoline would reach 10 cents a gallon, and that the average for the entire country would be 5 cents, Packard asserted that the excise tax is higher than 10 cents in many States.

Schooner Imprisoned In Arctic Ice Floe

Seattle, Sept. 6 (A).—Fighting the worst ice conditions in the Arctic for years, the trading schooner C. S. Holmes was imprisoned in solid ice 70 miles south of Point Barrow.

The four-master's predicament was told in a mesage received by Mrs. E. M. Backland, mother of the vessel's skipper, Capt. John Backland.

Settle in City To Check Race

Balloonist Believes He Made New Record In Bennett Cup Flight.

Back from "a comparatively calm trip" in his Navy balloon, Lieut. Comdr. T. W. G. Settle took his barograph to National Aeronautical Association headquarters here yesterday for calibration.

Whether he was the winner of the Bennett balloon race which started at Chicago remained in doubt, with two entries still unreported. As he turned in his instrument, announcement was made at Chicago that if the missing balloons are not heard from today, a search will be started.

If the barograph, calibrated by the Bureau of Standards, bears out records that Settle kept, he will have a duration tally of 51 hours 59 minutes. The previous record was 49 hours.

One windstorm, soon ridden through, was all he encountered, the Navy balloonist said. He landed in full moonlight. Settle expressed confidence the unreported balloons are safe. The bags are those of Ward Orman, American, and the Polish Capt. Franciznek Hynek.

Authorities said the balloons likely have landed in some uninhabited spot, possibly in Canada.

The Federal Deficit.

The Federal Government reports a deficit for the first two months of the current fiscal year of $229,685,457 compared with $663,949,644 during the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year. It is pointed out that if emergency outlays totaling $214,003,518 were eliminated, the budget would be very nearly balanced.

To avoid misconceptions, however, and give the public a fair idea of the present state of the Federal finances compared with the position of a year ago, total expenditures for all purposes should be presented as well as total receipts. This is necessary because of the fact that a classification of various emergency expenditures, now segregated from the general expenditures, has been introduced by the present administration.

As a result of this special classification, covering outlays for the emergency administration of public works, the R. F. C., emergency conservation work, the Industrial Recovery Administration, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and other agencies established as part of the recovery program, it is possible to reduce the existing deficit to the vanishing point. Its elimination has also been assisted by an increase in governmental receipts during the present fiscal year.

Although the budget is not far from being "constructively balanced"—to use a phrase employed by President Roosevelt—it is well to remember that this near-balance has been achieved by a change in accounting methods. Under the new system it is no longer necessary to consider various capital outlays and emergency expenditures as charges against current receipts, and there is danger that the public may forget that a balanced ordinary budget does not mean that the Government is paying as it goes. On the contrary, the public debt has risen over $3,000,000,000 since the end of August, 1932, and the emergency outlays in prospect make it certain that the present fiscal year will end with further large additions to the debt of the country.

Not only the volume of outstanding debt but the purposes for which it was contracted are matters of importance to the public. For that reason further analysis and segregation of the various classes of emergency expenditures now recognized by the Government are needed. There is a great difference, for instance, from the point of view of the taxpayer between debts contracted for the purpose of making recoverable advances to agriculture and industry and debts incurred for public works outlays of a nonproductive sort. Outlays by governmental agencies for emergency purposes, in short, may create debts carrying charges for interest and sinking fund which the taxpayer will have to shoulder or they may belong to the self-liquidating category.

While there may be need for adjustments in methods of Treasury accounting to adapt them to radically changed conditions, the public ought not to be unaware of the possibilities of abuse under a system of segregation of ordinary and extraordinary expenditures.

Subsistence Plans.

So many plans are being inaugurated to help American families provide some of their own rations by cultivating plots of ground that some economists are concerned as to the ultimate effect this movement may have upon those whose business it is to supply public markets. One proposal that will be watched with particular interest is the establishment of subsistence homesteads with the aid of the $25,000,000 appropriation set aside to aid in the redistribution of congested industrial populations.

The director of this section of the Public Works Administration foresees that the appropriation will only be sufficient to make a beginning among the number who will desire to take advantage of the possibility of securing long-time loans for the construction of homes on one and two acre tracts located sufficiently near cities for use by factory workers. In advance of operating regulations the hundreds already seeking loans would exhaust the available funds.

From all sections of the country come reports that many suburbanites and others who in the past have depended largely on the green grocer and canned goods for their supplies of vegetables and winter fruit have returned to the ways of their forefathers, and are not only supplying the summer tables with garden products, but are preserving winter stores.

In addition to these occupants of their own or rented land the emergency relief organizations have fathered projects everywhere to provide tracts where the unemployed might follow the same example of thrift during the summer and store up provender for the cold months. In New York the State Relief Association has reimbursed cities and counties 100 per cent for expenditures on approved garden projects. It is estimated that, under the expert supervision now given, every $5 spent on a garden yields $30. Thousands of little gardens on Long Island have helped families through the summer, and canning kitchens will aid them to prepare food for winter.

Expediting State Projects.

The Public Works Administration and the Bureau of Public Roads have taken action calculated to speed up State and municipal projects and road construction. States and municipalities have been slow to present their projects for consideration by Federal authorities. The excuse in some instances is that, unless assurance could be forthcoming that the project would be approved, it would be unwise to incur the expense of preparing plans and detailed drawings.

In order to meet this situation the Public Works Administration has adopted a rule authorizing an allocation of money required for State or municipal projects, provided a prima facie showing is made that a project is socially desirable, satisfactory from an engineering viewpoint, and legally acceptable. But if the financial and engineering details are not worked out within thirty days the tentative allocation will have no effect.

The Bureau of Public Roads has arranged to expedite highway work by advancing money to the States from a revolving fund for immediate payment of bills without taking the customary six weeks for approval by Washington.

It seems that the thirty days limitation for submission of detailed plans and drawings of State and municipal projects will prove too short. Some of the projects are of great size and cost, and preparation of drawings would require considerable time. The detailed drawings for a bridge, for example, call for careful and tedious work, as witness the time consumed in preparing plans for the long-delayed Calvert Street Bridge in Washington.

By readjusting the time limit to allow for preparation of designs in detail and completion of financing arrangements for large projects the Public Works Administration will really expedite the beginning of construction and employment of labor. Many small projects, however, can be made ready for contract within thirty days. The tentative allocation of public funds for such projects, which are prima facie meritorious, doubtless will push forward more rapidly the process of construction.

China's New Dollars.

China, for the first time in its long history, is enjoying the benefits of a standard dollar of national coinage. This was made possible by the abolition of the tael, an arbitrary measure of silver, which compelled double exchange transactions. The government discontinued the use of the tael last March, and this cumbersome unit of monetary reckoning has nearly disappeared from Chinese financial transactions. The tael was not a coin, but simply a money of account, its value varying with the fluctuations in the price of silver bullion.

The Shanghai mint began coining China's silver dollars last spring, turning out 200,000 a day, but the new coins were not released until millions were ready for circulation. The first standard dollar was condemned after 2,000,000 had been coined, as it was held that the design, showing birds flying over a rising sun, resembled airplanes on the Japanese flag. The later design bears a portrait of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen on one side, and on the reverse a Chinese junk. There are no foreign words on the dollar, all the inscriptions being in Chinese characters.

The mint at Shanghai was built ten years ago, but was not operated until this year. The coining of the new standard dollar was done under the direction of the former head of the United States Mint, Robert Grant, the dollar also having been designed in this country. It is expected that the new issue will gradually supplant the millions of Mexican dollars which have long been used as currency in China.

Good Neighborliness.

The desire of the present Administration to put into full effect the policy of the "good neighbor" was expounded in a radio address on Tuesday night by Assistant Secretary of State Jefferson Caffery. As a member of the American diplomatic service for nealy twenty-five years, it was somewhat surprising to hear him discuss the problems of Latin America were so much implied criticism of the United States. The impression created by Mr. Caffery's talk was that this country had been interested solely in exploiting Latin-American nations in order to sell its exports, and that they had been ruined by loans of United States money.

Speaking of the present informal discussions now taking place in Washington with the representatives of southern republics, Mr. Caffery says that it is a major shift of policy; that we aim to determine not only what products we may export in greater quantities, but what commodities we can import in greater volume. He asserts that the only importation the United States was interested in receiving during the boom era was larger quantities of gold. Trade figures since 1900 scarcely bear out the implications of such statements.

With the single exception of 1921 there was not another year out of the thirty-two in which imports to the United States from Latin America did not exceed in value American exports to those countries. During all the twelve years from 1918 to 1929 imports from Latin America averaged in annual value more than $1,000,000,000. In only two years during that period did exports to the southern republics reach $1,000,000,000. Last year with imports amounting to $407,000,000, exports were only $230,000,000.

Mr. Caffery said it was one of the first principles of economists that the more bought from a country the more may be sold to that country. But reverting to the case of Colombia, where he recently served as minister, he admitted that that nation's exports to the United States amounted to six times as much as its purchases in this country. "International trade," said Mr. Caffery, "can not be lopsided; it must be on a give and take basis."

Discussing American loans, Mr. Caffery expressed the belief that the new security act will prevent any repetition of the "dance of the millions" which poured $1,680,000,000 into Latin-American countries. With the information that will be available, the speaker predicted that unfair practices would be practically impossible "unless a banking or issuing house desires to face the condemnation of public opinion." Another deterring factor in making such loans will be the fact that 66 per cent of existing loans are in either complete or partial default.

The United States always has met Latin America more than halfway in commercial relations, and doubtless will continue to do so. There appears to be no occasion for apology for the American attitude, and such tactics are not appreciated by southern neighbors. If there has been any healthful change in inter-American relations of late years it has been the abandonment of the flowery exchanges of sentiment and frank realization that international commercial relations are based upon the hard facts of business and practical advantage.

After the Bushmaster.

The report comes from the Panama Canal Zone that Dr. Raymond Lee Ditmars, curator of reptiles for the New York Zoological Park, has arrived there to seek specimens of the bushmaster to add to the extensive collection that has been assembled by him over a period of thirty years. His present quest is one of the most dangerous of his many hazardous adventures, for the bushmaster is well named. It is one of the most venomous serpents known.

This member of the rattlesnake family is found in various parts of tropical America, particularly in the Amazon region, where it is dreaded by man and beast alike. Intrepid residents of the jungle avoid combat with the bushmaster, a snake which, it is said, does not hesitate to initiate attack. It grows to a length of eight feet, moves with remarkable speed, and strikes with deadly effect.

Dr. Ditmars had word that members of the United States Army had captured a bushmaster near Colon. He inspected it upon his arrival, but it proved to be a harmless type, although resembling the deadly fer-de-lance. Lured by tales of many real specimens that have been killed in the jungles adjacent to the construction camps of the Madden Dam, Dr. Ditmars has entered that section and will endeavor to bring back a live specimen. In addition to this big brother of the American diamond-backed rattlesnake, the doctor hopes to snare a few choice specimens of the vampire bats which inhabit caves along the upper Chagres River near the dam site.

Dr. Ditmars has written four books on snakes of the world. He has known them intimately in every part of the civilized and uncivilized globe. His encounters with the bushmaster in Central America should add a thrilling chapter to his many tales of adventure in capturing venomous reptiles.

The Japanese have invented a gun that fires 10,000 shots a minute and thereby achieves parity with American gangsters.

Women are said to have a keener sense of smell than men. Perhaps this explains why they are always trying to clean up politics.

If the cats and dogs could get the same lift as the little pigs in the stockyards the stock market would be happy.

It is alleged that race horses have been doped to make them win. Fans have been given dope to make them lose.

The Farmer Coming Back.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace recently took pains to explain that from conditions in the period 1909-14 are what the agricultural adjustment act seeks to restore, and why. The most satisfactory exchange relationships in a hundred years, between what the farmer produces and what he buys, then obtained. So the Bureau of Agricultural Economics took those years as a base period and worked out index numbers.

As the cotton and winter wheat acreage reduction plans now are operating, the 15 per cent spring wheat acreage reduction has been decided upon, millions of immature hogs are being slaughtered, financial aid is being given the dairying industry and other important relief measures are operating or pending, a look at the farmers' present exchange position is interesting. He has come up by a great recovery, the index figures show, from the depths of the depression, but still has a long way to go to reach the position the AAA seeks to attain.

The World War and its immediate afterperiod brought the farmer great good times. On the basis of 100 representing what he paid for what he bought, his income was 118 in 1917, 114 in 1918, 104 in 1919 and 106 in 1920. These were good times for the farmer and for those from whom he bought, as well. In 1921 the farm index figure was 77, and, coincidently, it was in 1920 and 1921 that the great downward trend began. From 1922 to 1931, the farm index varied from 95 to 65, but fell to 53 in 1932, when the country really began to go into the depths. January, 1933, found the index at 50 and in February, this year, it was 49.

March and April this year showed little improvement, but in May there was a rise to 62, maintained in June, with present estimate that the July figure will be 72.

Into these few figures is packed the essence of the story of agricultural depression and the justification for the great cry that went up for relief. The later figures, fortunately, show substantial recovery, and carry the hope for continued progress. They reveal also the desperateness of the situation that the country faced.

Chips on Their Shoulders.

The Once Over.

By H. I. Phillips.

EXTRA!

HUEY'S SOCKER CONFESSES.

Elmer Twitchell, 36, white, was taken into custody early today as the Man Who Socked Huey Long. He was rushed to Police Headquarters under a motorcycle escort and locked up at his own request for self-protection. "I'm not taking any chances on being given one of those hero parades and I can't stand testimonial dinners," explained Elmer.

• • • •

Nevertheless, throngs of excited people stormed headquarters and demanded that the police turn Mr. Twitchell over to them. They remained outside all night shouting, "We want Twitchell!" Threats to batter down the doors and seize him brought a stern defi from the sheriff, who stood squarely behind the police.

• • • •

"We caught this guy!" yelled the sheriff, "and we're going to have full charge of the public reception. The best is none too good for him!"

• • • •

Mr. Twitchell penned the following confession:

"Yes, I'm the Washroom Wraith. I have no regrets, except that the Senator got up sooner than I had expected. All I ask is that the testimonial parade up Broadway be no larger than Lindbergh's."

• • • •

It became known today that Mr. Twitchell broke down after one of the most amazing third degrees in police history. When he refused to talk the police made him ride around town in an imported sedan, with two brass bands and six fife and drum corps, to the cheers of thousands. When this failed to bring a confession he was taken to the Sands Point Club, made to respond to toast after toast in rare champagne and showered with flowers.

• • • •

Not until his breast was covered with medals did he break down, and then only when told he would have to listen to the presentation speeches.

• • • •

Why Mr. Twitchell socked Huey remains something of a mystery. He would not confirm reports that he happened into the washroom at the moment the Senator was rehearsing a speech.

• • • •

"What was the real reason you hit Huey Long?" he was asked today.

"Do you know any reason why anybody shouldn't hit him?" he replied evasively, as he dodged a shower of ticker tape, the keys to the city and one of those illuminated scrolls the city is always handing out.

NO FORM TO A GHOST.

Caesar's Ghost won another big race the other day, and again the price was 10 to 1, probably due to the fact the betters couldn't see him.

There was, of course, the fan who was so bitter over the upset that he declared all the other horses in the race were ridden by Headless Horsemen.

HARD TO FIGURE.

James W. Gerard, who submitted a list of 64 rulers of America three years ago, has scrapped the entire list. He has discovered that the game was being played with deuces wild.

When loud voices were heard in a washroom the other day a barber explained, "It's just a couple of fellows trying out for the jobs of washroom fight announcers."

If You Control the Ship's Captain, You Must Choose the Course He Takes

By Robert Quillen.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Doubtless you have heard that quotation from the wisest of books since you were a child, and yet it is quite possible that you have missed much of its meaning.

It expresses an obvious truth—that a man's true character is not determined by his words or his appearance, or even by his acts, but only by the secret thoughts of his heart.

But that is not all. Hidden in these few words is the secret of health and success and happiness.

For if the real man and his thoughts must harmonize, the man can make himself what he will. He can control his thoughts; and as he thinks, so he is.

You know, by your own experience, how quickly your thoughts can change your spirit and your physical condition.

Thoughts of danger leave you weak and trembling; the thought of vile food sickens you; the thought of wrongs fills you with hate; the thought of evil times to come depresses you, and the thought of promised good fortune makes you light-hearted and gay.

In many instances a thing is made true by thinking it true. If men enter a conflict thinking that nothing can defeat them, they are in fact unconquerable. They may be killed, but they die without giving up.

There are countless examples to prove that one who thinks only of winning is almost certain to win, while one who thinks only of defeat is beaten before the struggle begins.

Thinking in short, makes us all that we are.

The cynic may say that we kid ourselves, but it is something much more than that. It is nature's plan that our thoughts should determine our character as they determine our movements, and deliberately to think certain thoughts to get certain benefits is just as logical as eating certain foods to gain physical strength.

Habitually thinking in terms of success, health and happiness must bring us these things. It is a natural law, as logical as the truth that men reap what they sow.

As a man thinketh in his heart, so he must be. And he is master of his fate, for he can force himself to think what he will.

Comment of the Press

George Rogers Clark.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

With the dedication of the memorial to George Rogers Clark at Vincennes, Ind., on Sunday, fitting tribute is paid to the leading character in a phase of the Revolution which is slighted in almost every history of the period. The Middle West has long recognized Clark for the hero that he was; elsewhere his name is constantly confused with that of his brother.

George Rogers Clark was only 26 when he led his frontier battalions to the conquest of Kaskaskia in July of 1778. He dictated the terms of the surrender of the French villages of Cahokia and Vincennes soon after. And the following February, after the English commander at Detroit, Gen. Hamilton, had recaptured Vincennes from its little American garrison, Clark led 170 men through the swamps and flooded valleys and retook the village. Thereafter he held the old Northwest Territory against all comers, and it was almost entirely due to his victories that the Treaty of Paris granted to the United States rather than to England or Spain, title to what are now the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan.

When Brewers Violate the Law.

Kansas City Times.

The Attorney General's charge that some brewers or their jobbing representatives are engaging in the retail trade is surprising in view of the persistent assurance of the brewers that they "do not want the return of the saloon, with its attendant evils." One of the evils of the old saloon was the operation of drinking places by the brewers and the competition arising from the practice. The law legalizing the sale of 3.2 beer in Missouri prohibits manufacturers from entering the retail business. If they are, directly or indirectly, engaging in this business, the State should make examples of those who already have disregarded the law that means so much to them.

Secret of Success.

New York Times.

The successful revolutionary statesman, Fascist or Communist, makes it his first duty to see that the army is well paid and well fed.

Punishment of Crime.

Los Angeles Times.

Three indispensable elements for the curbing of crime are the certainty, the celerity and the severity of punishment. All criminologists are agreed upon this though they may differ as to the relative weight to be assigned to each element. Thus many consider that where certainty and celerity exist in a high degree, the emphasis on severity may be lessened. Many amateur criminologists, and particularly those of the sob-sister variety who consider the welfare of the individual criminal of more importance than the welfare of society, overlook the qualification, which is that the emphasis on severity may be lessened only when the community definitely has both certainty and celerity.

We are working toward celerity and certainty in this country. Meanwhile severity, whih is well provided by existing statutes, can be made to carry a good share of the burden.

Summer Cottage Equipment.

I think a summer home should be Located by a lake or sea,
But sea and lake and mountains tall
I find do not suffice at all.
To rest, when all is done and said,
I want a comfortable bed.

I do not like to lie upon
Aunt Mary's cot (long dead and gone).
That ancient mattress made of straw
Should be prohibited by law.
Though once on it she snuggled deep
No longer it induces sleep.

It is a lumpy thing and thin
That scratches me as I crawl in;
And howsoe'er I twist and turn
The hang of it I can not learn.
It has a fearful list to right
That bothers me throughout the night.

A summer cottage ought to be
A place where man can restful be,
Howe'er so sweetly birdies sing
Sleep is a necessary thing.
And when at night I draw the spread
I want a comfortable bed.

Along the Potomac

With

Carlisle Bargeron

ONE OF THE most laughable things around here, were it not so downright serious, is the discovery that the public works funds, which have been flowing like water from Secretary Ickes, were getting clogged up somewhere and resulting in no increased employment. I say it is funny because the joke is decidedly on us.

Bargeron.

For months we have been watching the NRA and its noble experiment almost to the exclusion of everything else. Occasionally we have turned our attention to Agricultural Thinker Wallace and his fascinating pastime of turning under our hogs, our wheat and our cotton, but so much ballyhoo has attended the NRA that it has been most difficult for one to take his mind from it for any length of time.

In the melee, Mr. Ickes and his public works funds got hardly any attention at all. Well, I should not say Mr. Ickes, personally, did not get any, because he recurrently bobbed upon the stage with an expression of his determination to administer the funds without regard to politics or graft and with assertions of independence in the appointments to his staff. Aside from the Secretary himself, though, all we heard were the little day-by-day statements that a million dollars had been allotted to somebody or some project.

ONE day it developed that just about a billion and a half of these million dollar allotments had been made, which is to say, one billion five hundred million dollars, which, in turn, constitutes nearly half of what Mr. Ickes has to allot.

I think it was about this time it occurred to some one to turn his attention from the big show, the NRA, and inquire as to how many men this money had put to work. I don't know, but I imagine Mr. Roosevelt and Commissar Johnson got to talking one day and Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Oh, by the way, Hugh, I wonder how many men Ickes' money has put to work?"

And the Commissar replied:

"I wonder, too."

Anyway an inquiry was made and lo and behold!—it developed that, to speak of, Ickes' money had put no men to work at all. It is as if in the three-ring circus of recovery we had forgot to watch the main ring.

• • • •

IT is all very well for the matter to be laughed off now and hurried efforts made to get the building projects under way. The thing is that any one in authority will tell you it has been a most serious oversight. Indeed, around the NRA one may hear this: If that program does not accomplish its full purpose it will be because of this very oversight.

In the more intriguing purpose of the NRA, with its algebraic and military terminology and with the attendant fanfare, we lost sight of the important fact that the public works program was to serve as the primer of the whole recovery business. It was basic, not collateral, as it will be now.

There was a time, in fact, when the whole scheme of recovery centered around this one plan. Business took hope from it before it was known what the NRA was. It was figured that the building program would push the NRA program along. In short, it was the original recovery plan onto which the NRA was later put as sort of a caparison. Now the caparison is flopping around without the structure underneath.

• • • •

THERE is no feeling on my part that Mr. Ickes is to blame, except it does seem he would have followed through after his allocations and draw attention to the fact the building projects were not getting under way.

Inquiry as to where the fault lies brings Comptroller General McCarl to the fore as usual, and there also is an explanation that some delay has been caused by reluctance of surety companies to give the required guarantee on fulfillment of contracts. As to whether this reluctance is caused by uncertainty of wage scales and cost of building materials or their timidity toward the size of the building program, I don't know.

There also is the explanation it takes time to draw up plans. On this, though, I have a recollection that Mr. Hoover had some 400 or so projects under way and work on them was stopped by the present administration until the whole program could be pieced together.

And there was a little story from Memphis the other day that was quite revealing. It said a $37,000,000 allocation for flood-control work in the lower Mississippi Valley had been released, it having been long held up because of an argument between two bureaus here as to which should make the allocation.

What is important now is, that the spotlight be shifted from the NRA and its legions for a while to the very important public works program. It has no generals or colonels or Henry Fords, or collectivism intent. But it carries a definite promise of increased employment.

BIRTH OF A POLITICIAN.

Col. Thad Brown, head of the Radio Commission, tells of a visit from a Baptist preacher on radio business, according to the Kansas City Star. The colonel remarked that he was brought up a Methodist, had married a Presbyterian, and that a grandfather was a member of the United Brethren denomination. "What does that make me?" he inquired.

"A good politician," replied the preacher.

Railways Earn $100,000,000 More in 1933

Big Improvement Looms in Plans to Establish Uniform Rates.

Improvement in the Nation's financial railroad structure was brought forcibly to attention last night with announcement that class 1 carriers are realizing nearly $100,000,000 more net operating income than they did a year ago.

Simultaneously, the way was paved for still greater improvement when tentative plans for promoting stabilization of rates and curtailing cutthroat competition were agreed upon at a conference of representatives of the railroads, water shipping companies and Joesph B. Eastman, Federal transportation coordinator.

Eastman said the conferees agreed it was "highly desirable" to establish regional standing committees representing the carriers which would keep each other informed of all proposed rate reductions and discuss them thoroughly before putting them into effect.

Operating Net Defined.

"Property investment" is the value of road and equipment as shown by the railroads' books. "Net operating income" is what is left after payment of operating expenses, taxes and equipment rentals, but before interest and other fixed charges are paid.

Financial improvement, as announced by the Bureau of Railway Economics, puts Class I net operating income for the first seven months of 1933 at $216,740,345, as against $120,900,560 for the corresponding period of 1932. This means an annual rate of return of 1.64 per cent on property investment for this year, as compared with 0.91 per cent for the 1932 period.

The compilation is based on reports from 149 railroads covering 241,147 miles. Of these only 45 were unable to earn interest and taxes.

Eastern Area Improves.

Great improvement was noted in the Eastern district, with roads operating through Washington and along the Atlantic seaboard realizing a net operating income of $140,541,186, the highest investment return in the country—2.12 per cent. For the corresponding period a year ago the Eastern figures were only $102,958,976 and 1.56 per cent.

For the seven months as a whole gross operating revenue showed a decline of 6 per cent, although for July, the last month mentioned in the report, it soared on the wings of the recovery movement to $293,714,774, an increase of 24.8 per cent over the $235,332,794 of July a year ago.

Simultaneously, operating expenses for the seven-month period dropped 13.2 per cent, and for the banner month of July, when business boomed, increased only 2.7 per cent.

Base of Improvement.

Since the report showed gross operating revenues of the Nation's carriers as being 6 per cent under the corresponding 1932 period, the improvement was disclosed as resulting from reduced taxes and from economies in management, which have followed the administration's demands for lower salaries for railroad presidents, and the shaving of expenditures. These lowered operating expenses by 13.2 per cent for the seven-month period.

While not stupendous, the gains were considered highly significant, inasmuch as last winter the carriers were slipping so fast that there were reports in Government circles that they all would go to the wall by April of 1932.

Gross operating revenues for the first seven months of 1933 totaled $1,708,940,892, compared with $1,818,703,533 for the same period in 1932. Operating expenses for the first seven months of 1933 amounted to $1,263,853,252, compared with $1,456,699,260 for the same period in 1932.

Eastern District.

Gross operating revenues of the Class I railroads in the Eastern district for the first seven months of 1933 totaled $874,880,381, a decrease of 6.9 per cent below the corresponding period in 1932, while operating expenses totaled $621,274,129, a decrease of 13.8 per cent under the same period in 1932.

Class I railroads in the Eastern district for the month of July had a net railway operating income of $35,732,133, compared with $9,749,160 in July, 1932.

Southern District.

Class I railroads in the Southern District for the first seven months of 1933 had a net railway operating income of $33,214,538, which was at the annual rate of return of 1.80 per cent on their property investment. For the same period in 1932 their net railway operating income amounted to $6,270,904, which was at the annual rate of return of 0.34 per cent on their property investment. Gross operating revenues of the Class I railroads in the Southern District for the first seven months in 1933 amounted to $225,249,886, an increase of 0.3 per cent above the same period in 1932, while operating expenses totaled $166,894,259, a decrease of 12.9 per cent.

Class I railroads in the Southern District for the month of July had a net railway operating income of $7,166,259, compared with an operating deficit of $1,230,845 in July, 1932.

Western District.

Class I railroads in the Western District for the first seven months of 1933 had a net railway operating income of $42,984,621, which was at the annual rate of return of 0.90 per cent on their property investment. For the same seven months in 1932 the railroads in that district had a net railway operating income of $11,670,680, which was at the annual rate of return of 0.24 per cent on their property investment. Gross operating revenues of the Class I railroads in the Western District for the first seven months period in 1933 amounted to $608,810,625, a decrease of 7 per cent under the same period in 1932, while operating expenses totaled $475,684,864, a decrease of 12.7 per cent compared with the same period in 1932.

Radio Waves and Ripples

THE Washington Nationals have won the pennant, judging by radio preparations for the world series in the Capital.

Ted Church, the C. B. S. man of many matters, was chewing his pencil last evening and working out arrangements for Ted Husing to work from the press box at Griffith Stadium. He has looked up the address of the president of the Baseball Writers Association to get his permission for Husing to broadcast.

The rest of the details are easy, says Church, and the head men of C. B. S. right in New York already have agreed that the series will not be confined to Manhattan alone, but one end of the battle will be staged in Washington.

Mrs. Roosevelt went to WMAL studio in person last night to introduce John Martin, children's writer. Normally when the First Lady goes on the air her talk is picked up from the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt had important things to say about child welfare, training, education. She was introduced by Merlin E. Aylesworth, NBC president. The talks of Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. Martin and Mr. Aylesworth went over a Nation-wide network.

When Bob Trout and Clyde Hunt resume that Sun Dial early morning program over WJSV, September 25, it'll probably originate from a big downtown theater.

Arrangements are now going forward to have the Dial's organist, Johnny Salb, work from one of the movie houses.

This afternoon, WOR, big Newark station, begins an hourly time signal from the Virginia station. Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, commandant of the Third Naval District, will inaugurate the service with a 15-minute talk on naval time signals and their accuracy.

An oscillator at WOR, delivering a muscial note, will be actuated by connecting apparatus which will function on the stroke of every hour. The musical note will last approximately a second. The service will be daily, from 7 a. m. to midnight.

WAVES.

You should have been around the WJSV studios yesterday when Justin Lawrie was doing that audition. How the boys raised their eyebrows on that "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Additional Game Warden Requested

Fairfax County Asked to Pay Half of Salary.

An additional game warden for Fairfax County was requested of the county board of supervisors by the County Game and Fish Protective Association at its Mount Vernon, Va., meeting.

The association was told by Judge William S. Snow, Alexandria, member of the State Commission, that if the county would pay half the salary, the commission would pay the other half. Increased violations have made an additional warden necessary.

State-wide resident hunting licenses at $2 in place of $1 county licenses were discussed. The association was invited by Judge Snow to meet the commission at Alexandria next month.

Culbertson's Bridge

Finessing—Creating a Hidden Entry.

795.

South, Dealer.

South, in this hand, is playing a contract of six notrump, and when the Dummy goes down he notes that he must find either the King of Hearts or King of Clubs favorably located to permit the fulfillment of the contract. The question is not, in either case, that of a simple finesse against the King, but requires sufficient entries in the Dummy to permit the leading of both hearts and clubs twice from the weak Dummy holding to the strong South holding. In order to do this, four entries must be found in the Dummy, which, at first glance, appears to contain but three. However, the Declarer, by a little study, may probably provide the fourth entry.

The Opening lead is the spade Queen, which is won in the South hand, and South now leads the diamond Knave, which is overtaken with the Ace in Dummy. It may seem that South is thus sacrificing a possible trick by playing two honors on the one trick, but this is only a superficial view. If the diamond suit is not longer than three cards in the hand of either opponent, then the manner in which South plays his cards in that suit is immaterial as far as the number of tricks he will win is concerned. It is, however, vitally important in case he finds a favorable distribution of the suit, as thereby it provides an additional entry in the Dummy hand. Entering the Dummy through this diamond lead, he now leads a small heart, and when East plays low, the Knave is finessed. When the finesse holds, the Ten of Diamonds is led and overtaken with the King. When both the East and West hands follow suit, South knows that he will be able to enter the Dummy hand twice more.

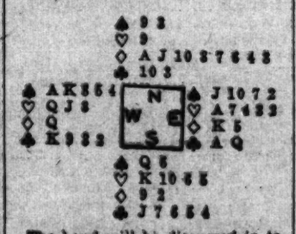
Another heart is led from Dummy and the Queen finessed. Now South may lay down the heart Ace, upon which the King will drop, but he does not know the distribution of the suit, so the diamond 9 is led and overtaken with the Queen in Dummy. Note this play particularly. The diamond 5, through South's play of unnecessarily high cards, is established as a fourth entry to the Dummy, essential to the success of South's plan of campaign. A small club is led from Dummy, and the finesse of the Knave holds. As Dummy now contains but a single entry, the heart Ace is laid down, which drops all the adverse hearts and establishes the heart 7 in Dummy as a trick winner. The Declarer now leads the diamond 4, overtaking with the 5 in Dummy, and leads the thirteenth heart, upon which he discards the spade 2. His next play is to lead another club from Dummy, finessing the Queen, the twelfth and thirteenth tricks being won with the club Ace and the high spade.

The reader will notice that the Declarer can not make all the tricks if he does not utilize all the entries in Dummy in order to take full advantage of the maneuver for position involved in the finesse in the heart and club suits and a perfect timing of the order in which the tricks are taken.

Tomorrow's Hand.

If North opens the bidding with one diamond, East doubles, South bids one spade and West doubles, what should East do if North bids two hearts, and what should be the final contract?

North, Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorow's article.

New York Actor Weds Society Girl

Last February the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Stafford heard the 33-year-old actor sing in a New York night club. She told him she liked his song and he thanked her with a gracious smile.

Last night the society girl and the actor were married. The wedding in the town hall was performed by Justice of the Peace William S. Fiske. Because of the bride's age, her father had to give formal consent to the marriage.

Book Relates "Four Saints" Opera's Story

Gertrude Stein Tells How Virgil Thomson Asked Her to Write It.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—The brief story of the creation of "Four Saints in Three Acts," the Gertrude Stein-Virgil Thomson opera which is to be performed for the first time next winter in Hartford, Conn., is told in "The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas," just published.

"Virgil Thomson had asked Gertrude Stein to write an opera for him," the account begins. "Among the saints there were two saints whom she had always liked better than any other, St. Theresa of Avila and St. Ignatius Loyola, and she had said she would write him an opera about these two saints.

"She began this and worked very hard at it all that spring and finally finished 'Four Saints' and gave it to Virgil Thomson to put to music. He did. And it is a completely interesting opera both as to words and music."

The opera, scheduled for next January, will be the initial production of the new model theater in Hartford's Wadsworth Atheneum. It will be conducted by Alexander Smallens, assistant conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Hubert Osborne will be stage director. After the premiere it is planned to take the production to New York and London.

George Antheil, the young Trenton, N. J., modernist, had introduced Thomson to Getrude Stein, the "autobiography" mentions. Incidentally, the book is not written by Miss Toklas, who is Gertrude Stein's secretary and friend, but by Miss Stein herself, it being Gertrude Stein's oblique way of writing her own life story.

"Virgil Thomson had put a number of Gertrude Stein's things to music" the account continues, namely, "Susie Asado, Preciosilla; and Capital Capitals." Gertrude Stein was very much interested in Virgil Thomson's music.

"He understood a good deal of Gertrude Stein's work. He used to dream at night that there was something there that he did not understand, but on the whole he was very well content with that which he did understand. She delighted in listening to her words framed by his music. They saw a great deal of each other."

Ernest Hemingway was another member of the Stein group in Paris, where Gertrude Stein has lived many years.

"Gertrude Stein and Sherwood Anderson are very funny on the subject of Hemingway. The last time Sherwood Anderson was in Paris they often talked about him Hemingway had been formed by the two of them, and they were both a little proud and a little ashamed of the work of their minds."

New Device Eases Work Of Ironing

Prevents Bruises, Burns and Scorching; Old Kerosene Lamp Resurrected.

By Ruth Anne Davis.

Not have you had your iron today, but have you had your iron insurance? It costs you only 25 cents at a downtown store and comes in the form of an iron protector, known for its sure grip. Fasten it on to your ironing board and it insures you against burns and bruises, broken wires, hazardous short circuits, damaged irons and scorched materials because it's sure to hold irons in place. Its asbestos center alleviates the danger of burning. You'll find it a handy little item to keep around the house.

In this day of bright electric lights, you'd think the kerosene lamp was a thing of the past, but a downtown store says its not. And it says so very eloquently with some new little brass lamps with glass chimneys surmounted with brass shades. They make unusual little prizes, and come in handy in emergencies. Lots of times, too, when you're sitting around in the evening and want just a cozy amount of light, here's a happy solution. They're extremely ornamental and decidedly atmospheric to grace your bar. The price is only 35 cents.

When you told Junior there was no excuse for not being sweet, you probably didn't realize how true it was. If you need to be convinced (as possibly Junior did), go to a G street store and see the 1-dram bottles of perfume on sale at 59 cents. The little containers are attractive cut glass bottles, which you can always use for refills. They're a handy size to carry with you whenever and wherever you go. No matter how particular you are as to scents, you'll probably be pleased with one of the many offered you here.

Milady should make it a point to see that her notes reflect her personality. Many a romance has been nipped in the bud by a slovenly scribbled letter that in no way corresponded to the sweet messages it bore. With this in mind let her see the delightful little boxes of note paper in an F street store. The paper itself is white, with dainty colored borders. She can buy ink to match the borders. And not only that, she can buy perfumed ink. With such equipment on hand, will it be any wonder if she develops a prolific correspondence?

The charm of your dinner should always be a major consideration to the housewife. She undoubtedly knows that no matter how delectable the repast an unattractive table detracts from it. During the summer she finds it very easy to fix an attractive center bouquet. During the winter she must be more resourceful. If she's wise, she will give the little sterling silver candleholders a try. They're always in excellent taste and they offer a variation. She can always use candles of different shapes and colors. On sale in a downtown store for $1 each.

Next time you have a bridge game in the afternoon and bring out your old out-of-date-looking cream and sugar set, you'll feel ashamed of it without a doubt. In this instance, let's cross our bridges before we reach them and see the attractive silver-plated sets on sale in a large department store. They include a sugar bowl, cream pitcher and little tray. They are selling for 69 cents. You can buy them with a more elaborate design for $1. While you're buying you might as well make a good job of it and also take home with you some of the matching salts and peppers for 79 cents.

Any pie accoutrements are sure to interest the housewife. She must know that the easiest way to appease the so-called head of the family is to tempt him with a nice, crisp, crusted pie. If she's an expert piemaker, or if she wants to be, she'll find the pie trimmers in a downtown store a big help. They're so arranged that they cut the uneven edges of the crust in the twinkling of an eye, and you can use them to make perforations that will keep the juice inside the pie. Price, 10 cents.

It all depends on the figure, of course, but a great many people consider the foundation garment a prime necessity beneath an evening dress. If you're inclined to be overly bulky in spots, you'll find nothing will improve the style of your frock like a close-fitting corset. See those in an F street shop of sheer late, with a French net brassiere top. They are cut with a low back for evening wear.

Hurae Is Just a Dog, But She Sees for Blind Master and Guards Him From City's Dangers Educated German Shepherd Obeys Except When Danger Threatens.

A thousand dollar car would be useless to you if you suddenly became blind, but a $325 guide dog would be of immeasurable value.

Hurae is a guide dog. She is the only dog of her kind in the District and there are only 75 or 80 others like her in the United States. She is a German-Shepherd, big and black, with inquisitive eyes, polite but not friendly. She is only 3 years old.

Hurae never leaves her blind master, Prof. F. F. Hufty, musician, piano tuner and secretary of the board of directors of the Columbia Polytechnic Institute for the Blind at 1808 H street. She leads him through the streets to his work, protects him from danger and she understands 25 or 30 words.

Prof. Hufty lost his sight when 10 by a blow from a snowball. In addition to piano-tuning, he teaches violin, mandolin and guitar at the Columbia Polytechnic Institute. This institute is practically the Federal district's free State school for the adult blind. Since it was established 32 years ago, the institute has trained 300 to 400 persons in mechanical trades. It has 12 blind men and 3 blind women students. They recane chairs, make mops, sink and clothes brushes, fishcord knotted hammocks and fiber foot mats. They restring tennis racquets and put new rush seats in chairs. Two of the women are dictaphone operators.

Gets Dog Abroad.

Prof. Hufty has owned Hurae for almost two years. It has made a big difference in his life. He bought her from the Seeing Eye Corporation of Fortunate Fields, Mount Pelerin, Switzerland.

Shortly after the World War the German government established the first training school of guide dogs at Potsdam in an effort to help rehabilitation of Germany's war blind. The dogs were trained in four months and then given to blind soldiers with an allowance for their upkeep. Mrs. Dorothy Harrison Eustis, Mount Pelerin, Switzerland, studied this school and decided to begin similar work on her estate, Fortunate Fields. In 1929 Morris Frank, Nashville, Tenn., himself blind, heard about her dogs and traveled to Switzerland to get one.

Hurae is not just a watch dog; she guards her master, Prof. F. F. Hufty, from all dangers, as indicated in the picture above, which shows her leading the blind musician through traffic. Below is a closeup of Hurae, a rare German shepherd.

The dog he obtained opened such worlds of freedom and activity to him that he felt if he could afford to travel to Switzerland to get one, how much more were such dogs needed by the blind who could not travel. With the idea of making these dogs available to the blind at cost or less, he started a school of his own at Nashville, called the Seeing Eye. Mrs. Eustis told Mr. Frank she could furnish him with trainers from the International School for Training Dog Instructors, at Lausanne, Switzerland. Mr. Frank's school has since been transferred to the Eberling Kennels, at Morristown, N. J.

Females Best Suited.

The females of the German-Shepherd breed have been picked exclusively for training as leaders of the blind because of their extraordinary intelligence and fidelity. The German-Shepherd dog has the proper weight to pull back in her harness and have her master sense immediate reaction. They are also small eaters. Another reason females have been choesn for this work is that the protective instinct is strong in them, and these dogs realize their masters are blind. Male dogs on the street will not try to fight the female, so her attention is not distracted.

The training period begins after they are 14 months old and before they have reached their third year. It takes two years to instruct the trainer of such dogs, whereas only two to four months are necessary to train the dogs. Three weeks are allowed to train the dogs with the blind persons with whom they will work. The service age ranges from 8 to 10 years.

Before these dogs graduate they have learned obedience as well as disobedience. They have learned to disobey commands to go forward when a sudden obstacle arises which the blind master can not sense. They are taught that when the harness is put on there must be no more playing. They are taught to pick up things dropped, to pull to opposite side from obstructions, to stand still for telephone poles and other obstacles, to sit down for curbs and steps, and hardest of all to look out for awnings and scaffolds which they can go under easily, but which would strike the man's head. Most of their training is done in street traffic. The Seeing Eye Corporation attempts to match dogs to men so that they will complement each other. A lazy man is given a lively dog, a nervous man a calm dog and so on.

They Know Voices.

"I never whistle to Hurae," explained Prof. Hufty. "She is taught to distinguish voices and takes her orders from no one but myself. She will refuse food or drink from any one else. She sleeps in my room and is never for a moment away from me. Even at sight of a cat on the street, she may stop, but that is all. She is trained against fire so much she will not let me go near a fireplace."

"What if a burglar should break in your room at night?" he was asked.

"I'd feel sorry for the burglar," he laughed. "It is not even safe for a friend to accost me on the street and slap me good-naturedly on the back, without first addressing me in friendly voice."

Some of the words Hurae understands are: down, sit, dinner, water, up-up (for hasten), steady (for slower), wait-a-minute.

"When I go out to work," continued Prof. Hufty, "I put her harness on. This is the signal that she must take me where I want to go. First I go to the head of the steps. Then I say 'Forward.' When we reach the bottom I say either 'Left' or 'Right,' depending upon which way I want to turn. When we come to a street corner, Hurae always stops at the curb until I say 'Forward' again. If the way is clear, she leads me across. If it is not, she hesitates. She never crosses unless she is sure that she can get me past any oncoming vehicle.

Saved from Pitfalls.

"One night I was taking a walk round the neighborhood. I ordered her to turn left. She refused and continued straight ahead for about 30 feet. Then she turned left. I ordered her to cross. She did so rather hesitantly, zig-zagging. We had just reached the opposite side of the street when a laborer hailed me with a 'Look out.' He came over to tell me that the street was being repaired and was full of deep holes."

When Hurae is bad and must be punished Prof. Hufty gives a slight jerk on the harness and says, 'Phooy.' Hurae is miserable. She looks abashed, her tail between her legs.

What such a dog as Hurae means in a human life could best be told by a blind man. She cost $325. Her length of service is approximately 100 months. That means a cost of approximately $3.20 a month or practically 10 cents a day.

Old Timers Stumped, Too, On Etiquette

Advice on what to do and where to do it, what to wear and how to get away with it, how to juggle your forks and to get the upper hand with maitres d'hotel—this is not really the specialty of modern etiquette columns.

Rummaging about for something to read, the reporter ran across the social advice manual authored by Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of Gen. Logan, in the days of President Cleveland.

Mrs. Logan's tome advises what to do at a dinner, a drowning or a wedding breakfast.

Dunking? Well, Now——

There is the advice on "dunking." The question runs: "Is it proper to dip a piece of bread into a coffee cup or an egg cup to moisten it with the contents?" Mrs. Logan answered: "Not according to American ideas, but some well-bred foreigners do it." But it doesn't say anything about doughnut dunking.

But better is Mrs. Logan's answer to the query on a suitable yachting costume for a gentleman. She says: "Where the party consists exclusively of men, a blue flannel or serge suit with white waistcoat would do. If ladies are present, a black diagonal cutaway coat, white or black waistcoat, light trousers and a light derby hat."

The etiquette of the engagement period, too, brings in some helpful suggestions. To the question: "Has a young lady a right to ask her lover for an engagement ring?" Mrs. Logan answers: "There could scarcely be a greater breach of etiquette."

Engaged Girl Gets Tip.

A certain realism is seen in the answer to the query, "Is it good form for a lady to ask her fiance to take her to drive?" Mrs. Logan said, "It is not improper, but ladies usually wait for their lovers to take the initiative, especially in the early days of the engagement." Troubling, also, is the question, "If a man who is engaged to a lady has set no time for the wedding, can he be compelled to name a date?" Mrs. Logan replied flatly, "No."

Changes in costume are reflected in some answers. There is the question, "On which side of a lady should a man ride?" The answer, though few of us would think of it nowadays, is, "Never on the skirt side."

Modern girls will love the question: "Is it proper for a girl of 17 to go alone to matinees in the city?" and its answer: "Certainly not."

Covers Wide Range.

Mrs. Logan's manual had special sections set aside for the etiquette of traveling, the table, the club, business, shopping, the street, mourning, family life and even the horse cars of the day.

Ladies were adjured not to toss their heads or bridle with displeasure if they are not immediately given a seat by some chivalrous gentleman on entering a horse car. Club members are told they should never mention the names of ladies in the club.

Very quaint to many will seem Mrs. Logan's business etiquette suggestion, "Never buy on credit, if cash can be had."

Pies Good Enough To Bear State Seal

Vancouver, Wash. (AP).—Mrs. Fay Peabody, who has a reputation as a baker of apple pies, has been appointed by Gov. Clarence Martin as "official apple pie baker of the State of Washington."

She is authorized to use the great seal of the State, if she wants to, on her flaky top crusts.

The Family Marketer

'Spring' Vegetables Abundant in Spite of Season and Price Is Right.

Seasons seem to be a thing of the past along many marketing lines. It's quite simple to buy typically spring vegetables here in the early fall.

The little bunches of spring onions are "scintillatingly" tempting. You can serve them just so or you can flavor your salads of meatloafs with them. The onion has such a meek and mild look it's hard to imagine how it frightens so many people away. But it does, quite successfully. Its tenacity no doubt is partly responsible. You know, an onion once tasted is tasted for hours.

If you have trouble at your house persuading the family to eat the right amount of mineral-bearing vegetables, you might add the Brussels sprouts to your list. If you prepare them carefully and serve them in neat little heads with plenty of butter and salt, half your troubles are over. They're just in from California and selling for 20 cents a pint. Here's a good suggestion for a pleasing variation from the usual line of foods.

Beets Are Cheap.

It sometimes seems as though beets were a man's best friend. You can usually count on them to maintain a fairly low, stable price. Right now you can buy a bunch for 5 cents and the bunch holds several very large beets. Many people prefer beets served with salt, pepper and vinegar, but the natural sweetness of the vegetable is more fully catered to by serving it with plenty of butter.

When you're buying your stewing chickens, it's a good idea to know something of their history. You might by mistake happen on one of the so-called "box" chickens, which are kept on ice for an indefinite length of time. You can buy strictly fresh chickens for stewing for 25 cents a pound, 2 cents more than the other kind.

Now Is Time to Preserve.

Unusual jellies and preserves often times can garnish a meal more successfully than anything else. It's always a good idea to have several kinds on hand, if not for dinner, for a chance snack in the afternoon. The small yellow tomatoes arriving on the market from California make excellent preserves. You can buy them now for 15 cents a pound, but a little later they probably will be considerably less.

Although broccoli is keeping its head up and arriving in nice form, the dealers say it's likely to be better a little later. It lends itself to a hurried meal in a nice fashion. Put it in boling water and cook about 15 minutes, or until tender. Serve with cream sauce, and there your are.

There have been numerous queries as to why so many grapes on the market this season are unusually small. The answer carries us back to the drought last spring, when nature so obtusely refused her dependents the bounteous water supply to which they were accustomed. Quart boxes of grapes sell now for 15 cents. A little later they are likely to improve in quality and price.

Proper Poise Worth Task Of Cultivating

Lovely Face and Chic Dress Mean But Little If Shoulders Sag.

Posture and poise have a great deal to do with a woman's appearance. Lovely skin and teeth and hair and eyes—and smart clothes—show off to little advantage if the possessor doesn't carry her body with grace and ease.

Any woman, anywhere, can learn with practice to carry herself in such a way as to make her simplest movement a thing of beauty. It isn't necessary that she possess the limbs of a Diana nor the measurements of a Venus.

She should carry her head high, tilted slightly upward. Look around you and see the heads held forward, jutting out to destroy what nature meant to be a lovely straight line leading up from the spine.

Shoulders Drawn Back

Shoulders should be low and drawn back, without, however, bending back to such an extent as to form "angel's wings" of the shoulder blades. And backs—how few strong, straight backs we see about us! When the back is straight and strong, the abdomen can not protrude. The hips will swing easily.

Walking, probably the best exercise of all for building and retaining youthful lines and vigorous health, can be almost tirelessly indulged in by the woman who carries herself well.

Sometimes a brisk walk in the open air will do more good than a nap in refreshing the system. Be sure that you get enough sleep in the first place and then, if your body feels lazy, you may know it wants the tonic effect of muscular exercise and the vitalizing influence of the out-of-doors.

Improves Carriage, Too.

Walking is the best method of practicing the "correct carriage" edict of beauty. Draw yourself to your full height, as though you were being suspended by the hairs of your head. Don't draw yourself up from the shoulders, or from the nape of the neck. Many women achieve a high-shouldered effect through a misdirected effort to attain the high-headed posture. Let your shoulders droop naturally, being careful only to throw them back. Breathe deeply and regularly.

Walk with an even, measured step. Don't stride. Such a walk is apt to be ill-suited to one's afternoon and evening ensembles. Swing the limbs easily and smoothly forward, keeping the knees close together. Step briskly, yet serenely. There is no necessity for setting such a pace as to give the appearance of catching an outbound train. Nothing is more devasting to attractive appearance than an air of explosive haste. And it is decidedly bad for the nerves of the person hurrying.

What's in Fashion?

Fall Knitted Fashions Varied Suitable for Street and Sports

Directed by Amos Parrish.

Information as to where garments of the type illustrated and their variations are available in Washington will be given by the Fashion Department, Washington Post, on request.

Don't say, "Oh, knitted things" and turn the page. Because if you know your knit fashions, you'll realize that they're for everybody this fall. Not just for the college crowd or the athletic, outdoor woman.

Knitted dresses have proved that they can follow feminine, everyday fashions just as successfully as woven woolens. As a matter of fact, many of them look like woven woolens. That knitted dress sketched at the right in the illustration has a flecked, hairy surface much like the newest woven wools. Its horizontal stripes, too, suggest fall's individual wool weaves.

For Street.

As you see, it's made in coat dress style. And you can do things with the neckline. Wear it with one revers down, as it's shown, with both revers open, or buttoned high at the neck. A dress that will go shopping, to business or luncheon, and even to tea when it's in a dark shade such as wine red.

Those three-piece knitted suits, though sportier than the coat dress, make good street fashions, too, in dark shades. That's because they're classically tailored this fall, and the firm rib knitting looks woven. In a bright shade, however, a three-piece knitted suit turns you into a good sport, ready for a fall day in the country, a motor trip or an early football game.

For Sports.

Then for an out-and-out sports costume such as you want for golf, the "skirt-and" outfits with knitted sweater or blouse have their turn. The twin sweater and cardigan set which has been so popular all summer is staying on for fall. But it's changing colors, of course . . . to rust browns, bright blues, navy, wine red or green. And the skirt worn with it blends or matches.

If you've had a cardigan set and want something different, try that new blouse and skirt sketched at the left. A green and brown Scotch plaid with angora jersey blouse in green. Zipping up tight at the neck against fall breezes. Such outfits are pretty apt to make the bleachers at football games look like the regiments of Scotch kilties.

College Wardrobe Leaflet.

Of course knitted things are going to school even though some of them have been graduated to other careers. And college girls will want the gayest of them. Speaking of college girls reminds us to remind you of our back-to-college leaflet of planned wardrobes. You can still send for it, using the coupon below and the proper inclosures.

Percy

By Lyn Reeve

Oh, black cat napping in the sun,
Your life must be a lot of fun.
Those twitching whiskers show to me
That you are on a dev'lish spree.

Racing, climbing, here and there,
Chasing monsters, how you dare!
You prowl in corners dark and strange,
Then you stir, and what a change!

A yawn, a stretch and two green eyes
Awake, and in your old disguise.
A stately cat of proper ways,

Approach Forcing Wrecks One Home

Chicago (AP).—The home of Daniel Smith was a happy one, his wife said in a divorce bill, until he took up the approach-forcing system. For those who don't know, the approach-forcing system has to do with bridge.

Well, Mrs. Smith said it acquired such a hold on Smith that he quit his job to make a study of it. Then she left him.

They started the repair work, but suddenly abandoned it, grabbed Mrs. Mitchell's pocketbook and fled.

(Associated Press.)

Since Miss Nellie Dougherty was named by the new Roosevelt administration last March 9 as acting postmaster of Minot, N. Dak., 369 women have been given charge of the U. S. mails in their home towns.

They're not "postmistresses," postal officials stress. Each one has the same title a man would have on the job—"postmaster"—with the prefix "acting" because all are recess appointments, subject to confirmation by the next Congress.

In compiling the total, the Post-office Department also established that 14 of the 369 have been appointed to head first class postoffices.

Miss Lavinia Engle, one of the women leaders of the Democratic campaign, expressed keen satisfaction in the progress of this particular form of political recognition for women.

"It shows that party leaders are aware of the hard work that is being done by women in their own communities," she said. "I expect a good many more such appointments."

And Parkersburg, W. Va., is pointed to as a shining example of recognizing a woman of outstanding ability with a postmastership.

Mrs. Anna Stevenson, with wide business experience in a lumber firm, a leader in State politics ever since women got the vote, long-time treasurer of the Democratic county executive committee, was the postmaster picked. A whole bevy of male competitors are said to have admitted she was best qualified for the job.

At Bluefield, W. Va., another first-class postoffice, Mrs. Stella M. Bivens was appointed, in recognition of the political work done by her husband, who was slated for the position but died.

The other first-class postoffices to which women have been appointed since March 4 include Culver City, Calif.; Redondo Beach, Calif.; St. Charles, Ill.; Anderson, Ind.; Ashland, Ky.; St. Joseph, Mich.; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Jefferson City, Mo.; Roswell, N. Mex.; and Lancaster, Ohio.

Eternal Feminine.

Moundsville, W. Va. (AP).—NRA leaders had a "bird" of a Blue Eagle problem on their hands. An indignant housewife complained that an NRA worker—a woman with whom she is not on speaking terms—evaded her home during the house-to-house canvass. Officials mollified her by letting her sign a consumers' pledge at headquarters.

Speedway? It's Just a Name Inherited From Track of Old

Why the road around Hains Point should be called the "Speedway" when speeding is forbidden may puzzle some Washingtonians, but veteran park officials explain it inherited the name from an actual, earlier Speedway around the Monument.

Years ago there was a dirt track for horse racing on the Monument Grounds. The mile-long track circled through what now is the Mall. Six afternoons a week it was open to horse traffic, but on Saturday afternoons it was reserved for fast driving, according to the park officials. Gentlemen who were proud of a fast-stepping bay could take it on this loop and see how many others he could pass in an afternoon. And this dirt track, which went roughly down Fifteenth street and came up Sixteenth street was called the "Speedway."

Later, when Hains Point was reclaimed from the river bottom, the Speedway was abolished. The track was connected with the new road around the point and the name "Speedway" was transferred to the new loop. Officially, the Hains Point road is not and never has been called the "Speedway," but it seems to be firmly possessed of the name.

Arlington Gets $2,000 From Beer

More Than 100 Merchants Obtain Licenses.

Arlington County has profited more than $2,000 by the new beer law, according to estimates of the commissioner of revenue yesterday. More than 100 merchants have obtained temporary beer licenses. The licenses must be approved by the county circuit court to become permanent.

There is uncertainty in the interpretation of the provisions of the new law as to its requirements and administration which is causing confusion among merchants and county authorities.

County health officials yesterday issued warning to beer dealers that the county plumbing code must be adhered to in the installation of beer equipment. All equipment must be inspected by the sanitary officer.

Sniper's Bullet Misses Oriole Pitcher in Auto

Earl Mattingly, Baltimore Orioles pitcher, is wondering what prompted an unidentified sniper to fire on him when he was driving to his home. Narrowly missing his head, a large caliber bullet smashed the windshield of Mattingly's car on the Baltimore highway. The bullet was found on the floor of the automobile.

R. V. Fleming Nominated As Second Vice President At Chicago.

Ascent of Robert V. Fleming president Riggs National Bank, toward the presidency of the American Bankers Association began yesterday in Chicago. At the convention of the association there he was nominated by acclamation for the second vice presidency.

This is tantamount to his election to the first vice presidency in 1934 and to the chief executive's post in 1935, as it has been the custom of the organization to advance its officers from the second vice presidency each year.

Mr. Fleming's work in his most recent office with the association, that of chairman of the committee on Federal legislation, was praised at the convention. Previous to this chairmanship he was a member of many important committees of the association, and for three years was the District of Columbia Bankers Association's representative on the national association's executive committee.

Local Bankers' Head.

He is a past president of the local bankers' association; was an organizer of the Washington unit of the National Credit Association and a member of its loan committee. He also served as chairman of the local advisory loan committee, Fifth Federal Reserve District unit of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He is now a member of the executive committee of the Washington (D. C.,) Clearing House Association.

Mr. Fleming was born in this city November 3, 1890. He is the son of Col. Robert I. Fleming, noted architect and builder. Choosing banking as his profession, he entered employ of Riggs National Bank as a messenger July 1, 1907.

In 1916, he was appointed an assistant cashier. He became secretary of the board and cashier of the bank in 1920. The next year he was elected a vice president, retaining the cashier's duties. In 1924 he became first vice president, and on November 9, 1925, succeeded the late Milton E. Ailes as president.

Educated in Washington.

Mr. Fleming was educated at Friends School, Western High School and George Washington University, where he specialized in political economy and commercial law.

Besides banking, he had numerous other business and civic affiliations. These include the directorates of Washington Railway & Electric, Potomac Electric Power and Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Cos.; a life trusteeship of the National Geographic Society and a trusteeship of George Washington University.

He has been treasurer of the Community Chest organization; treasurer and director of the Gorgas Memorial Institute and the Corcoran Gallery of Art. He was appointed a trustee of the National Training School for Boys by the late President Coolidge and has been a councilman of the Boy Scouts of America.

Naval Reserve Officer.

Holding the rank of lieutenant commander in the United States Naval Reserves, he has served as treasurer of the Italy-American Society and has been decorated with the Order of the Crown of Italy, commander's rank.

A Republican in politics, he has been treasurer of the national Republican congressional committee, an assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee and a member of the State Republican executive committee.

Headquarters of Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. announces that people with impaired hearing will be interested in knowing the Bell Telephone laboratories have developed a midget type soft rubber earpiece for audiphones that does not require a head band support.

Since this new rubber earpiece weighs only a fraction of an ounce, it can be supported by the external ear, which makes it fairly inconspicuous.

Robert L. Clifford, son of Col. Edward Clifford, who was graduated from Princeton University last June, has entered the banking profession as a messenger with American Security & Trust Co.

Reserve Bank Rate Change Set for Nov. 1

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Establishment of a 3 per cent rate on time deposits by the Federal Reserve Board will have little immediate effect on the banking situation in New York City, it was explained here today, as the rate in this territory is already largely in conformity with the provision. The new rate becomes effective November 1. It applies only to Federal Reserve members.

In other parts of the country, particularly in the South and West, where some banks are paying as high as 4 to 4½ per cent on time deposits, the new ruling will have an appreciable effect.

The ruling, pursuant to the banking act of 1933, covers deposits not subject to withdrawal for periods of at least 30 days.

Under the regulation, interest on demand deposits is prohibited with certain specified exceptions. Member banks are prohibited from paying time deposits in advance of the maturity date specified in the contract, even if the depositor offers to waive interest.

In the case of savings accounts carried by member banks, the banks are permitted, at their option, to require 30 days notice before a withdrawal is allowed. The maximum interest rate on such deposits is limited to 3 per cent, but few comercimal banks are now paying as much as 3 per cent, although some savings banks are doing so.

Woolworth Sales Gain 11.5 Per Cent in August

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—August sales of F. W. Woolworth Co. totaled $20,356,705, an increase of 11.5 per cent over the $18,243,735 which was the volume for the same month of 1932.

Rally in Bonds Fails to Halt Final Relapse

Heaviest Losses In Weeks Recorded; Sales Down to $8,502,000.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Despite a late moderate rally, the bond market finished with a noticeably heavy tone today and prices suffered their sharpest relapse in the past several weeks.

Trading activity, however, was still below normal with sales totaling only $8,502,000, par value, about the same as yesterday. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues ended with a loss of seven-tenths of a point.

While there was little definite news to account for the sell-off, dealers attributed the liquidation partly to uneasiness over the early fall business outlook. Secondary railway liens were subjected to considerable pressure, but the low-priced utilities and industrials were also soft. Prime investment loans generally fluctuated in a fractional range.

Carrier bonds, off 1 to around 3 points, included some of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Erie, Chicago & North Western, Rock Island, Central Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Frisco and Southern Pacific.

Among the heavier utilities and industrials, down 1 to 2 or more points, were some issues of Columbia Gas, Goodrich, Goodyear, International Hydro-Electric, Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron, Studebaker, Utilities Power & Light and Western Union.

United States Government securities were dull and a bit easier. Foreign obligations were irregular. Havana Electric 5s, dropped 10 points on a few sales and Cuban Government bonds were down 1 to 2 as a probable result of unsettled political conditions in the republic. Issues of France and Belgium were up a point or more, but Swiss 5½s lost 3 and the Germans were down 1 to 2.

Stocks Resume Climb On Professional Deals

Covering Presumably Figures in Moderate Rally, With Oils and Alcohols Leading; Sales Volume Increases to 1,885,380 Shares.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—With commodities firmer, stocks today retraced ground lost on an early sag. Closing prices were somewhat irregular, but the average, in which the more prominent leaders are used, finished with a minute net gain.

Around noon losses of 1 to 3 points were numerous, but thereafter the market crawled back. Activity, however, was less on the rally than on the decline, though quotations made their highs for the session in the late dealings. Transactions totaled 1,885,380 shares.

Developments of possible influence to the trend were meager. Trading had a professional tinge; presumably late rising tendencies represented covering by shorts who did not care to be caught in the event of a sudden bit of "favorable" news.

Rail stocks drooped despite evidence of better loadings last week. Oils liked the price increases for their basic product, noting particularly the reappearance of dollar crude in California. Alcohols rallied mildly on the heels of Vermont's repeal vote. Steels encountered pressure most of the day.

At the close, U. S. Steel was off a major fraction. National Steel also finished lower. National Biscuit, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Illinois Central, Norfolk & Western, Northern Pacific, Inland Steel, American Tobacco "B" and Eastman Kodak were other moderate losers. Standard Oil of California gained more than a point. Deere, Case, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Texas Corporation, National Distillers and Commercial Solvents showed some improvement over Tuesday's close. Homestake Mining, up 8 points net, reached a record high in anticipation of the dividend increase. Alaska Juneau was active and easy much of the day. Union Pacific lost more than 3. Great Western Sugar was up on its dividend resumption.

Publication of the usual midweek statistics on steel production and electric power output was postponed for a day. It was assumed that a further recession had occurred in steel mill activity because of familiar recent influences and aslo because neither the railroads nor the construction industry appear to be buying material. Most of the railroads which reported last week's freight volume showed an increase over the previous period.

Scattering chain store sales figures for August revealed liberal percentage gains over a year ago. Woolworth had the best volume since last December, although for the year to date the company is still runnning a little behind 1932.

Selling of steel shares coincided with advance estimates of the probable decrease in the Steel Corporation's August backlog. Guesses ranged from about 150,000 to nearly 200,000 tons, forecasters basing their predictions on the falling off in new business which seems to have occurred late last month. Actual figures will be published Saturday noon. General Motors August sales report, another business barometer, is also due later this week.

Curb Regains Losses After Selling Drive

Recovery Movement Lead by Oils; Sales Total 262,000 Shares.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Curb Market closed a bit irregular today after recovering substantially from the effects of a moderate selling flurry just prior to noon. Losses ranged from fractions to more than 2 points at one time.

The recovery movement was gradual and gathered some momentum in the last half hour. Oils were quiet, but pushed slightly ahead in the late dealings on the strength of improved prices for crude. Humble Oil eased a major fraction, while similar gains were recorded by Standard Oils of Indiana and Kentucky and Gulf Oil.

Small recessions predominated in the power group, Electric Bond & Share, American Light & Traction and Commonwealth Edison easing fractions to around a point. Mining issues mostly recovered from early weakness, excepting New Jersey Zinc, which about halved a 7-point drop. Newmont closed unchanged after retrieving a 2-point loss.

New England Telephone staged a 12-point advance on a small turnover, while Phillip Morris "A" gained half as much. Transfers approimated 262,000 shares compared with 228,000 for Tuesday.

Mexico and Japan Study Immigration

Mexico City, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Foreign Secretary Puig Casauranc told the United Press yesterday that Mexico has opened negotiations with Japan and is hopeful of an agreement on a mutually satisfactory interpretation of that section of the present trade and commerce treay beween the countries relating to immigration.

Japan heretofore has sought to interpret this clause in a manner unsatisfactory to Mexico under what Mexico calls a misinterpretation. Japan sought to obtain for Japanese unrestricted entry to Mexico on the same basis as Mexicans and with all the rights and privileges of Mexican nationals.

In addition to the fact that the Mexican government contends that it never intended such an inerpretation, it considers revision immediately necessary before it can prepare for important negotiations for trade reciprocity agreements with other countries expecting most-favored-nation treatment. Puig Casauranc said that all foreigners entering Mexico will be treated equally, but that none would receive the treatment reserved for Mexicans.

Foreign Markets.

Sept. 6 (A.P.).

London—Strength in home rails was the prominent feature in a quiet session on the stock exchange today. Gilt-edged securities were firm while German bonds drooped. Oil and transatlantic issues were weaker in sympathy with the heaviness in the Wall street market. The closing was quiet.

Paris—Following the weakness in Wall street and unfavorable advices from London and Brussels, prices on the bourse declined, especially international issues. Oil, rubber and gold mining shares also were outstanding losers. The closing was heavy.

Berlin—A slight recovery was recorded on the bourse today. The few gains registered were maintained throughout the session and gave the market a more cheerful tone.

Goods Market.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Business in cotton goods today was extremely quiet. Rayons were steady and fairly active. Resumption of buying of wool goods, stimulated by heavy sales of clothing last week, forced many mills to withdraw prices temporarily. Tops and worsted yarn markets were active as mills moved to cover fall requirements. Raw silk markets were quiet and easier, but fabrics were selling in good volume.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Wool goods—Buyers have been showing renewed interest in tropical worsteds which are being priced for the next season. Some of the mills have been bringing out 12-ounce worsteds, which tailor better than the average tropicals and are suitable for both spring and summer wear.

Cotton yarn—Distributors are reported more optimistic than at any time since the code prices became effective. They feel, it is said, that buyers are becoming more "acclimated" to prices generally and more normal coverage is expected.

Tires—Manufacturers who recently discontinued third and fourth line tires are reported to be resuming production of the lower-priced grades in order to meet the needs of a larger section of the tire-buying public. Some 75 per cent of registered motor vehicles, it is said, is three to four years old or older. The owners of these cars, it is figured, are the customers for the cheaper tires.

Dyestuffs—Producers of coal tar derivaties are optimistic regarding the outlook. While recent orders have proved rather disappointing, it is believed that a gradual improvement will be witnessed as industrial operations resume their forward movement.

Poland Still Holds Balance of Trade

New York, Sept. 6 (Spl.).—Polish foreign trade at the end of July showed a favorable balance for the month of 9,884,000 zlotys, according to tentative figures announced by the Chief Statistical Bureau of Warsaw. Imports totalled 212,795 tons, valued at 72,021,000 zlotys. Exports reached 1,110,678 tons, valued at 81,905,000 zlotys. These figures represent an increase of 3,470,000 zlotys and 4,205,000 zlotys, respectively, as compared with June.

Among the commoditis imported in larger quantity in July are electrical parts and applicances, raw skins, raw fur skins, zinc ore and iron ore. Imports decreased in cotton and cotton waste, wool and wool waste, copper and copper products, oil seeds, animal fats (for industrial use) and cotton goods.

Among the commodities exported in larger quantity are coal, rails, iron and steel, wearing apparel, artificial fertilizers, woolen yarn, woolens, and beams, boards and laths. Exports decreased in rye, bacon, eggs, wheat, barley, railway ties, sugar and raw skins.

British Farmers Vote Dairy Pool

London, Sept. 6 (AP).—British farmers have voted overwhelmingly for a National dairy pool. The recent poll of registered dealers, it was announced today, showed 90.42 per cent in favor of the scheme. A two-thirds majority was necessary. Farmers will sell their milk through regional pools, which will divide the profits among participants according to the amount of milk each delivers.

The National Board, which will be in charge, will be responsible not only for marketing and supply contracts but also will utilize surplus milk for cheese-making and the manufacture of dry milk on a large scale. The board assumes control October 1 for a trial period until the new year, when the scheme becomes formally effective.

When registration opened at the end of August the farmers were apathetic. Personal canvassing and urgent appeals by Maj. Walter Elliott, minister of agriculture, finally resulted in a last minute rush of producers to register. The scheme applies to England and Wales.

Potato Output Is Smallest in Twelve Years

Nation's Production Drops to 292,668,000 Bushels; Prices Higher.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 6 (AP).—Here is a bit of bad news for housewives, jail turnkeys and kitchen police—potatoes are likely to be smaller this winter and the peeling more tedious.

But for the Michigan farmer, who has not paid much attention to dollar wheat, it is glad tidings that nature has helped him cut down the potato yield and has sent prices bounding upward.

Old king spud is a well-known character in Michigan. In former years this State has ranked second only to Maine in potato production. When bumper crops were harvested prices sometimes were so low farmers fed the potatoes to the pigs.

Small Crop Indicated.

But this year planting weather was unfavorable and droughts swept across the fields, with the result that the smallest crop since 1921 is indicated.

The drought also means that potatoes are smaller as well as fewer, and that the smaller ones also will be marketed. Regions unaffected by the drought, however, will be marketing the usual size tubers. As a result of the scarcity, farmers are collecting $1.40 or more a bushel for new potatoes, where a year ago they were getting 46 cents.

There was some acreage reduction, but not enough to account for the sharp drop in yield. In 1932 Michigan farmers planted 260,000 acres, this year 255,000. The crop last year was 29,900,000 bushels, while this year the estimated yield is 19,125,000. The five-year average is 21,891,000 for the State.

Nation's Yield in 1933

In 1932 the National yield was 357,679,000 bushels as compared with an indicated 292,668,000 bushels in 1933. Estimates this year put Michigan behind Maine, New York, Minnesota and Wisconsin in production.

But that does not mean farm cash registers are not tinkling. In the fall of 1932 winter potatoes sold down to 22 cents a bushel. This year many farmers expect a dollar market for winter potatoes.

The Michigan cooperative crop reporting service views the situation this way: "Fair yields in poor seasons often give a larger gross monetary return than bumper crops at low prices. Michigan growers are likely to fare somewhat better than those for the country as a whole."

ANNUITIES—at Bargain Prices

Probably never again can an annuity be bought on as favorable terms as now. Two large, strong companies still offer returns well above the average, BUT THESE MORE LIBERAL RATES CAN NOT LAST.

ANNUITY INCOMES are LARGE, but safe and dependable; they are payable for as long as you and your wife live; and they are free from ALL income taxes, for many years.

Wheat Values Rise on Bright NRA Prospects

Corn Shipping Demand Gains as Prices Advance; Provisions Lower.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—Influenced by hopeful prospects regarding NRA codes, grain markets late today more than overcame almost 2 cents loss in wheat and 1 cent in corn.

Leading trade authorities said the grain price trend for the immediate future would be probably contingent upon how the codes worked out. Scantiness of domestic primary arrivals of wheat acted also as an incentive to purchase, and there were comprehensive advices that United States winter wheat farmers were rapidly signing Government contracts to reduce acreage.

Wheat closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 cent higher; corn, ⅛ off to ¼ up; oats, ⅛ to ¼ down, and provisions, unchanged to 17 cents decline.

For the first time in a long while, considerable Eastern buying of wheat developed, and interest was shown in estimates that Canada had 60,000,000 bushels less wheat than a year ago. Bulls asserted that as a result Southern Hemisphere countries would be more likely to cooperate in sustaining price levels than would otherwise be the case.

Stress Laid on Receipts.

Particular stress was also laid upon the fact that United States primary receipts of wheat today totaled but 762,000 bushels, against 1,031,000 a week ago and 1,362,000 at this time last year.

Downturns which preceded the late advance of wheat values were ascribed more to temporary dearth of speculative demand than to pressure of selling. Hedging sales from rural sources was less pronounced, although the Northwest was credited with selling from time to time.

Persistent dry and cold weather prevailed in Argentina, and there was general belief that the Argentine wheat yield this season would fall well below the 239,000,000 bushels harvested last year.

Corn and oats rallied with wheat. Shipping demand here for corn was decidedly better. Weakness shown in rye was due to selling against purchases of wheat.

Canada Issues Advance to $142,242,631

New York, Sept. 6 (Spl.).—Total sales of new Canadian issues for the month of August amounted to $142,242,631, as compared with $9,079,490 in August a year ago, according to statistics compiled by the Dominion Securities Corporation.

This large increase was the result of the sale in London of £15,000,000 4 per cent Dominion of Canada bonds, and the renewal on a 3⅞ per cent coupon basis of the $50,000,000 Dominion of Canada 4½ per cent issue which matured on August 1. This latter issue was payable in Canadian funds only.

The total sales of new Canadian issues for the first eight months of the current year amounted to $297,004,825, as compared with $206,478,191 in the corresponding period of a year ago.

Although the sales this year are considerably in excess of last year, it must be taken into consideration that of the total for 1933, $183,000,000 represented financing of the Dominion government and the balance of $114,004,825, the bond issues of provincial and municipal governments and corporations.

From January 1 to August 31, 1932, there was no financing on the part of the Dominion government, and the total for that period, of $206,478,191, compares with $114,004,825 for this year. The financial requirements of the Dominion government during 1932 were taken care of during the last quarter of the year.

Steel Backlog Decrease Put at 200,000 Tons

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Dow, Jones & Co., said today that it seemed "almost certain" the August decrease in U. S. Steel Corporation's backlog of unfilled orders would approach 200,000 tons. The figures will be published Saturday noon.

New business fell off last month, due to seasonal influences and hesitancy of buyers incident to code developments.

Rail Line Will Cut Passenger Fares

Columbus, Sept. 6 (AP).—Authority to reduce passenger fares approximately 50 per cent on the Cincinnati-Dayton division was granted receivers of the Cincinnati & Lake Erie Railroad Co. today by the State Utilities Commission.

The receivers, T. C. Conway, jr., and J. H. McClure, said they wanted to effect the decrease September 10 to December 31 as an "experiment and as a part of our participation in the NRA." Should lowered rates result in better business, the new schedule not only will be retained permanently in the Cincinnati-Dayton division, the most heavily patronized section of the road, but will be extended to all other divisions, they said.

"We hope," Mr. Conway announced, "to attract the private car owner back to the railroad and thus through increased business returns be enabled to hire additional employes."

Georgia Tobacco Brings 11.3 Cents

Atlanta, Sept. 6 (AP).—The average price for tobacco during marketing season in Georgia, which ended last week, was 11.3 cents per pound for 59,853,963 pounds, or a total value of $6,764,125.31, H. K. Ramsey, statistician of the State department of agriculture, announced today.

Pounds sold first hand on the Georgia market during the season totaled 59,853,963, of which 565,556 pounds were grown in other States. Net sales for Georgia-grown tobacco thus were 59,288,407 pounds, with a value of $6,125,047.03.

In the 1932 season net Georgia sales were 11,897,767 pounds, for a total of $1,238,748.88, or an advance of 10.41, whereas the 1931 totals were 58,536,984, for $3,751,545 at an average of 6.41.

Exchange Suspends Brunswick Terminals

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—The board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange today announced suspension of trading in shares of the Brunswick Terminal Railway & Securities Co. Beyond stating that the suspension was for the purpose of allowing an investigation of circumstances surrounding the market in the company's stock, the exchange officials offered no explanation of the action.

Brunswick stock this year has ranged between $4.50 and 50 cents a share and closed yesterday at $1.50.

Wall Street Awaits Trading In Home Owners Loan Bonds

New York, Sept. 6.—A new type of security—created by a recent act of Congress and unique in many ways—will be launched officially this week under the watchful eye of the Federal Government.

The latest addition to the governmental securities family is the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and Wall street, long accustomed to financial innovations, is awaiting with keen interest active trading in the bonds of this concern.

With an authorized capital of $2,000,000,000, the corporation's subscribed capital—by the United States Treasury—will be $200,000,000. As described by the Home Owners Loan Act, the corporation is designed to save the homes of owners unable to secure funds to meet mortgages, or in case of the impending distress of foreclosure proceedings.

The bonds will carry an interest rate of not more than 4 per cent and run not longer than 18 years. Interest, but not principal, is guarnteed by the Government. The liens will be exempt from all taxes except surtaxes, estate, inheritance and gift taxes.

The securities are thus an instrument of the Government, rather than an obligation, and as such are ranked by Wall street bond experts in the same class as the Federal Land Bank bonds. Interest on the latter loan, however, is not guaranteed by the Government.

Pending receipt of an official prospectus outlining the status of the new bonds, which is expected within the next day or two, Wall street has already indulged in limited trading on a when-issued basis.

Specialists in the mortgage bond field estimate that there are approximately $20,000,000,000 of home mortgages now in existence. Homes not exceeding $20,000 valuation are eligible for aid under the Home Owners Loan act.

Tobacco Growers Outline Crop Curb

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Representatives from North Carolina's 57 tobacco-producing counties met here today at North Carolina State College to hear Gov. Ehringhaus and J. B. Hutson, in charge of tobacco production, of the United States Department of Agriculture, outline a reduction program for the 1934 crop and methods to better 1933 prices.

John R. Hutchinson, extension director of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and D. M. Watkins, assistant director of extension at Clemson College, in South Carolina, were present to represent their States.

Meanwhile tobacco markets in North and South Carolina were closed under proclamations by their governors until a price-raising program is put into effect.

Values of Shares Rise $4,907,681,339

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—The New York Stock Exchange reported today that as of September 1 the aggregate market value of listed shares was $36,669,889,331. On August 1 the total market valuation was $32,762,207,992.

The average market value of all listed shares as of September 1 was $28.42, as compared with $25.57 on August 1, and $21.18 a year ago. Member firms collateral borrowings at the close of business August 31 totaled $917,215,274, an increase of $971,340 over July 31. On August 31, 1932, these loans amounted to $331,699,320.

Total borrowings by exchange members against collateral on September 1, 1933, were 2.50 per cent of the market value of all shares listed, as compared with 2.80 per cent on August 1 and 1.19 per cent on September 1, 1932.

Polish Treasury Issues $19,000,000 in Bonds

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Polish government announced today the issue of an internal 6 per cent loan of 120,000,000 gold zlotys (approximately $19,000,000, covering the budget deficit for the current year.

The bonds are issuable at 96 per cent, redeemable in a decade or a triennium at the finance minister's discretion. The bonds are free from taxation or attachment.

Colombia Prices Rise As Dollar Is Reduced

Bogota, Colombia, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Price increases of as high as 30 per cent for some articles were recorded here Tuesday following the government's action yesterday in increasing the dollar exchange rate from 113 to 123 pesos per $100.

Other foreign currencies increased in ratio to the peso.

Discount Rates Cut Helps Argentinians

Buenos Aires, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Relief for Argentine debtors was granted yesterday, the finance ministry announced, when local banks and the Argentine National Bank agreed to lower rates for discounts and advances by approximately 10 per cent. It was explained that the action should not be interpreted as a step toward inflation of credit.

The National Bank also reached an agreement with holders of Treasury bills to reduce the interest on that type of paper to 4½ per cent for the remainder of the present quarter and to 4 per cent thereafter. The previous rate was 5½ per cent.

The new rates include interest on promissory notes of farmers and cattle breeders of 5 per cent, and interest of 5½ per cent on promissory notes of merchants and industrialists. Loans against the sole signature of farmers and cattle breeders will draw 6 per cent interest and those against merchants, industrialists and private individuals 6½ per cent.

Cotton Renews Advances on Better Demand

December Sells at 9.35 as General Market Rises 17 to 23 Points.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Cotton recovered a good part of yesterday's decline today. Business was not active, but offerings were light, and prices advanced on covering and a scattering demand promoted by unfavorable features in the weather and crop news and rallies from an early decline in the grain market.

December contracts sold up from 9.13 to 9.39 and closed at 9.35, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 17 to 23 points.

The opening was barely steady. Some buying on steady Liverpool cables on heavy Eastern belt rains was supplied by overnight selling orders which came partly from the South. Offerings were much lighter than yesterday, however, and, after some little irregularity, prices steadied on trade buying and covering combined with a scattering demand which became more active after publication of the weekly weather report, and smaller private end-August crop indication figures. The bulge encountered some Southern selling.

Offerings Are Light.

But offerings from that source were comparatively light, and a considerable demand was noted for May contracts in the late trading. This was reported to be connected with operations in seed loan cotton or cotton contracts. These purchases were estimated by local observers at about 15,000 bales. Closing quotations were within 3 or 4 points of the best.

Four more private, end-August crop reports were issued, ranging from 11,080,000 up to 12,512,000 bales and averaging 11,615,000 bales. These reports were below the average of recent private reports and led to some talk of a possible reduction in the next Government estimate.

Exports today, 30,418, making 631,893 so far this season. Port receipts, 38,026. U. S. port stocks, 3,013,433.

Difference in Estimates.

Of the private end-August condition figures which appeared during the past several days, the lowest crop indication shown was 11,080,000 and the highest, 13,033,000 bales, or a difference between the high and low figures of nearly 2,000,000 bales, while there has been a considerable variation in private reports on indicated acreage for harvest.

The Government report is scheduled for publication on Friday. Today's weekly weather reports said that temperatures had averaged near normal in the cotton belt, but there were frequent showers and much cloudy weather, making rather an unfavorable week.

Some of the buying here toward the close was thought to be in anticipation of crop complaints following heavy rains in the Eastern belt.

Universal Plans Greatest Season—Screen and Stage Bills Opening Tomorrow

Notable Books And Plays Are In Production

Acting Forces Noteworthy; Mr. Kolk Comes Home; About Showshops.

Hot on the heels of the announcement that the Rialto Theater, leased by Universal from Tom Moore, probably will be reopened during the week of September 25, with "The Invisible Man" as the tentative inaugural screen attraction, comes word from the home office of Universal Pictures, 730 Fifth avenue, New York, that company plans for the ensuing season are the most ambitious Carl Laemmle's organization ever has undertaken—and Carl Laemmle is the oldest pioneer still active and still in control of the company which he founded.

These plans include not only the picturization of great novels by eminent authors, and great plays by recognized playwrights, but personalities such as never before have appeared in Universal productions.

Among these personalities are John Barrymore, who has just been signed to play the stellar role in Elmer Rice's "Counsellor at Law," recently portrayed on the stage of the National by Paul Muni; Elissa Landi in "By Candlelight"; Wynne Gibson in "Wanted at Headquarters"; Edmund Lowe, who will star in two productions, one of which is "Bombay Mail"; Billie Burke, widow of the late Flo Ziegfeld, in two productions; Lowell Sherman, who not only will direct "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head," but also will play the "heavy" in it, and Chester Morris, who is being starred in "Dangerous to Women."

Younger Personalities.

In addition, Universal intends to develop by splendid productions younger personalities whom it has under contract. These include June Knight, who makes her debut in "Ladies Must Love;" Margaret Sullavan, stage star, who makes her debut in "Only Yesterday" with John Boles; Jan Kiepura, the star of "Be Mine Tonight," whose next starring picture is entitled "A Song For You;" Claude Rains, who makes his debut in the name part of "The Invisible Man" and who will star in "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head," a play in which he starred on Broadway; Alice White, who is now playing with Chester Morris in "Dangerous to Women," and who is cast in "The Good Red Bricks," and Leila Hyams, who has just completed a role in Universal's football picture, "Saturday's Millions."

Universal also has under contract for a number of pictures several of its former dependable stars like Boris Karloff, Lew Ayres, and John Boles, who has just completed "Only Yesterday" and will be costarred in Victor Schertzinger's musical production now called "Love Time."

Comedy Teams.

So successful has Universal been with the costarring of comedians like Slim Summerville and ZaSu Pitts that it will make four productions with this team, two with Summerville and Andy Devine, and two or more pictures combining the team of Edward Everett Horton and Edna May Oliver.

The title of the first Summerville-Pitts picture is "Sue Me," from the Broadway play "Oh, Promise Me," and the title of the first Summerville-Devine comedy is "Tin Pants," which is already in production under Edward Sedgwick's direction. The first Horton-Oliver production will be "The Poor Rich."

Among the important novels which Universal has purchased for the coming year are "Imitation of Life" by Fannie Hurst, a companion-piece to her "Back Street;" "Zest," by Charles G. Norris, whose "Seed" was an outstanding Universal picture of several years ago; "Glamour," by Edna Ferber, and "I Give My Love," by Vicki Baum.

Picturized Plays.

Universal will also bring out Frank Craven's Broadway play, "That's Gratitude;" the play by John Knox Robinson, "Rigadoon;" Elmer Rice's play of Paris, "The Left Bank;" Ward Morehouse's story, "One Glamorous Night;" Mary Synon's story of Chicago, "The Good Red Bricks;" a William Anthony McGuire play entitled "When the Time Comes;" Lucien Cary's football story, "Saturday's Millions," from the Saturday Evening Post, and "The Great Ziegfeld," now being written by Billie Burke and William Anthony McGuire.

It is upon the presumption that so elaborate a program will be carried to a successful conclusion that one predicates the opinion that once the Rialto is reopened as a regular outlet for Universal first-run product it will be supplied with a sufficient number of worth-while attractions to insure its remaining prosperously in operation without interruption through a long season.

Mr. Russell Thomas, treasurer, this morning will raise the box office window at the National Theater for the first time, since last June, thus signalizing the opening of the advance seat sale for Corinne Griffith in a revival of Noel Coward's "Design For Living" and the virtual inauguration of the new season of the legitimate drama for 1933-34. The mail order demand for seats presages a long queue at the ticket wicket and a genuine hunger on the part of the public for some substantial dramatic fare.

Summer Carries On.

Although the summer season of 1933 is fast waning, there are still places to go and things to do out in the open.

For instance, Glen Echo Park, despite the passing of Labor Day, will continue to operate at midsummer speed throughout the remainder of the current week. It is announced by Manager Leonard B. Schloss that all of the park amusements will be kept in full operation until the final closing down for the season with close of business next Sunday night. This includes the Crystal Pool, the Spanish Garden Ballroom and all of the games and rides, for which the resort is so widely celebrated among al fresco fun-lovers.

Phil Spitalny and His Orchestra, not heard on a local stage for these five or six years past, has been signed for a fortnight engagement at the Earle Theater, beginning a week from tomorrow, Friday, September 15. Spitalny and his men occupy a place of such preeminence in the modern orchestra world that no thought was given to booking them for less than two weeks. This is a tribute the Warner executives in Washington heretofore have reserved for Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians.

Mr. Von Herbulis' Ten-Strike.

If Horatio Alger were writing this particular squib instead of the engineer of this palpitating palladium, it would probably be called "From Maine to California, or Back Where We Started."

Either division of the title would fit perfectly the engaging young gentleman to which it refers. For that engaging young gentleman is Walter Scott Kolk, one of the Capital's favorite personalities and most gifted entertainers, whom Walter Von Herbulis has just brought to his Club Michel, No. 1 Thomas circle, to act as master of ceremonies.

Walter Kolk, as he was first known locally, or Scott Kolk, as he billed himself in motion pictures, hails from the same vicinity in Maine as Rudy Vallee and took the musical route to Hollywood. Upon his arrival in the film colony on the West Coast he was immediately dropped into a featured assignment with Marion Davies, eventually appearing in that medal-winning Universal production, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Back Home!

In returning to the Thomas Circle supper club, Walter is appearing in the identical spot where he first stepped into the local spotlight as a featured member of Meyer Davis' Le Paradis Band a good many seasons ago as the crow flies. Kolk was one, also, who accompanied Harry Albert when Meyer Davis sent his Le Paradis unit over to the other side to introduce American rhythms to the Lido and other swanky Mediterranean watering places.

talked about dance tunes that are heard emanating from the Club Michel these nights. Albert has surrounded himself with a crew of talented musicians and with Walter Scott Kolk acting as master of ceremonies makes it possible for Boniface Von Herbulis to offer a practically unbeatable combination.

Came the Mail.

Came then a most cordial and kindly letter from Jane, Patti and Helen. That would be the Pickens Sisters, songstresses whose vocalisms particularly pleased these aging ears when they appeared in person locally not so long ago—quite a while, at that, as such things go.

Their first paragraph will give you a rough idea:

"Vaudeville engagements until recently have been an unexplored world to us and, now that we have a few days' breathing space before going to Hollywood for our first feature picture, we want to assure you of our gratitude for the encouragement you gave us on the occasion of our appearance at the Earle Theater."

And more in the same tenor, including something about an autographed photograph, "hoping that it will remind you occasionally of three ambitious girls who do not underestimate the value of your friendliness."

Nice girls, Jane, Patti and Helen, who pigeonhole themselves in the editorial mind along with Ruth Etting, Mitzi Mayfair and a few others who take the trouble to write or wire, no matter how busy they are.

There was a letter from Ann Grosvenor Ayres, too, who has been adventuring on Long Island with a summer theater and has plans for fall that are important. So important, in fact, that, along with interesting tidings of Jean Dalrymple and others of the theater, they will be taken up later with adequate detail. At the moment, greater interest no doubt lies in the new film attractions opening in the downtown, first-run sector tomorrow—which are as follows:

Strange Cases Of Mysterious Disappearance

The coming week at Warner Bros.' Earle Theater offers an unusually entertaining bill, with the screen occupied by First National's "Bureau of Missing Persons," starring Bette Davis, with Lewis Stone and Pat O'Brien in the featured roles, and the stage show headlined by Cliff Edwards (Ukulele Ike), of stage, screen and radio fame.

The mysterious and, to a large extent, secret workings of that division of the police department in which are recorded the cases of kidnaped men and women and those who strangely vanish are brought to life for the first time in "Bureau of Missing Persons," the screen feature of the program. It depicts the effort of the police to solve some of these strange cases, around which the plot of the story is woven. The cases in the picture are said to be based on actual facts and to parallel some of the most famous disappearance mysteries the country has known.

Bette Davis has the leading feminine role, while Pat O'Brien and Lewis Stone have the leading male roles. Others in a brilliant cast are Glenda Farrell, Allen Jenkins, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert, Alan Dinehart and Marjorie Gateson.

The stage portion of the program is headlined by Cliff Edwards, perhaps more familiarly known as "Ukulele Ike," who has a few weeks' vacation from the studios and has favored Washington with a week's appearance in person. He brings a new bag of songs, for which he is famous.

Edwards has been seen in many screen hits, which started with "Broadway Melody" and of which the latest is "Flying Devils."

Other acts are Edgar Bergen, the famous Vitaphone ventriloquial doctor, who, with the aid of his dummy assistant, presents "The Operation;" the Lucky Boys, six tricky comedians just arrived from a sensational triumph in England; Colby and Murry Revue and Gracie Barrie, who again officiates as mistress of ceremonies in the absence of Maxine Doyle.

Short-reel subjects, the new issue of the Graham McNamee news reel and special overture by the Earle concert orchestra, Freddie Clark, conductor, complete the program opening tomorrow.

Mystery Story And Stage Hit

Loew's Fox Theater's "parade of hit-attractions" stretches out into a cavalcade with its new stage and screen menus savored with appetizing entertainment—if you don't mind a mixed metaphor.

Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy join talents for the first time, and are the featured principals in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's current release, "Penthouse."

Sharing major plaudits on the stage are Joe Laurie, jr., and his parade of fourteen famous stars of yesterday, all over 60, in "Memory Lane," a fast-moving, sparkling presentation that would do credit to performers many years younger, and Paul Tisen and his gypsy orchestra, who feature Jack Holland and June and Maria George. Filling out this stellar array are the dancing-comedy duo of Harry Ross and Eddie Edwards, and Ray Huling and his trained seal.

"Penthouse" was written in novel form by the facile pen of Arthur Somers Roche, and subsequently appeared in a popular magazine before being adapted to the screen.

It is the story of a brilliant young criminal lawyer, who is condemned by society because of his defense of a gangster he knows to be thoroughly innocent. It is a moving-film narration in which Warner Baxter adds further to his ascending popularity.

Charles Butterworth, C. Henry Gordon and Mae Clarke are seen in principal support of Baxter and Miss Loy, who also is carving a good-sized niche in fan approval.

A "Silly Symphony" cartoon, in colors, now almost as universally welcomed by young and old as any main attractions; a complete booking of short subjects, comedy and newsreel, make the opening tomorrow one of complete enjoyment.

Barrymore Has Doctor's Role

With its hero a familiar American type, whose record of service is known to all humanity, "One Man's Journey," starring Lionel Barrymore, tells the dramatic story of a country doctor who achieves true greatness through what the world is wont to call failure. This country doctor role is rated one of the most sympathetic ever played by Barrymore. Because of this the regularly scheduled release date of the picture was moved forward in order to include it in the RKO "greater show season."

"One Man's Journey" is considered the ideal vehicle for Lionel Barrymore's inimitable histrionic talent. He is seen as a doctor who returns to practice in the rural community where he was born. Through the years he devotes his whole life to the service of others—a patient, plodding healer. Opportunities for the study and the realization of his dearest ambitions arise, but he refuses them rather than forsake the humble folks who have come to depend upon him.

The climax shows the obscure "failure" winning a spectacular battle with death after the greatest modern surgeons and physicians have failed, and receiving, besides, the recognition which comes with outstanding achievement. Romantic interest figures importantly in the story, and the drama is stated to be spiced with considerable droll humor.

One of the most impressive casts ever assembled by Radio Pictures provides Barrymore's support in "One Man's Journey," which, incidentally, and importantly, too, is opening at RKO-Keith's tomorrow.

Colman Essays Intricate Task

Not since his memorable "Bulldog Drummond" has Ronald Colman given so fine a performance as in "The Masquerader," opening tomorrow at Loew's Palace Theater.

Colman plays a dual role in this story that has been read by millions in book form and seen by countless thousands on the stage and silent screen. He portrays the role of a dissolute member of the English House of Commons, and also the obscure cousin of this man, who, because he is physically and mentally able to do so, takes the politician's place during a crisis.

He falls in love with the wife of the man into whose shoes he has stepped, and neglects the mistress of the same gentleman, thereby arousing her suspicions and almost bringing about his exposure. When the politician dies, it is a family servant who enlightens the wife and the "Masquerader" remains since she is willing and glad to have it so.

Elissa Landi, in principal support to Colman, is said to give a most sincere portrayal in her finest screen effort. Halliwell Hobbes, Juliette Compton, Claude King, David Torrence and Helen Jerome Eddy appear in support.

The film is beautifully mounted and intelligently directed by Richard Wallace. It is based on John Hunter Booth's dramatization of the novel by Katherine Cecil Thurston and was adapted for the screen by Howard Easterbrook.

Lends Glamour To Cinema Lily

The engrossing love classic that Hermann Sudermann fashioned in words is given animation on the screen by Miss Dietrich, who is more beautiful than ever in this Paramount production.

"The Songs of Songs" is one of the truly great literary classics, and on the screen it presents Miss Dietrich in a role that is different from her previous portrayals. She appears as an innocent country girl of rare beauty. Jilted by the only man she loves, she is driven to the arms of many men as a notorious figure in Berlin's night life, but despite her transformation, she can not erase the memory of her one love.

Through the splendid direction of Rouben Memoulien, "The Song of Songs" is presented as a subject of great pictorial beauty, in addition to its engrossing story.

McColl Wins First Big League Start, 3-1, Holding Chisox to 4 Hits

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

AS 37-year-old Alec McColl walked off the mound yesterday with a 3-to-1 victory over the White Sox to show for his first major league starting assignment, a press box wag pulled that old line about youth must be served.

Youth was served all right—served with a brand of minor league pitching that was backed by all the guile acquired by a pitcher who learned to pull the strings on the batters in 17 years of beating about the bush league mounds. McColl knew how to pitch, at least. That's what Clark Griffith said when he obtained the venerable rookie from Chattanooga as a stop-gap should the Nats' pitchers bog down.

McColl beat the White Sox with his head as well as his arm. He wasn't giving 'em many good balls to hit at, and he walked five. But of those four hits he allowed, one was very scratchy. There weren't more than three difficult chances for the Nats' defense during the game, and Cronin justified his nomination of McColl by coming up with two of these at critical times.

Young by Comparison.

But that crack about youth being served still stands. Out there on the mound for the White Sox was the ancient Urban Faber, celebrating his forty-fifth birthday by holding the Nats to 3 hits and no runs in a relief shift of 4 1-3 innings. Only two of Washington's young men reached second base against the stuff Faber was serving up, one on an error.

Faber stopped the game in the fourth inning to enjoy a hearty laugh out there on the mound. And there was due reason. Young McColl, who had disrupted the ball game with a smashing two-base hit against Walter Miller in the second inning, scoring two runs, again was at bat. When he came up to the plate swinging a bat, Faber laughed out loud. And McColl joined him.

Well, a 9½-game lead has its disadvantages. While Joe Cronin and his men are chortling over their substantial margin over the Yankees, a margin that means the pennant, barring the cholera, the club's front office is bemoaning its luck.

A sure-fire pennant winner has returned to the Capital, and a comparative corporal's guard goes out to see them play. If it were any kind of a close race, if the Nats were but a couple of games ahead, that would mean business for the ball club. Instead, the populace is taking the pennant for granted and saving its money for the world series.

But Clark Griffith isn't grumbling. "If they could clinch the pennant tomorrow, it would suit me," he said. "The bigger the lead, the better."

Runs, Hits and Errors.

The American League's vital statistics offers some interesting possibilities . . . if the Nats win 11 and lose 10 of their remaining 21 games, the Yankees must win 22 out of 24 to tie . . . draw your own conclusions . . . the Nats' front office has five requests for every world series seat . . . requests on hand, enough already to sell out the park, will be disregarded, because they were unaccompanied by the required certified checks or money orders . . . Al Simmons went back for Schulte's double against the fence in the eighth inning and ran smack into a trap door that ushered him under the concrete stands . . . Joe Cronin's first intimation that McColl was to pitch yesterday was gained from the announcement in The Post . . . Joe appreciated the suggestion.

Griffiths Is Stopped By Shucco in Fourth

Boston, Sept. 6 (AP).—Spotting him 10 pounds, Tony Shucco, speedy Boston heavyweight, tonight scored a surprising four-round knockout over Tuffy Griffiths, of Chicago, in a 10-round feature of the Burke Sporting Club's initial boxing show at Mechanics Building. Shucco weighed 177 and Griffiths 187.

Parker, Lott Lose in U.S. Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP).—Chief among the casualties today in the rapidly tightening international tennis battle for the American men's singles championship were the "boy wonder" from Milwaukee, 17-year-old Frankie Parker, and the "man of moods" from Chicago, George Martin Lott, jr.

Tournament officials thought so well of Parker's chances beforehand that they "seeded" him as high as fifth in the American list, despite objections and the fact that he was ranked No. 12 on the national list.

The youthful holder of the national clay court championship failed to meet his first real test and fell before Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, Calif., who was not seeded at all, by scores of 4—6, 6—3, 11—9, 6—3.

Lott Is Eliminated.

Lott's defeat by Ryosuke Nunoi, youthful Japanese, in five sets was not much of an upset, according to the "seeded" positions of the two players but the American stunned his followers by "blowing up" after winning the first two sets and apparently having the match clinched. The scores were 5—7, 1—6, 6—1, 6—1, 6—2.

The Japanese No. 1 star, Jiro Satoh, was hard-pressed to score in five sets over the veteran Elmer Griffin, of New York, 7—5, 4—6, 2—6, 6—1, 6—3.

Three of the four top-seeded favorites, Champion Ellsworth Vines, Frank X. Shields and Fred Perry, the British Davis Cup ace, swept through the third round without the loss of a set, but the fourth, Jack Crawford, of Australia, was troubled by the heat and the opposition before downing Jack Tidball, of Hollywood, Calif., the American intercollegiate champion.

Crawford Finally Wins.

The rangy Anzac finally uncorked a series of dazzling volleys to beat back Tidball by scores of 6—2, 6—8, 6—2, 7—5.

Shields gave his most convincing exhibition of the tournament in whipping sturdy Don Turnbull, youthful Australian, by 6—4, 8—6, 6—3.

Shields will play Nunoi tomorrow, while Perry, who disposed of the 18-year-old Marco Hecht, of New York, today, 6—1, 6—4, 6—4, meets Gledhill. Vines, who again got little more than a workout in beating Edward R. Avory, of England, 6—3, 7—5, 6—1, runs up against little Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, in the fourth round.

Crawford's next opponent is Sidney B. Wood, jr., of New York, who beat Gene Mako, Los Angeles schoolboy, by the long-distance margin of 7—5, 7—9, 9—7, 6—3.

Record of $2,156.40 Paid by "Daily Double"

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 6 (U.P.).—An Evansville, Ind., restaurant proprietor visited Dade Park today and made a $2 bet on the daily double combination.

His two horses, Tryabit and Justice B, won the second and third races. The restaurant man was rewarded with $2,156.40, one of the largest prices ever paid on this form of wager.

Jones Stops Johnson in Fourth

LARRY JOHNSON took the 10 count before some 2,000 spectators in the fourth round of his scheduled 10-round bout with Billy Jones at Twin City last night from what may or may not have been a hard punch.

The two chocolate-colored heavyweights started out very mildly in the first round. They missed violently through part of the round, and when Jones finally did park a soft right on Johnson's chin whiskers, the latter was so surprised he waited fully 3 seconds before reclining on the canvas—a very unnatural reaction to a sock on the jaw. On the floor, Johnson pondered the matter and arose to continue.

The second and third rounds were better. Jones clipped his lanky opponent with a good left hook in the third, and then used him to practice his light bag exercises.

Johnson Dropped in Fourth.

Toward the end of the fourth round Jones stood back and threw a left hook to the body and Johnson dropped immediately—an unnatural reaction to a body punch. He writhed on the floor for the full count, then arose and sauntered jauntily to his corner.

Jones demonstrated clear superiority throughout the fight. He proved a past master as sliding off blows with his shoulders and fought in nicely.

Leroy Dougan and Perry Knowles ground out the most grueling, roughest, toughest ten-round draw witnessed hereabouts for many months in the semifinal. Right at the opening bell, the fun started. Knowles stuck his finger in Dougan's eye—or vice versa—and the referee warned both boys. From then on he was kept busy—warning both boys.

Dougan had a clear edge in the first five rounds, but in the sixth Knowles got his good right hand to working nicely and parked it in various parts of his opponent's anatomy most effectively. The seventh round was a holocaust that had the fans standing in their seats, wild with excitement.

In the eighth the boys resorted to a few rassling tactics. Dougan, finding himself in a tough clinch with his back to Knowles, used a semi-flying mare to crash his opponent to the canvas, just as the bell sounded, ending the round. The move was greeted with a chorus of typical rassling boos.

In the ninth Dougan again resorted to rassling tactics, arguing vehemently with the referee for warning him. To add further "rassling color" to the bout, some enraged fan threw a dried ear of corn into the ring.

Between the ninth and tenth rounds, the commission doctor examined Knowles' left eye, which had become badly cut during the preceding melee. He was pronounced fit to continue, and did, winning the final round.

Giants Annex Final After Bucs Win

Pirates Win Opener, 6-5, On Swift's Single In Tenth Inning.

New York Batters Hop Birkofer at Start to Win, 9 to 1.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6 (AP).—The New York Giants today successfully fought off the challenge of the Pirates for the National League leadership as they gained an even break in a double-header to retain their 6½-game advantage over Pittsburgh.

After seeing their lead reduced to 5½ games as the result of the Pirates' 6-to-5, ten-inning victory in the first game, the Giants came back to slug out a 9-to-1 decision in the second contest behind the effective seven-hit pitching of Hal Schumacher.

The Pirate fans, rather apathetic yesterday to the chances of George Gibson's men, turned out in full force, 22,000 packing Forbes Field. The split gave the Pirates two of the three games played with two more remaining on the schedule, one tomorrow and the final game Friday.

Swift's Single Wins.

The first game was won by Relief Pitcher Bill Swift after the Corsairs had come from behind to tie the score in the eighth on a pair of triples by Pie Traynor and Arky Vaughan and Tommy Thevenow's single. With Vaughan on second as the result of his single matched by Thevenow's one-bagger, Swift punched a single to center, scoring the Pirate shortstop with the deciding run.

It was all a fake, the sight that thousands of ring fans will pay hundreds of thousands to see. Primo Carnera (left), the world's heavyweight champion, and Max Baer, the No. 1 contender, appear in a scene from the pseudo-battle in a Hollywood motion picture in which the two fighters will appear. But the director missed something. The boys don't look war-bitten and Primo's hair is too slick. Maybe it was the first round.

Steele Meets Sarpolis in Mat Bout

Garibaldi and Shocker to Clash On Card Tonight at Griffith Stadium.

ACTION aplenty is promised at the mat bouts at Griffith Stadium tonight, when Promoter Joe Turner trots in the ring 10 agony boys of high rating and a various assortment of holds, grunts and grimaces.

Last week Dr. Karl Sarpolis, dentist, fiddler and orchestra leader of parts, who finds he can make more money in the nose-tweaking game than in his other three vocations combined, put up such a good 45-minute battle against Ray Steele that the two have been rematched tonight in a 2-hour affair. Sarpolis, who did more with his legs than anyone thought possible against Steele last week, had the better of the match much of the time, and a ding-dong battle looms when the two travel a longer route this evening.

Garibaldi vs. O'Shocker.

This will be one of a brace of features, the other bringing together Gino Garbaldi, the rough and rugged Italian, and Pat O'Shocker, the plodder, who has been going along winning regularly and now must be rated as among the top-notchers. It is hardly thought that he can take Garbaldi, but one never can tell. In any event, it should be an interesting set-to.

In one of the other bouts, George Zaharias, knees and all, takes on former Champion Dick Shikat. The latter is more or less colorless, although a talented and smooth worker. He knows all the tricks of the game and it is rumored that, if Zaharias tries his fancy kneeing on him, he has methods of his own guaranteed to tame down the giant Greek.

Realizing that the rassle fans dote on new faces, Turner has dug up two for one of the preliminary bouts, pitting Paul Boesch, German-Jewish sensation in and about New York, against Vanka Zelesniak, while he is bringing another newcomer, Jacques Humberto, said to be a reformed bull-fighter from Mexico, to take on popular little Abie Coleman in the other.

Cards Buy Pitcher.

St. Louis, Sept. 6 (AP).—C. E. ("Lefty") Heise, southpaw pitcher who has a record of 14 victories and five defeats in the American Association this season, has been purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals from the Columbus Club, it was announced today.

Bass Is Fined $250 For a Foul In Texas

Houston, Tex., Sept. 6 (AP).—Benny Bass, 131-pound Philadelphia pugilist, was fined $250 today and ordered indefinitely suspended from fighting in Texas for fouling Davey Abad of St. Louis in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night.

Jack Flynn, labor and boxing commissioner, presided over the meeting at which the action was taken.

Abad had Bass in the ropes and was striving for a knockout, officials said, when Bass lifted a knee to Abad's groin.

Houghton Shoots 72 In Glens Falls Practice

Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 6 (Spl.).—Al Houghton, outstanding Washington, D. C. pro, today shot a 72, 2 above par, in a tune-up tour for the 72-hole Glens Falls Open championship slated to get under way tomorrow.

Weaver, Jones Promise Box Duel Today

Nat Staff Now Ready On Work in Order; Altrock Deserves An Assist.

MANAGER JOE CRONIN had used so many of his regular pitchers so often in recent games that he was forced to gamble against the White Sox yesterday. And it is now history that he won and that Rookie Alec McColl, the gamble, looked like anything but a gamble while holding the visitors to a paltry four bingles. As a result of McColl going the route, the Nat mound staff is just about ready to function again in a normal way, with the regulars drawing the assignment in regular rotation.

"Prof" Monte Weaver has rather

Aged Recruit Brings Nats Victory

Pitcher's Double Scoring 2 In Second Inning Is Decisive Blow.

Yankees Still 9½ Games In Rear; Washington Routs Miller.

AND then there was the one about the Scotchman who gave the White Sox only four hits.

It happened at Griffith Stadium yesterday. Alexander Boyd McColl, whose forbears were on speaking terms with every shrub of heather on the Bonny Isle, was extremely frugal in the manner in which he dispensed safe blows and the evidence is handy in the Nats' 3-1 victory over the Chicago Club.

Tall and sandy-haired, what there is left on his thinning pate, the 37-year-old rookie from Chattanooga introduced himself simutaneously to Washington fans and the White Sox when Joe Cronin sent him to the hill for his first start in the big leagues.

Both Hurls and Hits.

And while almost snubbing the White Sox completely he literally made a hit with the Washington fans when he made a hit off Walter Miller—a two-base hit—to drive in the first two runs of the ball game. Thus with arm and bat, the aged rookie personally guaranteed the success of his debut in the Capital.

McColl's parsimony with base hits was exactly that. Nothing more than a single did he permit. One of these four blows was a scratch infield safety that he himself handled poorly. To Swanson, Simmons, Hayes and Kress he yielded singles. All the others went hitless before a clever curve and change of pace, aided by the wile and guile acquired in 19 years on minor league mounds.

But his own two-bagger was the pay-off. It occurred with one out in the second inning. Kuhel and Bluege had singled and Sewell had fouled out. McColl's bat collided with the first pitch and wafted it out to deep left-center for a double, scoring the two men on base. Heinie Manush followed with another double to score him, and the Nats had won the ball game.

Fifth in Row for Nats.

It was the Nats' fifth straight and left the Yankees still 9½ games in the ruck, despite the New Yorkers' 3-to-2 defeat of the Browns yesterday. Thus, with the schedule near an end, the Nats' lead looms all-conclusive. World series

Teralice Wins Third in Row for New Owner in Taking Lincoln Fields Feature

Nose Verdict Is Lost by Evergold

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP).—Teralice was crowned the leading handicap runner in the Chicago racing district as he won the Rally Round Purse, the top race at Lincoln Fields today. This 3-year-old son of Terry, recently claimed out of a selling plater event at Arlington Park from Max Hirsch, of New York, has won three straight for his new owner, Abe Bartelstein, of Chicago.

Teralice won the mile event by a nose over Evergold, the pacemaker all the way until the nod on the wire.

Jockey S. Renick rode Teralice. Royal Blunder finished third.

Golden Way Belmont Victor.

Belmont Park Race Track, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP).—J. E. Widener's slim-barreled colt, Golden Way, which has been a good "second horse" in most of his important races as a 3-year-old, won his first stake of the year today when he led home four others of his age in the Jerome Handicap, one of the oldest fixtures on the racing calendar. The son of John P. Grier beat W. S. Kilmer's Sun Archer by two lengths, running the mile in 1:38 3-5. Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Caesar's Ghost was third, an additional six lengths out of it. Note Book and Bold Lover brought up the rear.

Golden Way earned $1,585 by his triumph and was split choice with the disappointing Notebook at 13 to 5. Mack Garner earned his second straight victory in this event.

Flighty Anna Scores.

Fair Grounds, Detroit, Sept. 6 (AP). Flighty Anna, trained by Roy Waldron and owned by Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, of New York, today won the feature race at the Detroit track.

MAN O' WAR, besides being a great individual race horse, is a member of a great line of race horses. In the Dwyer Stakes, run at Aqueduct since 1914, Man o' War, his father, and four of his colts have won the annual race. His father, Fair Play, won in 1908, when the race was called the Brooklyn Derby, and was a mile and a quarter long, on the track at Gravesend, New York.

In 1920, Man o' War ran the race for $4,850 at one and an eighth miles in 1:49 1-5. His winning colts are: American Flag, who won in 1925, winning $7,500; Crusader in 1926 won $15,000; Genie, in 1928, won a $10,600 purse; and, latest of the Man o' War line, War Glory, won this year.

The tidal wave is so-called because, like the tide, it rushes inland from the sea. It is rarely, if ever, influenced much by the tide. The cause, according to scientists, may be an earthquake or a violent storm, the center of which is not too far distant from land. The wave resulting from this disturbance may pile up to form a wall of water thirty to forty feet high, which will wreck anything in its path when it strikes the coast.

Big Bill Lange's spectacular catch was made in the eleventh inning of a game between Chicago and Washington in Washington when, after 10 innings of tie ball, Chicago made a run to take the lead. The last man up for Washington hit a long fly so close to the fence that Lange crashed right on through it when he caught the ball. He held on to the ball, ending the game.

Tomorrow: Transparent Lead.

Dear Al: Lincoln Fields, Sept. 6.

I have absolutely nothing up my sleeve, folks. And never mind what I have above the collar. Can't do much back-slapping after giving you only three winners. However, I did make Teralice beat the good ones at an $11.22 payoff. Also participated in two distributions of the chalk—I mean those powder puff mutuels paid by Islam and Chirac. Your pal, the great Bill, was borne out in that Levaal race. I warned you that Levaal was ready to run and my line was—"If the top one makes mistakes." The top one was Fanfern. He made a mistake and ran last. I understand that Fanfern had the measles and the rest of the field ran away from him. BILL.

First race—Social Service seems the best suited of these maiden fillies. Personally, I wouldn't give 30 cents for the whole gang. In fact, this field might be cheap enough to allow Bostonian Girl to be second and Sheshahoney third.

Second race—It's about time they bore down with Lampblack. I don't know anything in particular about this one. However, as I said before, it's about time. Martie Flynn has his innings. Figures close here and should run well. Very Well to take care of the others.

Third race—This Peedeeque reminds me of William Jennings Bryan—always second. However, if Brother Crouch's gelding can't beat these, you can have him. Cabouse and Albane will be the ones to make a race out of it.

Fourth race—This is a close fit between Merry Chatter and Timorous. I like them in the order named. The sleeper here might be Lebruyere. This nag thrives on price and it looks like there will be plenty of figures around tomorrow.

Fifth race—Gay Follies isn't much of a horse. But this isn't much of a horse race. No place to risk the family jewels. However, if you must get in action, she's the goods. Talulah and Snow Play for the other awards.

Sixth race—I'm about ready to give up on Lemon Hills. Appears ready to win and then throws me down. However, gets the final chance in this. Mr. Joe and Fair Image to do the chief chasing.

Seventh race—Uncommon Gold is as reliable as anything parading as horseflesh at this course. This looks like anther set of brackets. Bright Knot was the subject of paddock conversation late today. May take the place from Crapshooter.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHIRAC, $4.14, $2.58, $2.20; SECLUDED, $3.10, $2.56; GO FORTH, $2.54.

CHIRAC, placed under strong riding, came away when saving ground on stretch turn and weakened badly, but lasted. SECLUDED, probably best, and in close quarters soon after the start, was again crowded when GO FORTH came over on the turn and, holding on gamely under strong handling, was wearing down the winner. GO FORTH, weakly ridden, swerved repeatedly and finished on own courage. MASKED PRINCE dropped back on stretch turn and did not threaten thereafter. FIRE STAR had no mishap.

SECOND RACE—Seven furlongs (chute). Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:40. Off at once. Winner, T. C. Worden's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—VICTORIUM, $3.14, $2.96, $2.40; CHAUVENOT, $14.04, $8.38; FINNIC, $4.18.

VICTORIUM went the first eighth in close quarters, but eased back and to outside, moved up fast approaching the turn and, drawing into a long lead, won therefore. CHAUVENOT, lucky to keep up when on inside the first half mile, stood a long drive gamely. FINNIC began fast, but readily gave way to winner and went evenly in stretch. PRINCE PLATO lost ground and showed a good effort. PORTMANTEAU could not get up. BILL ORANGE was through early. SCANDAL SHEET quit.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800. For maiden 2-year-old colts and geldings. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:04½. Off at once. Winner, E. R. Bradley's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOY VALET, $6.32, $4.36, $3.54; FLICKAMARU, $7.86, $5.72; ARTIST KNIGHT, $7.14.

BOY VALET, well up from the start and on outside the final half mile, responded to strong urging and wearing down FLICKAMARU, was drawing out in late stages. Latter, hustled along from the start, had speed and weakening, failed to withstand winner. BERT LAHR, best of others, ARTIST KNIGHT saved ground much of the trip and held on well. WOODLANDER was under strong riding the first three-eighths and suffered mild interference in final eighth. BERT LAHR closed well in a good effort. SMUGGLED IN dropped out of it on stretch turn.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:29½. Off at 3:34. Winner, H. Herenden's br. c. (3), by Lee O. George Washington Gridders in Bruising Scrimmage at Camp Letts

End Position For Walsh Planned

Big Half Back En Route to Join Squad; Wray, Other End, Back.

Logan Is Named Trainer and Will Coach Guard Candidates.

CAMP LETTS, Md., Sept. 6 (Spl.).—An encouraging note was sounded in the training camp of the George Washington Football Team here today with the definite announcement that Joe Walsh, 190-pound 6-footer from Superior, Wis., was on his way to join the squad.

Walsh, a sophomore half back, and brother of Len Walsh, line coach, wired Coach Jim Pixlee that his father, who had been critically ill, was much improved, and that he had decided to leave for training with the Colonials.

Walsh is looked upon as a brilliant prospect, and an attempt will be made by Coach Pixlee to convert him into an end, a gap in the G. W. front wall. Ozie Wray, the big Texan, is the only end man who made his letter last season.

Squad in Scrimmage.

The Colonial squad, 60 strong, worked out under a broiling sun in the morning and afternoon. It was the team's fourth day in camp, and a hot scrimmage was the order of the afternoon as the gridders stepped at a bruising pace. Thus far there have been no injuries.

The G. W. athletic board also announced that Roland Logan, for three years assistant football coach at University of Kansas, had been appointed head trainer and assistant coach in charge of the guards. It was also made known that Walter Slaird, who starred for three years as a G. W. tackle, would be assistant freshman coach.

G. U. Gridmen Lack Good Punter

GEORGETOWN'S football squad was augmented yesterday with the arrival of Joe Shields, Jim Carroon, Frank Del Vecchio, Jim Gallagher and Joe Kelleher, men who are expected to play potent roles in the moulding of a winning team.

With 33 gridders on hand, Coach Hagerty drove his candidates at top speed yesterday during the course of two workouts on the Hilltop field. The Hoya mentor is engaged in the serious task of finding a consistent punter. Not since the triumphant days of Jim Mooney has Georgetown had a player who could boot the pigskin for long distances with any degree of consistency, and this, the Coach yesterday pointed out, has been one of the big reasons for the loss of a number of games during the 1932 campaign.

Five Practice Kicking

With honors about even, Mack Stanley, Nick Viskovitch, Bill Carpenter, Fred Callahan and Charles Parcells have been doing the kicking in practices.

Considerable attention has been focused on the conditioning of the players and the rehearsing of line and backfield formations. Workouts are slated today at 10 a. m., and again at 2:30.

Starting at 10:30, the boys will play two singles and one doubles match. The winning team will be determined by the number of points scored, each win registering one point.

Scrimmage On Today at C. U. Grid Drill

All But Two Expected Candidates Now On Hand; Gearty in Form.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY'S football squad, materially strengthened by the addition of Babe Gearty and Johnny Sniscak, backs; Harold McGann, Bernie Lieb and Jim Lyons, linemen, all of whom reported yesterday, will settle down to intensive practice drills today at Brookland Stadium.

Although neither Sniscak nor McGann worked out, both looked in the pink of condition, and both will join candidates in drills today. His case of ivy poisoning having been completely cured, McGann is looked upon as a promising sophomore end, who will come under the personal observation of Coach George Vlk.

Stepping through the paces, Babe Gearty, triple threat half back who was laid low virtually all of last season due to a wrenched shoulder, showed a return to physical form. His shoulder is declared to be in good shape.

Head Coach Arthur ("Dutch") Bergman announced that a line scrimmage, blocking and tackling will be permitted in today's twin sessions. Only two men now are missing from the 1933 football roster at Catholic University.

Yankees, Behind Steady Pitching of Ruffing, Defeat Browns in 3-2 Mound Duel

Gehrig's 24th Home Run Big Help

Ruth's Pinch Fly Brings Home Score; Hadley Losing Hurler.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP).—With Lou Gehrig pounding out his twenty-fourth home run of the season, a double and a single and scoring all of the runs, the New York Yankees defeated the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 2, today.

Sammy Byrd's pinch single in the ninth scored Gehrig with the deciding run, but it was the big first baseman that kept the champions in the running and permitted Charlie Ruffing to shade Irving (Bump) Hadley in a pitching duel.

Each pitcher allowed seven hits, but the two intentional passes Hadley handed out in the ninth proved to be his undoing. Gehrig opened the inning with a double and Lazzeri and Dickey were given walks, loading the bases. Byrd batted for Eddie Farrell and punched the winning blow to left field.

Babe Ruth drove in his other Yankee run with a pinch fly in the seventh, putting New York in the lead. Ted Gullic, batting for Shea in the eighth, tied the count again, however, hitting a home run.

Weaver to Face White Sox Today

belatedly earned himself a regular berth and he will do the flinging against the Chisox this afternoon, with "Sad Sam" Jones, former Nat, scheduled to oppose him.

While "Uncle" Nick Altrock's name does not appear in yesterday's box-score, he should be given an assist. Learning that the Nats were going to face Walt Miller and his southpaw "nothing" ball, Cronin had Altrock, who has almost nothing in the way of stuff, pitch to the home team in pregame batting practice. As a result, the Nats simply imagined Miller was Altrock after play started and had him out of there before the second round was completed.

Third Baseman Cecil Travis, recalled from Chattanooga, rejoined the Nats yesterday morning. He is not eligible for world series play, however.

Pitcher Ray Prim, the southpaw recently purchased from Albany, worked out during the Nats' batting practice before the game. While he has a fair curve, his fast ball is his forte.

Cronin hustled back on the grass behind Bluege to come up with Simmons' hot grasser in the second. His rifle peg beat the runner to first by an eyelash. It was a great play.

Swanson's single in the third was the first hit gleaned from McColl's slants, but the veteran rookie was quite generous with his passes. He issued one in the second and two in the third, the last of these filling the bases and bringing Al Simmons to bat.

McColl gave the fans a laugh when he proved himself a switch-hitter coming to bat in the fifth. Against Faber, he hit left-handed after previously having batted right-handed against the southpaw pitching of Miller.

Berry put up quite a howl when Umpire Morlarty called him out on strikes ending the alien sixth with two men on the sacks. From the press box, it looked as though the ball cut the plate in half.

Schulte thought he had made a hit when he popped one to short right in round 6, but Hayes hustled back and snared it. It was a good play by "Sonny Boy."

Nats to Try Out Bruce, Fort Defiance Hurler

Staunton, Va., Sept. 6 (Spl.).—Spencer Bruce, Fort Defiance pitching star in the Augusta County Baseball League, has been invited by Clark Griffith, owner of the Nationals, to be a guest of the Washington team at all of the remaining home games this season, in order that Griffith may give him a tryout. Bruce was expected to go to Washington today.

Olympians Win Match.

Singles—Cionei (Olympian) beat Afero, 7—5, 6—4; Petro (Boy's Club) beat Burka, 6—0, 3—6; Ceppos (Olympian) beat Brennan, 6—3, 3—6, 6—4; Taylor (Boy's Club) beat Friedman, 6—4, 6—4; Putz (Boy's Club) beat Werksman, 6—4, 9—7.

Doubles—Burka and Cionei beat Rattle and Afero, 6—1, 6—2; Ceppos and Friedman beat Taylor and Brennan, 6—2, 3—6, 6—4.

The deadly combination of Joe Cronin and Buddy Myer is pictured in action as they began the execution of a double play for the last two outs in the ninth, to seal the fate of the White Sox yesterday. Cronin has taken Berry's grounder and thrown the ball to Myer, who steps across second base before heaving the ball to Kuhel to complete the play. Earl Webb is sliding into the bag. Geisel is the umpire.

McColl Holds White Sox to Four Hits

seating plans will be announced by the front office at Griffith Stadium on Sunday.

Again yesterday the Nats jinxed their jinx. Walter Miller, thrice their conqueror this season, once holding them to two hits, once holding them to three hits, held the Nats to five hits yesterday—in 12-3 innings, during which Washington had won the ball game.

Red Faber and Whitlow Wyatt finished out the game for the Chicago southpaw and held the Nats to four lonely blows in those last six innings, but with McColl out there serving up his curve and half-speed ball, the game had been placed beyond the recall of the White Sox.

Sox Turn Pass Into Run.

McColl gave up n.. walks during the pastime, but he pulled himself together and escaped unscathed on every occasion except the sixth inning, when one of these passes figured in the run that cheated him of a shut-out. Going into the sixth he had a one-hit game in his possession.

He had forced Al Simmons to fly out with the bases loaded in the third inning, and then Simmons singled with one out in the sixth. A pass to Kress moved him to second and Jackie Hayes delivered a single to center that moved Simmons home with the Sox's lone run of the day. McColl slipped a third strike over on Berry to escape further damage at this point.

Among other things, McColl is eligible for the world series.

Cubs Beat Braves, 4-3 As Tinning Wins 12th

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—Bud Tinning withstood a ninth inning challenge by the Boston braves today and the Chicago Cubs took the opening game of the three-piece series, 4 to 3.

After being shut out on three singles for eight innings, while the Chicagoans chased Freddie Frankhouse with a five-hit, three-run attack in the first two innings and picked up another off Bob Smith in the seventh, the Braves rallied for three runs in the ninth and had the tying run on second base when Hal Lee fouled to Hartnett to end the game and give Tinning his season's 12th victory.

Gabby Hartnett, big Cub catcher, hit his 14th home run of the season and his second in consecutive times at bat off Frankhouse as part of the second inning attack.

The victory, the Cub's third in a row, brought the Chicagoans' home record for the season to 45 wins as against 15 defeats, a .750 pace.

Boys' Club to Learn About Mushball Play

The Sports Club mushball team, champions of the Pittsburgh District, will play a game with a team from the Boys' Club at 2 o'clock Sunday on a diamond to be named just as soon as it is learned definitely just what mushball is.

Steve Cox, manager of the Pittsburgh aggregation, wired for a game with a Washington team and the matter was referred to Charley Reynolds, athletic director of the Boys' Club. Reynolds had never heard of the game, but had a vague idea that it was somewhat similar to our own indoor baseball.

"I'll have to find out just what it is," announced Reynolds, "but in the meantime, we've accepted the invitation to play. Whatever the game is, if they can play it in Pittsburgh we can play it here."

Reynolds spent the evening digging through the MU-MY files in the Library of Congress, and at a late hour last night was reported delving into a mass of sports guides, seeking exact knowledge about the game.

Homer by Foxx Lets A's Win Over Tribe

Clout, No. 41, Longest Made In Shibe Park; Grove Wins 20th.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6 (AP).—Jimmy Foxx's forty-first homer of the season and Lefty Grove pitching his twentieth victory, were largely accountable today for the Athletics' 5-to-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the opener of a four-game series, the last between the two clubs this year.

Lefty was batted for 13 hits, while the A's connected for only 8, but the ace portsider bore down in the pinches to hold the Indians, while his clubmates hit timely to register runs.

Cochrane Hits Homer.

Mickey Cochrane also hit for the circuit, while doubles by Bob Johnson and Pinky Higgins in the fourth and Higgins' single in the sixth accounted for the other tallies.

Foxx's homer was one of the most prodigious wallops he has even uncorked in Shibe Park, hammering the horsehide onto the top of the centerfield pavilion in the second inning, from where it dropped into a street below.

Welsh Reaches Grove Tennis Finals

Beats Willis, 6—2, 6—3; to Play McElvenny for Title Sunday.

BARNEY WELSH, smooth-stroking District tennis star, advanced to the finals of the Washington Grove tennis championship yesterday by defeating Rickey Willis, 6—2, 6—3.

Willis pulled up with a strained ankle in the second game of the first set and had difficulty keeping pace with Welsh the rest of the battle.

Welsh will meet Ralph McElvenny, Pacific Coast terror, in the finals Sunday at 3:30 p. m. McElvenny, unheralded and unsung around this way, earned the title of "giant killer" by mowing down the two favored stars, Frank Shore and Anthony Latona, on his way to the finals.

Brandt Leaves For N. Carolina

North Carolina University is pinning its hopes on several able men to carry it throughout to a successful football season, and one of these is a former four-letter athlete from Central High, of Washington.

The man is George Brandt, jr., 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brandt, of 2936 Upton street northwest. Young Brandt, a 6-footer, tipping the beams at 185 pounds, left yesterday for the Tarheels' training camp for his fourth active season of football in Chapel Hill. He is the only three letterman at college.

Brandt, a roving end, is in his senior year. The District boy has made two letters in basket ball, two in baseball and one in football, is president of both the Kappa Alpha Fraternity and Monogram Club, and is a member of the famous Golden Fleece Order. He is also cocaptain of the baseball team.

A good golfer, Brandt is also adept at swimming and tennis. He may pursue a coaching career after winding up his college studies.

Reds Pound 21 Hits To Split With Dodgers

Cincinnati, Sept. 6 (AP).—Blasting out 21 hits in the second game, the Cincinnati Reds today earned an even break in a double-header with Brooklyn, winning the nightcap, 18 to 8, after the Dodgers had accounted for the curtain raiser, 7 to 3.

Four unearned runs, scored in the seventh inning on two hits, a pass and a pair of errors, gave Brooklyn the first game. Paul Derringer, the third of the Cincinnati pitchers, was charged with the defeat, his twenty-fourth of the season.

Cards Defeat Phillies Twice, 3-1 and 8-7

St. Louis, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Cardinals retained their record of not having been defeated at home since Frankie Frisch became their manager, by rallying sharply in the ninth inning of the second game of today's double-header to vanquish the Philadelphia Phillies, 8 to 7. The Cardinals won the opener, 3 to 1.

A double by Orsatti, a homer by Martin, a single by Walker, a triple by Medwick, followed by a fly by Collins which scored Medwick, gave the Cardinals the second game in the ninth, after they had showed little punch in the early innings against Austin (Cy) Moore's deliberate pitching.

In the opener, Joe Medwick drove in all three of the Cardinal runs, while the only damage the Phillies could do to Bill Hallahan was Chuck Klein's twenty-sixth home run of the season.

Walt Mason, Himself

Living It Down.

CHARLES CHEESEMAN JINGLE paid his fine; he parked his auto out of line, and somewhat less than 20 feet from yonder hydrant in the street. This is indeed a grevious crime, for which a man should serve his time; the guilty man must always face the dreadful shadow of disgrace. But Charles remarked, "I'll stay in town, I'll stay right here and live it down; I'll be so good I'll win again the confidence of righteous men." It was a deed of auld lang syne for which Charles Cheeseman paid his fine; and ever since that fateful day his feet have walked in virtue's way; he's been determined to be good; he's parked his car just where he should, and drives it eighteen miles an hour, although it has abundant power. He pays his taxes when they're due, and never has a rag to chew; he makes a gift that's large and fat when worthy people pass the hat; he goes to church and in the choir his tenor voice all men admire. His conduct is without a flaw, he stands up for the moral law. Yet when he's mentioned, people say, "He parked his car, one summer day, against a hydrant, and the beak assessed him all he'd earned that week. He's walking now the narrow line but people don't forget that fine."

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York—One section of Manhattan's melange of foreign neighborhood has practically been abandoned within the last fortnight. That is the Cuban colony.

Six months ago there were about 700 Cubans in New York, about 400 of them being political exiles. Since the collapse of the Machado regime, about 500 of them have returned to their native land. One of the first to go back was Col. Carlos Menideta, chief of the Union Nacionalista. His home on the upper part of Manhattan has been the gathering place of exiles for months.

At a theatrical opening the other night I sat next to Conrado Massaguer, famous Cuban editor and caricaturist, who fled to New York two years ago to escape the wrath of Machado. He, too, is going home soon to begin again his newspaper and magazine.

Fortune in Adversity.

But there is an odd twise to his experience. His exile really proved good fortune. Before he was known only to Havana and the tourists who hesitated there long enough to study something of the Siboney culture. In New York he became internationally famous.

"But I am very happy," he told me. "In not so many more days I shall be strolling again in Parque Central."

It was only last April that I sat in an alcove of the resplendent Casino Nacional, on the outskirts of Havana, chatting with my friend, a Cuban doctor.

"There is talk in the States," I began, "that a revolution is ready to break here at any moment. What is the truth?"

"That is just newspaper talk," he violently protested, "Cuba is very peaceful. You should disregard such rumors."

"But at the race track this afternoon," I persisted, "the whole place was simply jammed with policemen and soldiers carrying bayoneted rifles. Surely, where there is smoke . . ."

"We shall return to the casino," said the doctor, ignoring further mention of the subject. "As an observer of New York night life, I think you will find it more interesting. I think you will find it more exciting than your night clubs."

Atop a Volcano.

So Havana was like that as I observed it only a few months ago. People moved freely to and fro, sat at sidewalk cafes, danced the rumba far into the night . . . But everywhere . . . in the blinding sunlight of noon, or in the soft shadows of night . . . there was the ubiquitous tread of military feet, the constant glimpse of bayonets and rifles.

Late in an afternoon I stood at a ship's rail, gazing at the ominous bulk of Morro castle brooding above the enchanting turquoise waters of Havana's harbor. The holocaust was soon to come, and, with it, another flight of exiles.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Grading the Insane.

IN the Worcester (Mass.) State Hospital for the Insane Drs. Erickson and Hoskins make use of an excellent method of social treatment of their patients. They make a division of the insane into six groups. This grouping is on the basis of the ability of the patient to meet responsibilities and to fit into life. Every patient should want to go home. The ratings are on the willingness to undertake a program with going home as an objective and success in carrying it out.

Grade A is composed of those at home or quite capable of living at home with comfort to themselves and all around them. The requisites for being put into grade A are ability to eat like normal people, ability and willingness to work, ability to get along with family and friends.

Grade B is the going home grade, is so advertised all over the institution, and is so accepted by patients and officials. Requisites for admission to this grade are getting well enough to go home, working well, reliability on parole, new interests and ideas, old ideas well controlled or their meaning understood and accepted by the patient, the rebuilding of his mental strength in order that he may stay well.

A patient who has improved enough to be graded B is kept under observation for a while to determine the outlook as to continuance of good self-control. As soon as the physician thinks his improvement is reasonably secure he is transferred to grade A and the recommendation is made that he be offered parole at home.

Grade C is on parole. The requirements are: Working and playing well, getting new ideas and interests, making the best of everything, cooperating well, obeying the rules.

Grade D is the group that is regarded as in the ward, first class. The requisites are: Keeping neat and tidy, working and playing well, learning to take things as they come, beginning to understand the meaning of the old delusions, hallucinations, ideas and mental twists, and to cooperate in everything.

Grade E, second class on the ward: Working and playing poorly, lazy and shiftless, too proud of any ideas as well as too set in them, not very cooperative, careless of clothing.

Grade F, third class on the ward: These patients are mute and resistant. They are either too silent or too talkative or too silent one week and too talkative the next, excitable and disturbed, not cooperative, not working nor playing.

Wardmen's Net Play Starts Saturday

Mitchell Seeks Third Win of Stimson Cup; Good Field Looked For.

STARTING Saturday, the Wardman annual fall tennis tournament, always an outstanding event, this year promises to bring into action a better-than-average field.

Dooley Mitchell, who has remained in practically a state of inertia this year, so far as tennis is concerned, will shake the cobwebs off his racquet and probably draw the No. 1 seeded position. Mitchell already has two legs on the Henry L. Stimson win-it-three-times-and-it's-yours-for-keeps trophy, which probably explains his presence in this competition in a year when business duties have kept him from all but two other tournaments.

Barney Welsh, public parks champion; Anthony Latonia, runner up for the public title; Frank Shore, chop-stroke artist and possibly lackadaisical Gilbert Hunt, are a few of the other outstanding local standbys who will attempt to smash through the batallion guarding the Stimson trophy.

Interest in McElvenny.

Great interest has been added to the Wardman tournament by the expected presence of Ralph McElvenny, who has displayed such upheaving tendencies in the Washington Grove tournament. Close observers of the game are generally withholding speculation concerning his chances in the Wardman tournament, pending the outcome of his finals match in the Grove tourney, to be played Saturday with the winner of the Willis-Welsh semi-finals scheduled for Friday.

It is generally thought that if McElvenny can not defeat the winner of the Willis-Welsh match, he can not expect to get past Mitchell in the Wardman competition, unless lack of competitive play has tarnished the latter's play very badly.

Little information is available regarding out-of-town entries, but it is expected that many strong contenders will be entered from other cities.

Events.

Championship draw composed of 16 of qualifying flight and invited players. Begin play Tuesday, September, 12.

Men's doubles, begin play Sunday, September 10.

Tri-State Skeet Title Event Here Sept. 30

The tri-State skeet shooting championship, open to contestants from Maryland, Virginia and the District, will be held Saturday, September 30, at the Montgomery Skeet Club, on the East West highway in Chevy Chase, Md.

There will be competition for the individual, team and woman's championships.

Entries for the various events will be $5, and $2.50. All entries should be filed with Lawrence E. Williams, secretary.

Reemployment Of Ousted U. S. Workers Falls

Only Three Rehired Last Week With 1,900 Waiting Call.

Federal hiring from the Civil Service Commission's reemployment rolls, pushed forward in July under White House impetus, has fallen away to alarmingly low levels.

Last week only three appointments were made from the list, officials disclosed last night. Unofficial estimates placed reappointments during August at 145, compared with the July official figure of 554.

"We are not getting as many calls as we were," was the way one official of the commission explained it. It was his view that many of the new emergency agencies which fell in line with the President's policy of rehiring the more competent ousted employes have completed their organizations.

Further Cutting Seen.

From another source, it was pointed out that even some curtailments may be expected in a few of the emergency set-ups. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson repeated yesterday that the National Recovery Administration's Washington staff is slated for a slash as soon as the emergency situation improves.

By far the greatest demand on the Civil Service Commission's reemployment lists have been made to date by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, but that agency has virtually perfected its organization for the approaching wheat crop work.

A few other agencies still are taking on help. The Public Works Administration, for example, plans eventually to take on approximately 2,000 here. Few have been hired to date, however, and Secretary Ickes has indicated the process may take a year.

1,100 Are Reemployed.

Since the President asked new agencies to draw on Civil Service Commission reemployment lists, approximately 1,100 have been put back to work from this source, it was said at the commission. The total number of eligibles on the list has been reduced from 3,000 to 1,900.

Week ended August 5, 75; two weeks ended August 19, 44; week ended August 27, 24; week ended September 2, 3.

President and Farley To Discuss D. C. Jobs

District appointments will be discussed between President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley today, but whether action will follow remained in doubt.

The President indicated yesterday he was doubtful about the outcome. He told reporters that usually such discussions lasted about five minutes when the conversation switched to other subjects.

"Tired of Life," Woman Writes, Turns on Gas

Police found these yesterday when they forced an apartment at 815 Maryland avenue northeast. In the gas-filled kitchen lay the body of Mrs. Margaret Anderson, 35, a department store clerk. Strewn on the floor around her were the cigarette stubs.

Life's trials had been too much, Mrs. Anderson indicated in notes left to her mother and 13-year-old daughter, Dorothy. She was tired of living, she told her mother. And to Dorothy there was an apology. The new dress which had been promised—she was sorry she couldn't send it.

Summoned by neighbors after gas seeped to the hallways, police broke open the door. They found the notes on the table. Cigarettes on the floor—thirteen in all.

Two Take Poison.

Ola Bodin, 35, of 1354 Fairmont street northwest, was given first-aid in her room by a fire rescue squad for an overdose of sleeping tablets and was removed to Casualty Hospital.

Margaret Purvis, 29, was removed from 523 Lamont street nortwest, to Emergency Hospital, suffering from poison said to have been swallowed in a fit of despondency.

Police Hold Suspect After Man Found Hurt

Police said he was either knocked or had fallen from a second-story window. They are holding George Blackwell, 32, colored, pending the outcome of Washington's injuries.

K. of C. Council to Meet.

Spalding Council, Knights of Columbus, will meet tonight at its clubhouse at 8 o'clock. This will be the first of the fall and winter sessions and the beginning of semi-monthly meetings. The Rev. Edward H. Roach, chaplain, will give a short talk.

Whose Dog?

Toy Fox Terrier Comes to Visit Baby and Stays.

Mrs. R. L. Rouse, 1325 Hemlock street northwest, would like to find the owner of a toy fox terrier that wandered onto her front porch to play with Sue Rouse, aged 1, yesterday morning, and apparently decided to make his visit permanent.

Mrs. Rouse has one dog and considers two dogs one too many.

U. S. to Check Bakers' Costs

Claim of 75 Per Cent Raise Brings Inquiry.

Cost figures of local baking concerns, which show the price of bread ingredients has risen about 75 per cent, will be checked by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Assistant Corporation Counsel Robert E. Lynch said yesterday.

Lynch, investigating bread prices here at the behest of Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, said he would be ready to report the first of the week.

According to bakers, Lynch said, they have to pay 100 per cent more for flour and 50 per cent more for shortening.

Auto Overturns In Downtown Crash

Three persons escaped injury last night, when their automobile overturned at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, following a collision.

Herbert Fuller, of Takoma Park, Md., told police he was attempting to make a left-hand turn when his machine was struck by a taxi cab. It threw Fuller's car on its side. He escaped injury as did two passengers, Martin Bischoff and Allan Judefind, both of Takoma Park. Police said the taxi was driven by Rowland E. Darling, of 202 Ninth street southeast.

Miss Mankie Noble, 55, of 2146 Florida avenue northwest, died in Emergency Hospital yesterday from injuries received when she fell down the stairway of her home Sunday.

Seal Extends His Milk Probe To Baltimore

Opens Office There to Quiz Maryland Producers, Seeking Link.

In an effort to determine what relationship, if any, exists between Baltimore and Washington milk markets, Elwood H. Seal, special counsel for the Senate Milk Investigating Committee, yesterday established offices in Baltimore to interview producers and distributors.

Mr. Seal's inquiry into activities of the Baltimore milk industry came at the direction of Senator King, of Utah. The attorney spent yesterday organizing his office in the Baltimore Postoffice Building. He conducted one interview with John M. Dennis, an independent producer.

Mr. Seal plans to question Isaac W. Heaps, manager of the Maryland State Dairymen's Association and the Eastern State Marketing Association. It has been charged that these two organizations control the Baltimore and Washington milk supply.

Heaps already has appeared before the Senate committee in connection with investigation of the local milk situation. Mr. Seal wants to learn whether there is any link between the National Dairy Products Corporation and the Maryland State Dairymen's Association. The former owns two of Washington's largest dairies and one of the largest in Baltimore.

The Rev. Stephen McCabe, of St. Martin's Church, will deliver the sermon. Many priests and laymen will attend the exercises.

Temperance Group Bars Prohibition

Order Of Rechabites Says Question Is Political.

The Independent Order of Rechabites, the oldest temperance organization in the United States, closing a two-day national convention here, voted yesterday to eliminate from its pledges reference to the eighteenth amendment, on the ground that the prohibition question has assumed widespread political aspects. It was said, however, that the fight for temperance will be continued by the organization, which is nonpolitical.

The Order of Rechabites was first established in England in 1835. John R. Mahoney, secretary to the order, has been actively affiliated with the group for 72 years.

Police Seek Lawyer For Eviction Frauds

Board to Quiz New Students In High Schools

Requests For Admission Must Be Entered Next Week.

Children of new Washington residents who intend entering senior high schools are advised to report to the high school board of admissions at Thomson School, Twelfth and L streets northwest, next Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, beginning at 9 a. m.

Pupils entering junior high and grammar schools will be required to report at the school nearest their homes. Those seeking admission to senior high schools should bring diplomas, report cards or other credentials.

An examination will be held September 15 for pupils without credentials who convince the board they are prepared for high school.

Restrictions will be placed on entrance to Western and Roosevelt High Schools because of threatened congestion. Efforts will be made in every other instance to place children in schools nearest their homes.

Children who do not live in the District will not be admitted to Western. Those living in the District east of a line formed by Connecticut avenue to Columbia road to Adams Mill road to Rock Creek Park also will be barred.

No children will be admitted to Roosevelt who live outside of the area bounded on the west by Rock Creek Park and on the south by Spring road. All pupils within this area desiring ninth grade tuition are advised to attend either Macfarland or Paul Junior High Schools. Exceptions may be made in some cases of students desiring an intensive business course in or those above the 11a grade.

Strikers Here To Meet Today

Crittal Official Confident Workers Will Return to NRA Scale.

Employes of the Crittal Manufacturing Co., 1224 Twenty-fourth street northwest, a steel window sash firm, who went on strike yesterday in protest against a reduction in wages under the NRA code, are expected to return to work today, according to Charles C. Anthony, the firm's sales manager.

Under the blanket code, the 48-hour week was reduced to one of 36 hours. While the hourly wage was increased 10 per cent, a reduction in weekly wages resulted.

The strikers contend laborers on piece work can not earn a living wage unless piecework prices are raised, and they have demanded a 20 per cent increase.

It was announced that a meeting will be held at the plant today, and company officials say they are confident they can persuade the workers that the company has no option in the matter of wages, which must be fixed at the meeting of the trade associations of the industry now being held in Cleveland.

Strikers Wait For Employers To End Dispute

Charges and countercharges were made yesterday concerning the tie-up of construction work on the new Post Office Building. Strikers placed responsibility for solution of the difficulty on the contractors, and the contractors in turn demanded arbitration from the strikers.

Meanwhile the work stood still, and 125 men, on strike for two weeks, remained idle pending settlement of the controversy.

"The Labor Department should force the men to return to their jobs," Paul H. Beuttas, president of the B—W Construction Co., contractors, said. "This is a sympathic strike and violates agreements between building trades."

"Neither the contractors nor the subcontractors are doing anything toward a settlement," said John Locher, secretary of the Building Trades Council. "Iron workers have always done the work the stone setters are insisting on doing."

"The delay has already cost us $2,000," said Mr. Beuttas. "The Government has created this work to help the unemployed, and these strikers are defeating that whole purpose. The settlement of this dispute will set a precedent."

The strike followed a dispute as to whether four or three men should be employed on each of the caterpillar cranes on the job. Two of these machines have been in use, but contractors anticipate using two more. Both stone setters and iron workers insist one of their men be employed on each crane, and the contractors contend only one of them is necessary.

Hospital Aids Are Awarded Maintenance

Attendants at Mount Alto Hospital, demanding maintenance allowances in lieu of quarters there, scored a partial victory yesterday when orders were received from the Veterans' Administration for such allowances to seven married attendants.

The orders, received by Dr. L. G. Beardsley, medical officer, also directed the basement quaretrs of other attendants be evacuated.

Demand for maintenance allowances grew out of the dissatisfaction of attendance with their crowded quarters at the hospital. Twelve men have been living in basement rooms and all of the 34 attendants at the hospital have crowded quarters. These conditions were exposed recently by The Post.

The attendants point out that similar employes at St. Elizabeths Hospital are allowed outside maintenance, and worked only eight hours a day, as compared with nine and ten hours a day required at Mount Alto.

Mount Alto attendants have authorized Paul H. Smith, their member of the Veterans' Administration delegation to the convention of American Federation of Government Employes, to place their demands before that body when it convenes here next week.

King to Seek Funds For Calvert Span

Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, will make another effort today to secure funds for the construction of the new Calvert Street Bridge. He will interview Lewis W. Douglas, director of the Budget, to attempt to get the release of $1,500,000 in District gasoline and water tax funds.

"There is no reason why the money should not be made available and I shall insist that it be done," the Utah senator said.

Georgetown Professor Missed Revolt In Cuba

Just missing the second Cuban revolution by a few hours, Dr. Philip L. Martinez, faculty member of the Georgetown University Dental School, returned to Washington yesterday from Havana.

Dr. Martinez, a native of Santiago, saw at first hand the first revolution that resulted in the overthrow of President Machado. He was clear of Cuba, enroute to Norfolk, Va., when the "bloodless" revolt occurred but his ship ran through the Florida storm. He had returned to his former home in Cuba for the summer.
